LEAGUE TO WORK ON, HOPING WE WILL JOIN, M. BOURGEOIS SAYS

Confident People of America Will See Its Ideals Are Same as Theirs.

INDIAN SCORES ITS CRITICS

Asks Why They Don't Take a Hand and Help Instead of Finding Fault.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

GENEVA, Sept. 12.—Leon Bourgeois, head of the French delegation, in a speech before the Assembly today laid down the official attitude of the League of Nations toward the United States, which is that the League will continue on its way with the hope that some day the people of America will come to see that it is working for the same ideals they love.

M. Bourgeois's address was perhaps the most notable speech to which the Assembly has listened.

"I will tell you quite frankly where I think we stand," he said. "Anxiety has been caused by the fact that our friends of the United States have not seen fit to enter the League and that they have summoned a conference at Washington to deal with disarmament. Should this give us cause for anxiety? Not at all. We have never attempted to induce any State to join us. We have every respect for national ideas, nay, even for national prejudices. That is not our business. We shall go on with our work conscious that we are doing the right thing and leaving other people to go their own way.

"The Washington conference is going to deal with questions connected with the Pacific and disarmament, and ar[illegible] concerned. We are very glad to see other peoples also dealing with the question of disarmament inspired by the same principles as ourselves. They are working for the same object we are, and we wish them every success in their work.

"Those who are responsible for directing the policy of the peoples on both sides of the Atlantic have the same ends in view—justice and peace; and I am sure we may place every confidence in the great nation which sent a million and a half of soldiers to fight for liberty and justice. We need only wait for the same sentiment on both sides of the Atlantic to bring both sides to a common understanding in order to attain the reign of peace and justice."

M. Bourgeois said he was glad to see so many American journalists present, which he thought showed that America was watching the progress of the League. He thought the League's prospects good. It must be borne in mind that now that the League was dealing with practical subjects its progress was necessarily more slow than when dealing with idealistic principles. Governments were turning more and more problems over to the League, which meant realization that it was a sincere organization, he concluded.

America came up for consideration again in a speech by Srinvasa Sastri of India, a noted native lawyer, who said he thought it very bad taste for people outside the League to criticise it.

"I confess I have no patience with these cries of criticism," he said. "A friendly appraiser of good and evil who is ready for improvement one has use for. One can listen to him with respect. But as for those who will take no share in our work we shall turn only a deaf ear to their criticisms.

"When I hear them say 'The League has not done this or that,' I like to ask whether they are to blame for it, and I am inclined to ask 'Why don't you lend a hand and help?' We can get nowhere without this spirit of criticism."

At a meeting which ended just before midnight tonight the Council of the League decided not to take any action for the present with regard to the situation between Austria and Hungary. The ground on which this decision was based was that the situation was already being dealt with by the Council of Ambassadors of the allied nations, who have summoned Hungary to withdraw her troops and abstain from provocation.

The matter was brought before the League today by Count Mensdorff, head of the Austrian delegation, when he appealed to the Council to intervene between his country and Hungary to prevent the outbreak of war.

Outside the League Assembly a great deal of electioneering is going on preparatory to the election Wednesday of members of the World Court. A telegram from Elihu Root to the official secretary of the League would not accept membership in this Court eliminates him. But there is a deep desire that there should be an American on the Court. Americans on the secretariat seem to have combined in efforts to get votes for Roscoe Pound, Dean of the Harvard Law School. But their efforts do not appear to have helped his chances much, and as matters stand now it seems that John Bassett Moore, who, it is understood, is favored by Secretary Hughes, will be one of the eleven American Judges on the Court.

There are about 100 nominations for the eleven Judgeships and four Deputy Judgeships. The election is by both the Council and Assembly. The Council election will possibly consist in the nomination of a slate of fifteen names or other consideration of the Assembly slate. In the Assembly election each nation will vote for fifteen names. Of all the names voted for on the first ballot, should none receive a majority, those receiving the larger number of votes will be voted for on the next ballot, and so on until eleven Judges and four Deputies shall have received a majority.

It is figured that the election will take two days, but it seems that the election is surrounded with more politics than was hoped for. The secret deals of bargaining and adjustment going on which may have the effect of making the public election shorter than is generally expected.

Washington Receives Treaties Signed With Central Powers

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—One of the two copies of the treaty of peace signed between the United States and Germany at Berlin on Aug. 25 was received today at the State Department.

It was brought to America by Hugh R. Wilson, secretary of the American Commission to Germany. The treaty is printed in English and German in the usual form of parallel texts.

EXCESS PROFITS TAX TO STAY UNTIL 1922

Senate Committee Expected to Vote Against Making Its Repeal Retroactive.

WON'T DROP CAPITAL LEVY

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—That excess profits taxes will not be repealed until January, 1922, at which time the income surtaxes will be reduced to 32 per cent., was indicated today by Senator Penrose, Chairman of the Finance Committee. The committee decided today to follow the House measure as to reduction of surtaxes. It will vote on the excess profits tax tomorrow, with every assurance, judged by the attitude of the members, that the repeal will not be authorized until next January.

Senator Penrose said that personally he was in favor of making the repeal retroactive, effective January last, but sentiment in the committee did not seem to reach that conclusion. It was also made clear that the Finance Committee did not intend to repeal the tax on capital stock, as recommended by Secretary Mellon.

In every essential taxation feature the Finance Committee will follow the House bill, which one of the leading members pronounced today as good a measure as could be written to meet the present needs of the Government and the demand of the people in the way of taxation, with no shifting of taxation burdens.

Agrees to Greater Exemptions.

In addition to deciding that the income surtaxes should be reduced to 32 per cent., beginning January next, as provided in the House bill, the Finance Committee voted to maintain the present normal income taxes and follow the House in making greater exemptions. It was agreed to increase the exemption for married persons from $2,000 to $2,500 on incomes not in excess of $5,000, and increase the allowance for dependents from $200 to $400.

There may be a further reduction in the brackets in the surtaxes on incomes below $50,000. The committee decided today only that the highest tax should be 32 per cent., and instructed the experts to work out a plan to see whether the brackets could be safely reduced below the percentages carried in the House bill.

The Finance Committee accepted the House bill provisions for net loss allowance with a slight amendment, which provided that net losses could be placed in the tax returns for the year following January, 1921, and should continue for thirty-six months after that period.

If the committee decides to repeal the excess profits taxes as of January, 1922, it will accept the House tax of 12½ per cent. on the net incomes of corporations.

Mellon's Recommendations Rejected.

The expected action on excess profits and capital tax means that the recommendation of Secretary Mellon will be rejected, although he reflected the view of President Harding respecting repeal of excess profits taxes as of 1921. The older Republican leaders are in agreement with such a proposed course, but find themselves opposed by the farm-labor group in the Senate and the Republican majority in the House. To make certain the quick acceptance of the tax bill by the Senate it has become necessary for such men as Penrose and Watson to adopt, almost as an entirety, the House bill, which politically and as a tax raiser, they now declare, fits into the situation.

The Finance Committee will vote on the complete bill by next Friday, and it will be ready for presentation to the Senate when it reconvenes on Wednesday, Sept. 21.

Presidential Party Attends Musical Comedy After Noisy Welcome in New York.

GREETED BY MAYOR HYLAN

GOLFS IN ATLANTIC CITY

As a climax to their Atlantic City week-end, the President and Mrs. Harding motored to New York from the seaside resort yesterday. They attended a musical comedy and passed the night at the Ritz-Carlton. This morning the President's party will leave the hotel at 8:30 o'clock, and at 9 o clock, according to the schedule, will board the Mayflower at the Brooklyn Navy Yard and proceed through the Sound, landing either at Glen Cove or Oyster Bay, probably the former. The party will motor from there to Piping Rock, where the President expects to play golf. Later in the day the party will return to the Mayflower for the trip back to Washington.

Arranged overnight, the President's New York visit was in the nature of a surprise, but enough notice had been given by the White House Secret Service detail to enable the Police Department to make adequate arrangements for the passage of the Presidential party through the city streets.

President Harding arrived at his suite in the hotel shortly before 7 o'clock after a swift ride over rain-soaked roads from the Sea View Golf Club, near Atlantic City, where, with Henry P. Fletcher, Under-Secretary of State; Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen of New Jersey and Clarence Geist, President of the club, he played eighteen holes in the morning.

The Presidential foursome was one of the earliest to arrive at the links. Mr. Harding left the Ritz-Carlton at Atlantic City at 8 o'clock, after one of his favorite waffle breakfasts, while Mrs. Harding remained at the hotel and took a wheel chair ride on the boardwalk before she joined the President at luncheon at the golf club. Other members of the party were Mrs. Fletcher, Secretary George B. Christian Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. George Van Fleet of Marion.

Mr. Harding turned in a score of 98, 45 out and 53 in. He dubbed his drive on the tenth tee, and the ball rolled a few feet off into the rough grass, but he recovered with a 175-yard brassie shot straight down the course. Senator Frelinghuysen was just addressing his ball when a farm wagon rattled up on the roadway about a hundred yards away, and a bearded agriculturist jumped down and ran toward Mr. Harding.

"Why, it's President Harding," he exclaimed in a voice that could be heard at the other end of the course. "Just a minute, President, I want to shake hands with you. I recognized you from your pictures and you can count on me to support your policies."

"Thank you," replied Mr. Harding, "and good luck to you."

Senator Frelinghuysen sliced his drive.

Three White House automobiles, with machines, filled with Secret Service men and reporters trailing, equaled the speed of express trains in covering the 110 miles from Sea View to the Tottenville Ferry, at South Amboy. This run, over a slippery dirt road, and without chains on the wheels, was made in two hours and a half.

Sign Autographs at South Amboy.

A short stop was made at South Amboy, waiting for the ferry, and both the President and Mrs. Harding were kept busy signing autographs on pieces of paper, notebooks and albums that men, women and children thrust into their hands.

Inspector John O'Brien of the Traffic Division, detectives and a squad of motorcycle police met the President at Tottenville and cleared the way along the winding road to St. George and the

Moscow Soviet Declares a State of War In Bessarabia, Given Rumania by Allies

RIGA, Sept. 12 (Associated Press).—The Russian Soviet Government has declared a state of war in Bessarabia, in the Rumania frontier zone.

According to the Rosta News Agency, Leon Trotsky, the Bolshevist Minister of War, has gone to the Ukraine apparently in connection with the reported mobilization in Rumania of anti-Bolshevist troops recruited in Rumania.

At Zhitomir, according to the Rosta, Trotsky said: "We want peace, but those who want to penetrate Russia forcibly will collide with the armed Red fighters."

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON Tuesday, Sept. 13.—The Daily Chronicle, which has expressed itself strongly in sympathy with Dr. Nansen's scheme for relieving the Russian famine by the granting of immediate credits from European governments, declares that if the news that the Soviet Government has declared a state of war in Bessarabia in the Rumanian frontier zone is confirmed a grave obstacle against such a course will have arisen. The paper says:

"For some time there have been suggestions that the Soviet Government might declare a purely piratical war to plunder food from one or other of its corn-growing neighbors, and this looks like the beginning of such a war. While it lasts it would scarcely be possible that Rumania's co-members in the League of Nations who guarantee her integrity and independence would be rendering aid and comfort to her aggressor."

In spite of the fact that for two years there has been in Rumania civil administration in Bessarabia, the Moscow Government has never recognized the subsequent decree of the Supreme Council, ratified by the Council of the League of Nations, which gave the territory to Rumania. Before that time, back to 1812, it had been Russian. In 1812 it was part of Moldavia, ceded to Russia by Turkey, who still retained that part of Moldavia out of which, together with Wallachia, Rumania was formed in 1861.

The ancient Roman province of Dacia, from whose people the Rumanians are said to be descended, occupied all of Moldavia, to the north and east as far as the Dniester, which today forms the frontier of Bessarabia. Across the river are the old Russian Governments of Podolia and Kherson and to the southeast the Black Sea.

Bessarabia has an area of 18,000 square miles and a population of about 2,000,000. Half of these claims to be of pure Rumanian stock. The other half is made up of about 170,000 Jews, Tartars, Slavs, Russians, Gypsies, Greeks and Armenians.

Greenwich's Career as Gretna Green is Ended; Law Amended to Curb Hasty Marriages There

Special to The New York Times.

GREENWICH, Conn., Sept. 12.—Greenwich's Gretna Green got a severe jolt when it became known today that an amendment to the act concerning marriage licenses had been adopted in the Connecticut Legislature prohibiting Justices of the Peace from issuing any more certificates to the Town Clerk waiving the five-day notice, under the public policy or physical condition clause, where neither of the parties making an application for a marriage license is a resident of the town.

Under the law as amended, if neither of such persons is a resident of the town, the Town Clerk shall not issue a marriage license until the fifth day following, unless the Judge of Probate for the district in which the intended marriage is to be celebrated, after hearing such evidence, renders a written decision that in his opinion public policy or the physical condition of one of the parties requires the intended marriage to be celebrated without delay.

Greenwich has been the most popular towns in the country for marriages, the average number of licenses issued here being eighty a month, a large majority of the couples coming from New York and elsewhere have been able to obtain licenses by having Justices of the Peace issue certificates waiving the five-day notice.

Although there has been much adverse criticism concerning the marriage mill here, Town Clerk Robert Weflatood was nominated for another term of office at Democratic caucus here last week and his name was also endorsed on the Republican ticket as Registar, for the annual town election, which will be held in October.

IRISH REPLY ON WAY TO LLOYD GEORGE

Dublin Believes It Agrees to Conference in Inverness on Sept. 20.

MAY BE GIVEN OUT TODAY

Ulster Speaker Warns Britain That Circumscribing Its Powers Means Civil War.

Copyright, 1921, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

DUBLIN, Sept. 12.—Eamon de Valera has sent his reply to Lloyd George's note.

Although the nature of the reply has not been disclosed, opinion is growing that the Dail Eireann Cabinet decided to accept the invitation to the proposed conference at Inverness on Sept. 20.

According to one report the Sinn Fein delegation will include de Valera, Griffith and Erskine Childers.

The private session of the Dail on Wednesday will be asked to sanction the action of its Cabinet. In regard to the statement that de Valera's reply suggests allegiance to the Crown and would be one of the subjects discussed, Desmond Fitzgerald of the Dail Eireann Publicity Department said today that the report was mere guesswork.

This afternoon the Publicity Department issued the following:

"English papers which are widely quoted by Irish press purport to have information of decisions made by the Cabinet which has not been issued by this department. Information which has not been issued by this department should be disregarded by the Irish people; it is merely guesswork. Its most striking feature is its remoteness from the facts."

It is expected that the Sinn Fein note will be made public tomorrow.

New Courier is Sent.

DUBLIN, Sept. 12 (Associated Press).—A courier of the Dail Eireann left Dublin this morning for Inverness, Scotland, where Premier Lloyd George has been making his headquarters.

Robert C. Barton, who was the official Dail courier in the last exchange of notes with Mr. Lloyd George, did not make the journey this time. This was considered to strengthen the rumor that he would be one of the plenipotentiaries for the proposed peace negotiations.

The Dail Eireann, it is stated, will be given a free hand in the selection of the Irish Republican plenipotentiaries. Arthur Griffith alone, by reason of his position as Foreign Minister of the Dail Cabinet, is certain of being designated. John MacNeill, Speaker of the Dail Eireann, also is likely to be selected. Barton is a cousin of Erskine Childers, who is a nephew of one of Gladstone's Chancellors, and is a country squire. He was formerly a Captain in the British Army.

A fourth plenipotentiary may be chosen, according to indications, so that the delegation will include a man closely identified with the militant policy pursued before the truce. In that case Austin Stack, the Dail Minister for Home Affairs, who has charge of the operations in Kerry, seems likely to be named.

So far, however, no choice has been actually made, and although names may be suggested to the Dail Eireann by the Cabinet, the Dail itself, it is declared, will be left quite free to endorse the Cabinet's choice or to make its own selection.

Warns on Circumscribing Ulster.

BELFAST, Sept. 12 (Associated Press).—Warning to the British Government against circumscribing the powers of the new Ulster Parliament was given by Hugh O'Neill, Speaker of Parliament, in an address at Ballymena, County Antrim, yesterday.

"Any diminution of the rights and privileges of the new Ulster Parliament as a result of the projected negotiations between members of the British Cabinet and the Sinn Fein," he declared, "would lead to a bitter civil war in Ireland. It would mean war between North and South Ireland, the horrors and misery of which we do not like to contemplate. The calamity," as Prime Minister Lloyd George has truly said, would not be confined to Ireland."

"The war would become worldwide," he continued. "Hundreds of thousands of people from Great Britain and the empire would support the point of view held in Northern Ireland, and there would be hundreds of thousands of people from the United States, and possibly from the British colonies and dependencies, who would come to the aid of Southern Ireland. In brief, there would be in Ireland a war which would embroil Great Britain and the United States, and would spread horror over the earth."

Irish has been declared the official language of the Irish Republican Parliament, declared Pierce Beasley, a prominent Republican, in addressing the Waterford Gaelic festival today. He

SAYS HYLAN FAILED TO END PART TIME

EXPLAINS AT MEYER INQUIRY

Present School Building Program Not Adequate, President of Education Board Testifies.

Admissions that even by his own estimate the number of children on part time in the public schools was as large this Fall as on Jan. 1, 1918, despite the pre-election promise of Mayor Hylan four years ago for a seat for every child, was made yesterday by Anning S. Prall, President of the Board of Education, in testimony before the Meyer Legislative Investigating Committee in the Aldermanic Chamber at City Hall.

Mr. Prall testified that all double-session schools under the Gary plan, which was bitterly attacked by the Mayor in his 1917 campaign, had been eliminated, but that there were now just as many double-session schools under the Ettinger plan. Asked to explain the difference between the two systems, which Elon R. Brown, counsel of the committee, said were as alike as "tweedledum and tweedledee," Mr. Prall said there was no shop work in the Ettinger plan as in the Gary plan and that the children passed fewer hours away from the classrooms. These, he said, were about the only differences.

Mr. Prall gave the war as one reason for not building more schools. He said in his opinion the city could not afford at present to adopt a "pay-as-you-go" policy to pay for the construction of new school buildings, because the taxpayers would not stand for it, but must pay for them out of bonds.

$15,000,000 for New Schools.

It was brought out in the testimony that the Hylan Administration has spent $15,000,000 for new schools. He said that part time did not furnish a satisfactory education for children, but declared that, while double-session schools were not desirable, the expert educational opinion was that they were no detriment to the children's education. He admitted that the present building program of the Board of Education was not adequate to remedy the present conditions and at the same time take care of the annual increase of school children, which, he estimated, was about 20,000 a year on the average.

Mr. Prall said the present system of selecting school sites and erecting school buildings was cumbersome and should be changed. Mr. Brown read several letters from Mayor Hylan to Mr. Prall asking why more schools had not been built and attacking Dr. William L. Ettinger, City Superintendent, and Henry R. M. Cook, auditor of the Department of Education. Mr. Prall denied that he had had any friction with the Mayor, and said that both Dr. Ettinger and Mr. Cook had his complete confidence and that of the board.

In making his estimate that the Hylan Administration had just held its own in preventing any increase in part-time pupils, Mr. Prall assumed that the attendance at the opening session yesterday was the same as when school closed in June and made no allowance for the regular yearly increase in attendance. He also assumed that the additional seats provided by new construction would all reduce part time, but afterward qualified this by saying that the Superintendent had estimated that the new sittings would take 26,000 children from part time, instead of the 30,000 he had estimated.

Figures on Part-Time Pupils.

"My figures show that in January, 1918, there were 49,975 children on part time in the elementary schools," Mr. Prall said. "In June, 1921, there were 82,850. The new sittings provided today would reduce part time to approximately 49,000 or 50,000, about the same figures that obtained in January, 1918, when we took office."

Q.—There are about 18,000 additional seats. I don't know your system of computation. A.—We will assume that you have a seat, and the child occupying that seat is obliged to give a part of the time up to a second child. Now, there are two children occupying that seat.

Y.—Yes. A.—Now then, when you provide a new seat and you take one of these children and put him in the new seat, for each new sitting you reduce two part-time pupils.

Q.—You reduce part time about 18,000 today? A.—We reduced nearly twice that much.

Q.—What is the present part time? A.—The present part time is 82,569.

Q.—Take 30,000 off from that and that would make it 50,000. A.—Leaving 49,969 as against 49,975 on Jan. 1, 1918.

Q.—That is on the assumption that these buildings are scattered in a way over the town so as to provide for the part-time and that is a very doubtful proposition? A.—I would estimate after talking with the Superintendent about these new buildings that we opened today, his estimate was that 26,000 part-time pupils would be given full time.

Q.—Now, I would like to inquire at you

REPUBLICAN WOMEN HOLD THE BALANCE IN TODAY'S PRIMARY

Voting for the First Time in a City Election, Appeals Are Made for Their Support.

MURPHY FACES FIGHT

HEAVY VOTE IS PREDICTED

Hearst Publications Out For LaGuardia—Movie Cameras to Picture Disorders.

Women, participating for the first time in a municipal election in this city, will hold the balance of power in a four-cornered contest for the Republican nomination for Mayor which will be decided at the primary polls today. After the most exciting city primary campaign since statutory provision was made for direct nominations, which ended at midnight, enrolled members of the Republican, Democratic, Socialist and Farmer-Labor parties will vote between the hours of 3 P. M. and 9 P. M. today for the nomination of the candidates of their choice.

City, borough, county and judiciary offices are involved in the pending contests. Votes will be cast also for the nomination of Aldermen and Assemblymen, and in one district—the Sixteenth (in Manhattan)—there will be nominated candidates for the State Senate to fill a vacancy.

Nearly all the excitment in this year's primary contest has been provided by the four candidates who have fought aggressively for the Republican nomination for Mayor. On the Democratic side there are few contests, but two of these are of interest. James J. Hines, Tammany leader of the Eleventh Assembly District, has made an aggressive fight for the nomination for President of the Borough of Manhattan in the Democratic primaries against ex-Senator Julius Miller, the hand-picked candidate of Charles F. Murphy, Tammany's chieftain. The prestige and power of the Tammany boss within his own organization are directly involved in this fight. In the Borough of Queens, Denis O'Leary, former District Attorney, has rallied many independent Democrats to his insurgent banner and is making a hard fight for the nomination for Borough President against Maurice E. Connolly, the Democratic leader of Queens, who seeks a renomination. In both these Democratic contests it is predicted, however, that the "organization" will come out on top.

Betting Favors Curran.

All the candidates in the Republican Mayoralty contest were claiming victory as they finished their fight last night. The betting favored the nomination of Major Henry H. Curran, Borough President of Manhattan, who is running with the endorsement of the coalition forces, composed largely of independent Democrats. It was admitted in Republican circles, however, that the vote might be very close and bring to the front as victor County Judge Reuben L. Haskell of Kings, "straight Republican" candidate, who has made his fight on a "wet" platform. Aldermanic President F. H. LaGuardia, it was expected, would run third and ex-Senator William M. Bennett, another "independent," who won in the Republican city primaries four years ago over John Purroy Mitchel, fourth in the race.

Supporters of Major Curran, who has the backing of the Republican organization in all five boroughs, admitted last night that the outcome of the fight depended chiefly upon the extent to which the enrolled Republican women would rally to his support. A tremendous drive, which will be kept up until the polls open, was in progress last night to interest the women in Major Curran's candidacy. The Curran campaign managers felt hopeful that when the women who had been giving their support so far to Major LaGuardia and ex-Senator Bennett understood that with their vote split Judge Haskell might win a "wet" victory, as he did in the primaries and the general election last year, when he was a candidate for his present office, they would flock to the Curran banner in sufficient numbers to insure his nomination.

Campaigning was kept up by all the four Republican aspirants for Mayoralty honors to a late hour last night. They made their final appeal to the voters at the clubhouse of the Republican organization of the Sixteenth Assembly District in Kings, where Frederick Oberpercker, former secretary to Aldermanic President LaGuardia, is the

Jersey Women Summoned; Balk at Jury Duty; Don't Think Court Should Interrupt Pleasure

HACKENSACK, Sept. 12.—Sheriff Joseph Kinsley of Bergen County today received about a score of letters and as many telephone calls from women who have been summoned to appear on Wednesday to serve on the petty juries for this month. Judging from the messages, only a few will be present.

The Sheriff said the majority of those summoned appeared to think that serving on a jury was something like attending a tea party that they could appear if they wished or stay away at pleasure. The Sheriff said he had done his duty in summoning them and that if they did not appear it was up to the court to decide what should be done.

The first letter the Sheriff opened was from a prospective juror. In it the woman said:

"It will be very hard for me to appear on Wednesday, as I haven't concluded my vacation as yet, and I don't think the court ought to interfere with my pleasure."

As the Sheriff put this letter to one side he was confronted by another with this:

"Since I offered my services I have secured a good position, and if I serve I am afraid that I will lose my job. What will I do?"

The Sheriff didn't send any advice, saying that he would let the woman decide for herself.

So it went along all day, excuse after excuse, until the Sheriff didn't know which way to turn. Thirty-five women are scheduled to appear in court on Wednesday before County Judge John D. Zabriskie, they having stated several weeks ago that they were willing to serve.

The Grand Jury of Bergen County will be sworn in tomorrow by Supreme Court Justice C. W. Parker. On this jury is one woman. She has announced that she will be present.

Entire Bavarian Cabinet Tenders Its Resignation

The decision of the Premier, Dr. von Kahr, to announce his retirement from the Government was a result of the rejection by the German National People's Party and Bavarian People's Party representatives in the Cabinet of the compromise reached at the conference held here last week between delegates from the Bavarian Ministry and members of the German Federal Government.

This conference decided that the decree issued by President Ebert conferring exceptional powers upon the German Cabinet should continue in force for the time being, because of the threatening conditions in Franconia, which includes the northernmost districts of Bavaria.

NINE NEW YORKERS IN SEAPLANE WRECK

ALL PASSENGERS RESCUED

Special to The New York Times.

CROTON, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Nine New Yorkers, bound home from Lake George in a seaplane, had a narrow escape tonight when the craft struck the surface of the Hudson two miles from shore with such force as to tear away part of the hull. The fuselage quickly filled with water, compelling the occupants of the plane to seek safety by standing on the wings.

Added to their plight was the difficulty of attracting attention of those on shore, as it was dark and misty. The cries of the air voyagers were finally heard by Lawrence Keegan and Wallace Baker, who set out in a motor boat and rescued the nine. The plane was towed ashore later.

The seaplane, owned by Mr. McCullough of Manhasset, L. I., left Lake George at 5 o'clock this afternoon, piloted by Randolph Baldwin. With him as passengers were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Manners, a Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds and three children and Fred Russell, an airplane mechanic. Approaching Croton the seaplane encountered a heavy mist, and Baldwin guided the craft at a low altitude, with the idea of avoiding the haze. In some manner Baldwin became deceived as to his altitude and the craft struck the water at a high speed and with great force.

The passengers were jolted by the impact and covered with spray from the river. When the craft was brought to a stop the hull began filling. Keegan and Baker rescued seven at their first trip to the plane. Manners and Baldwin, who had started to swim ashore for help, were picked up later. The nine were taken to the office of Dr. W. N. Miller for such treatment as they needed for shock and exposure to the water. They left later for New York by train.

CALIFORNIA POLL TAX ON ALIENS OVERRULED

State Court Cites Japan Treaty and Fourteenth Amendment to Constitution.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—The State Alien Poll Tax law was declared unconstitutional today in a unanimous decision by the State Supreme Court, which held that the measure was in violation of the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution and to the treaty between the United States and Japan.

The law imposed an annual poll tax of $10 on all alien male residents of the State between the ages of 21 and 60 years. It was passed by the 1921 Legislature in response to a constitutional amendment adopted by the people in November, 1920.

The decision ordered the dismissal of Heikichi Terui, an Oakland Japanese resident, and Guillermo D. Kotta, a Mexican resident of San Francisco, who were arrested to test the law.

The court held that in the case of Kotta, the law was in violation of the Fourteenth Amendment, which bars discrimination in taxing residents of the United States.

It also held that the treaty between the United States and Japan made the alien poll tax "ineffective for any purpose," with relation to a citizen of Japan.

Argument on the law was heard before the court on Sept. 6.

GRAND JURY IN SESSION

Special to The New York Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 12.—The Grand Jury met tonight at 7:30 o'clock to hear the testimony of witnesses rounded up by District Attorney Matthew Brady to support his demand for the indictment of Roscoe ("Fatty") Arbuckle for the murder of Miss Virginia Rappe.

Members of the party in Arbuckle's rooms at the Hotel St. Francis and physicians and nurses who attended the film actress after she collapsed and accused Arbuckle of injuring her, were among those summoned. They also include Mrs. Sidi Wirt Spreckels, who met Miss Rappe several years ago and was called to see Miss Rappe when she was dying.

Some of these had testified earlier in the day at the inquest opened by Coroner Leland, where they told their stories of what had happened at the party and afterward. The inquest was opened at 2 o'clock and will be continued tomorrow.

The inquest followed Arbuckle's arraignment before Police Judge Daniel S. O'Brien, when he was formally accused of the murder in a complaint signed by Mrs. Bambina Maud Delmont, who accompanied Miss Rappe on her visit to Arbuckle's rooms. This complaint took the place of the charge laid against Arbuckle by the police when they arrested him Saturday night.

The outstanding features of the day's developments were the stories told by witnesses at the inquest, and a clash there between Frank Dominguez, Los Angeles's attorney directing Arbuckle's defense, and District Attorney Brady.

H. J. Boyle, assistant manager of the St. Francis Hotel, told of being called on the telephone—the message Mrs. Delmont has said she sent when she became alarmed because Arbuckle refused to open the door of the room where she says he was with Miss Rappe—and of meeting Arbuckle, who came out of the room wearing the hat of the dying woman on the side of his head. He told how Arbuckle had carried Miss Rappe to the room provided for her and of calling the house doctor.

To bring out the story of the drinking party, of Arbuckle's presence behind a locked door in the room where Mrs. Delmont charges he dragged Miss Rappe, of her condition when the door finally was opened, her illness and statement made by her to nurses before her death, Brady subpoenaed his witnesses before the Grand Jury.

New evidence obtained during the day from Joyce Clark, another member of the party, was withheld by the Prosecutor for the time being.

Mrs. Delmont Tells Her Story.

The story drawn from Mrs. Delmont, who accompanied Miss Rappe to the St. Francis, and Dr. W. E. Rumwell, who attended the actress after her collapse, outlined the story for which the other witnesses supplied details.

Mrs. Delmont said she went to the St. Francis with Miss Rappe who had been invited by telephone to go to Arbuckle whom she had known for five years and who was supposed to be a friend of her fiance, Henry Lehrman, movie director, now in New York. They were accompanied by Al Semnacher, Miss Rappe's manager; Lowell Sherman, actor; Fred Fishbeck, director; Zey Prevon, show girl; Dollie Clark, show girl, who were in Arbuckle's rooms when she and Miss Rappe arrived.

After they had two or three drinks—Miss Rappe drinking gin and orange juice—Mrs. Delmont said Arbuckle pulled Miss Rappe into an adjoining room.

"I've waited for you five years, and now I've got you," Arbuckle declared, Mrs. Delmont said, adding that he locked the door.

Not being well acquainted with Miss Rappe, Mrs. Delmont said, she did not care to interfere, but when she heard her screaming she became alarmed. She pounded on the door and kicked, but got no reply, she said. Finally, after more than half an hour, she kicked on the door and telephoned to the hotel office, asking for assistance. Assistant Manager H. J. Boyle went up, and as he appeared Arbuckle opened the door, she said, and came out, dressed in pajamas. He was wearing Miss Rappe's hat cocked at an angle, she declared, and assumed his "foolish screen smile."

Miss Rappe was in the room, on the bed, moaning, she said.

"Arbuckle did it," she asserts the girl exclaimed.

Miss Rappe was taken to another room and put to bed. Hotel doctors attended her, but Mrs. Delmont wanted a physician she knew, and called Dr. E. Rumwell. He treated Miss Rappe until Wednesday, and then took her to a hospital, where she died.

Dr. Rumwell told of attending Miss Rappe. He said he suspected she had peritonitis, but was curious about the case. He and another doctor made a post-mortem. This was done without official authority, but Dr. Rumwell excused what has been criticised as exceeding his authority on the ground that the girl's friends asked him to do it. The circumstances which he considered justified his action.

Rumwell said he found a rupture at an important organ, resulting in peritonitis.

The testimony fits in with that of nurses who attended Miss Rappe and made sworn statements that the injuries

Arbuckle with causing her injuries, the District Attorney said.

Those subpoenaed and those present at the opening of the inquest include the following: Dr. William Orhuls, Dr. M. E. Rumwell, physicians who performed the post-mortem on Miss Rappe's body immediately following the actress's death at Wakefield Sanitarium last Saturday; Dr. Olad Karrboe and Dr. W. P. Reed, who were called in consultation during Miss Rappe's fatal illness; Al Semlnacher, the actress's manager, who also attended Arbuckle's party; Miss Vera Cumberland, night nurse, who attended Miss Rappe during her illness; Detectives Griffith Kennedy, John Dolan and Thomas Reagan.

Dr. Emmet Rixford had been subpoenaed, but did not make his appearance at the opening of the inquest. Nine of the ten members of the Coroner's Jury were on hand for the hearing. Their names follow:

A. E. Martin, 168 Sutter Street; A. Hunter, 324 Stockton Street; B. B. Boax, 454 Montgomery Street; A. L. Simmons, 151 Sutter Street; W. G. Smith, 105 Montgomery Street; James King, 11 Montgomery Street; C. Caldwell, 128 Sutter Street; R. J. Goff, 140 Sansome Street; W. McPherson, 341 Bush Street.

It being necessary to a first degree murder charge in California in such cases to show that death resulted from committing or attempting one of certain criminal acts specified in the statute, the Prosecutor relies on the condition of the torn clothing to show a desperate struggle had been made by Miss Rappe.

Start Liquor Inquiry.

Simultaneously with the holding of an inquest over the body of the movie picture actress, the Federal Prohibition Director's office took a hand in the affair and began an investigation to determine the source of the liquor that was drunk during the screen comedian's party in his rooms at the St. Francis Hotel.

Thomas J. Coleman, manager of the St. Francis, and his assistant, Thomas Keating, together with as many of the men and women who participated in the drinking party as could be found, were summoned to appear tomorrow at the office of Thomas A. Brown, Assistant Prohibition Director, to tell what they knew of the affair.

"We are determined to ferret out, if it is humanly possible, the underground ways that make possible such affairs," said Brown, who added: "The hotel people are co-operating with us in this matter."

Vast crowds battled for a chance to be present at the arraignment of Arbuckle in the police court this morning. Extra police were summoned to aid the court bailiff in handling the crowds, who fought for a chance to gain a foothold in the courtroom, and witness the appearance of the film star to face the charge of murdering Virginia Rappe.

Mrs. Delmont, the chief complaining witness against Arbuckle, became hysterical in the jail elevator on the way to the bond and warrant clerk's office. She caught Captain Duncan Matheson by the sleeve.

"Oh, please don't make me face Arbuckle," she moaned. "I don't ever want to lay my eyes on him again."

After a moment she controlled herself, and gave the first flash of grim determination to go through with the matter for her dead friend's reputation.

"If I have to do it, I will," she said. "I will try to nerve myself to the ordeal, but it will be terrible."

With the complaint sworn to, Arbuckle was formally charged with the murder. He was not arraigned on the original complaint on which he was arrested but upon the new charge sworn to by Mrs. Delmont. Mrs. Delmont, after making the formal complaint, was led from the court room in a hysterical condition.

"Not here," answered Bailiff Macarte.

"What is the meaning of this, anyhow?" demanded Judge O'Brien, indignantly, looking at his watch. "It is 11:15. Why is the defendant not here?"

"I understand he does not want to appear in court, but wants to be arraigned in the prison," answered Macarte.

"Is that so," said the court. "Well, I will adjourn court for five minutes and, Mr. Bailiff, I want you to tell Captain Matheson to produce the defendant, Arbuckle, at once. All defendants coming into this court are treated the same. No exceptions will be made and this court will not stand being ignored."

Judge O'Brien took the bench again at the end of five minutes. He sat holding his watch in his hand. At 11:25 he ordered another adjournment and instructed Bailiff Joseph Coleman to summon Captain Matheson at once. All during this side play Brennan and Cohen, counsel for Arbuckle, stood as bewildered as any one at the absence of the defendant.

Five minutes later another knock sounded at the side door of the courtroom and Arbuckle was brought in by Captain of Detectives Matheson and Detectives Kennedy and Reagan.

Flashlights exploded and newspaper cameras clicked. Arbuckle stopped short and blinked uncomfortably. He took his place between Brennan and Cohen, his attorneys.

As a result of his arraignment, Arbuckle's preliminary hearing was set for Friday, Sept. 16, and he was returned to his cell.

Arbuckle Shows Strain.

While the Coroner's inquest was in progress Arbuckle showed signs of nervous strain.

Following his arraignment he was photographed by the Police Bureau of Identification and his Bertillon record was made. The record was: Weight, 266 pounds; height, 5 feet 9¾ inches; age, 34 years; occupation, actor; born, Kansas; hair, medium chestnut; complexion, ruddy; eyes, blue; marks, scar at root of nose and on fourth finger, right hand.

While posing for the official photographer he showed none of the vivacity he displayed in his screen pictures, and the famous smile known to movie fans was absent. This ordeal, the expectation of others to come and the news from all over the country that house managers are cancelling his films combined to make him appear uncomfortable.

Arbuckle was born in Kansas in 1887 and got his first stage job when eight years old in Santa Ana, Cal., where he appeared as a pickaninny in a stock company for 50 cents a night. Ten years later he got his first regular job when Sid Grauman hired him at $17.50 a week to sing popular songs in his San Jose vaudeville house.

Chris Brown hired him to sing at the Star Theatre, Portland. Leon Errol took Arbuckle into one of his comedies.

From that time on Arbuckle had a precarious career, and at one time appeared as a soft-shoe dancer in Oakland. Arbuckle went to work for the Keystone Film Corporation at $3 a day as extra man. He gradually became popular in the movies and eventually became head of his own producing company.

Get Continuance to Friday.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12 (Associated Press).—When Roscoe Arbuckle appeared before Judge Daniel O'Brien today he refused to talk of the case. Through his attorney a continuance to Friday was obtained, and the prisoner was returned to his cell.

Representatives of the District Attorney's office continued their questioning of those known to have attended the Arbuckle party last Monday, and from these, District Attorney Brady stated, was obtained evidence which will be used against the actor at his trial. Among those questioned today was Mrs. Hildi Wirt Spreckels, widow of John D. Spreckels Jr.

Mrs. Spreckels told the District Attorney that she was informed over the telephone by Mrs. Delmont that the young actress was in a serious condition in a local hospital. Mrs. Delmont asked Mrs. Spreckels to telegraph Henry Lehrman in New York concerning Miss Rappe's condition. After the telegram had been sent, Mrs. Spreckels told the District Attorney that she called at the hospital and saw Miss Rappe.

Mrs. Spreckels said she was not sure Miss Rappe recognized her, but she said to Mrs. Spreckels:

"Oh, to think that I led such a quiet life, and to think that I should get into such a party."

Joyce Clark, a café entertainer, was summoned to the office of the Captain of Detectives after it was learned that she had been invited to Arbuckle's party. Miss Clark said she went as far as the lobby of the hotel, but decided not to go to Arbuckle's rooms. She met Mrs. Delmont the next day. She said and Mrs. Delmont gave her physician called in, according to Kearboe's own statement, at the inquest late this afternoon. At that time there was no evidence of serious injury, he said. Dr. M. E. Rumwell testified that Miss Rappe's condition did not seem serious until Thursday of last week, when a consultation was held.

Dr. Rumwell said there was nothing to indicate she had suffered from any violence until the post-mortem examination, when he said evidence of internal injury was found.

Dr. William Ophuls, called to perform the post-mortem operation, described the internal injuries, but said he could not say definitely what caused them.

Before the inquest Arbuckle's attorneys issued a statement asking the public to withhold judgment until the Court has rendered its verdict.

The statement says in part:

"With a full knowledge of our position at attorneys we assert that Roscoe ('Fatty') Arbuckle is innocent of any and all charges made against him in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Rappe, and that the courts of California will sustain our confidence in his innocence.

"We appeal to the conscience and the heart of the American public to hold in abeyance any judgment until the courts have determined upon the guilt or innocence of our client. We, with complete knowledge of all facts, know that he is innocent.

"The patrons of the silent drama, having a knowledge of the smiles and the heart of 'Fatty' Arbuckle, will not believe that he is guilty of the charge made against him until proved in a court of justice."

STEPMOTHER A CHARWOMAN.

Mrs. Arbuckle Praises Actor and Says He Was Pied Piper to Children

SAN JOSE, Cal., Sept. 12.—Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle, under arrest in San Francisco on a murder charge, played the part of the "Pied Piper" to the children of Santa Clara, near here, where he lived years ago, according to a statement today by his stepmother, Mrs. Mollie Arbuckle, who is a washerwoman and charwoman. Her husband died four years ago.

"He was so big and good-natured, and so full of fun that the children used to follow him around to watch his antics," Mrs. Arbuckle said.

"I knew nothing of Roscoe until he was 12 years old. He was always good-humored. He got his start in San Jose by singing in the theatres. Then he went away, years ago, and I did not hear from him until about five years ago, when he appeared in a San Jose theatre. I spoke to him for a few minutes then.

"Roscoe was always kind to me, but he never offered to support me, and I never expected him to. I do not feel it was his place to support me.

"If he is innocent I want to see him cleared. If he is guilty I want to see him punished to the limit."

According to Mrs. Arbuckle, Roscoe Arbuckle is an uncle of Al St. John, motion picture actor, of Los Angeles. He has a brother, Arthur Arbuckle, in San Francisco, and another brother, Harry Arbuckle, in Fresno, she said.

MISS RAPPE'S FIANCE THREATENS VENGEANCE

Henry Lehrman, Producer Here, Says He Would Kill Arbuckle if Freed.

At the request of Henry Lehrman, the fiancé of Miss Virginia Rappe, the body of the screen actress will be buried in Los Angeles. Mr. Lehrman was overcome by grief in his apartment at 25 West Fifty-first Street yesterday and he declared that he hoped Roscoe Arbuckle would speedily answer for the alleged wrongs to the girl.

"From information I received from San Francisco," he said, "I believe Arbuckle is guilty. For his sake I wish that he will receive full measure of justice so there will be no other crime necessary. You know what the death of Virginia means to me. I will not attempt to express it. She died game, like a real woman, her last words being to punish Arbuckle, that he outraged her and she begged the nurse not to tell this, as she did not want me to know.

"I am making arrangements for the funeral in Los Angeles. She loved it so much, and I want her near me."

Mr. Lehrman and Miss Rappe had been engaged about a year. They met five years ago in California and motion picture work brought them together.

"I had known Virginia ever since she came to the Coast about five years ago," he said. "Arbuckle had been a friend and we had visited him at his home. Her death came as a terrific shock to me. I first heard of it about 1 o'clock on Friday afternoon. The telegram just told me that she was dead and I had no inkling as to what had happened until I saw it in the newspapers.

"Later I got word from a friend that it was all true. Would I kill Arbuckle? Yes. I feel just as would any other man with red blood in his veins. I will not deny that I have said I would kill him if we were to meet. I hope the law will punish him and that he will receive full justice for the crime.

"Arbuckle is the result of ignorance and too much money. He was originally a bar boy, although he has been in the chorus and done other things. I directed for him for a year and a half, and I had to warn him to keep out of the women's dressing rooms. There are some people who are a disgrace to the film business. They get enormous salaries and have not sufficient balance to keep right. They are the kind who resort to cocaine and opium and who participate in orgies that are of the lowest character. They should be driven out of the picture business. I am no saint, but I have never attended one of their parties. Virginia's friends were decent people, and I know she would not have associated with any one she knew to be vile."

Miss Rappe, Mr. Lehrman said, was born in New York but brought up in Chicago. Her parents are dead, and she had no relatives so far as he knew.

MANY THEATRES BAN ARBUCKLE PICTURES

STATE BOARD HASN'T ACTED

Secretary Says the Law May Not Cover Such a Case—Some Theatre Managers Decide to Show Films.

Films featuring Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, held in San Francisco in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Rappe, the screen actress, will probably be barred from New York theatres, but this will be by the act of individual theatre owners and the result of the moral influence of the movie fans, according to Leo Brecher, manager of the Plaza Theatre and a member of the Executive Board of the Motion Picture Chamber of Commerce. A number of theatre men under contract to produce Arbuckle films called up the distributing department of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation yesterday, in considerable perplexity as to what to do under present circumstances. They were told to go on presenting the films.

The movement to banish Arbuckle films from the screen began, apparently, in California, and reports from other sections of the country received yesterday would indicate that within a week there would be very few showing "Fatty" Arbuckle, here or elsewhere. A motion-picture man, in explaining why, in his opinion, the Arbuckle pictures would be consigned to the storehouse until the actor is cleared, said that an actor or actress with a questionable reputation might be acceptable in a sophisticated drama, but not in a simple, frolicsome comedy that will be watched by thousands of young people and children.

H. H. Buxbaum, manager of the Famous Players-Lasky exchange, said yesterday that no action had been taken concerning the distribution of Arbuckle films, and he did not anticipate any until further word had been received from San Francisco. There are circulating in theatres in the metropolitan district six feature releases and probably twenty two-reel films, and it was estimated that there are about 100 films of each in use at this time. The latest feature, "Crazy to Marry," has just had its "Broadway" showing, and has begun its course toward the smaller houses.

"It is my opinion that the New York theatres will shelve the Arbuckle films until the star is cleared," said Leo Brecher. "I do not think, however, that this will be done through any official action, but rather it will come about as a result of the voluntary action of individual theatre owners."

Miller's Board Has Not Acted.

In reply to a question as to what Governor Miller's Motion Picture Commission intended to do, Joseph Levenson, Secretary of the commission and New York City's representative in that body, said that he did not know what would be done when the matter came up for consideration.

"I should like to cut them out if the law gives authority to do so," he said. "There is a section of the law which forbids 'a picture that is immoral, indecent or likely to incite to crime.' How that can be construed is a matter for future action. Personally I should like to see them all banned if Arbuckle is guilty."

It was reported last evening that the F. F. Proctor offices had barred the Arbuckle films in all theatres controlled by the company in New York and elsewhere.

Commissioner of Public Safety John Bentley, of Jersey City, communicated with every motion picture theatre owner in that city yesterday and asked them whether they were going to continue to present Arbuckle films. All except one said they had advertised none, and Edward F. Burns, one of the proprietors of the Apollo Theatre, where one of the films was advertised to be presented, told Commissioner Bentley that it had been withdrawn.

"I know of no legal method to prevent the showing of Arbuckle features," said Commissioner Bentley, "but I think it would be common decency on the part of motion picture theatre owners not to show the pictures until Arbuckle is cleared of the charges."

Two of the seven theatres in Newark where Arbuckle pictures are to be shown will exhibit them as advertised. The other five have withdrawn them. The explanation given in the two cases was that the managers consider it would be unfair to the star to penalize him until he has been proved guilty. Director of Public Safety William J. Brennan refused last night to issue an order to prohibit the films in Newark.

The first reported cancellation of an Arbuckle film came from Los Angeles. On Sunday night one of the largest theatres in the city withdrew an Arbuckle production. The owner refused to comment on his action. He simply substituted another feature. Representatives of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation in San Francisco reported that there had been cancellations, but they would not tell how many had already reached the office. There were, however, two cancellations in San Francisco.

Every exhibitor in Michigan was advised yesterday to discontinue the showing of Arbuckle films. The pictures were placed under the ban by the Michigan Motion Picture Exhibitors' Association.

Withdrawn in Chicago.

Arbuckle will vanish from the screens of Chicago movie theatres for a time anyway, depending largely upon the outcome of his case. Two of the firms operating large strings of theatres have announced that no more Arbuckle pictures will be shown for the present. Another firm's directorate will consider the matter today.

Lubliner & Trinz had one Arbuckle picture, "Crazy to Marry," scheduled for their Ellantee Theatre. The advertising for this week's program sent out last week, carried the announcement. The picture, however, was canceled today and no Arbuckle films will be shown until something definite is known about the San Francisco case. Jones, Linick & Shaefer have run many filmings of Roscoe Arbuckle in their theatres, but have laid them on the shelf for the present.

In view of the action taken by the big movie exhibitors, it was considered probable that the smaller houses and the large ones in the outlying districts would follow suit and place the ban on all Arbuckle productions for the present.

Mayor Moore of Philadelphia last night instructed Director Cortelyou, of the Department of Public Safety, to prohibit the showing of "Fatty" Arbuckle films in Philadelphia.

"Any further exhibition of such films, in view of the conditions that have arisen in San Francisco, would tend at this time to offend public morals, and I am convinced the theatrical managers themselves will feel this way about it," the Mayor wrote. "I am willing to put the moving picture men upon their honor in this matter. If there should be any persistent violation of this request, however, you are authorized to take such steps in the premises as you think advisable."

Providence Also Bans Them.

The Providence Police Commission issued an order today that no moving picture house in this city should show any film in which Arbuckle appears until he is acquitted. No such pictures, as it happens, are advertised to be shown here this week.

An Arbuckle film was booked to be presented at one of the large theatres of Derby, Conn., last evening. It was withdrawn and another film substituted.

From Portland, Me., it was reported that theatres there had cancelled all Arbuckle films and that they will be barred until the actor is cleared.

Films featuring "Fatty" Arbuckle were to be shown in only one movie house in Elmira this week. The theatre is owned and operated by Pittsburgh interests. The screen will not be shown until further orders.

At a special meeting last night Buffalo Theatre managers voted to show no Arbuckle films until the murder charge against the comedian has been disposed of.

In Medford, Mass., the showing of Arbuckle films was forbidden by Mayor Haines. He notified all theatres that there could be no more showing of the pictures until "Fatty" Arbuckle had been cleared of the charge.

The only motion picture house in Toledo showing the films has cancelled all Arbuckle bookings and will not present them until he has been cleared.

Action cancelling the films was taken yesterday by the Regerson Corporation of Rochester, a syndicate controlling several houses in that city. They will be withheld from presentation until the outcome of his case, it was said.

The Memphis, Tenn., Board of Censors announced yesterday that the showing of Arbuckle features would not be permitted in Memphis theatres unless the actor cleared himself.

WIFE TO HELP ARBUCKLE.

Minta Durfee, Movie Actress, Will Go to San Francisco.

Minta Durfee, Roscoe Arbuckle's wife, will arrive this morning in New York preparatory to starting for San Francisco to do what she can to aid her husband. She was with him here about two months ago, although rumor since that time has had it that they separated.

She played with him in some of the pictures he made while a member of the Sennett Keystone Company, and has been for several years a fairly well-known figure among the comedy picture actresses. They were married in 1908.

LAST BERNESE HEIGHT CLIMBED BY JAPANESE

Yuko Mika Ascends Eiger Ridge Bared by Hot Summer—Guides Once Took Route Down.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERNE, Switzerland, Sept. 12.—The Eiger Mountain in the Bernese Oberland Alps, 13,039 feet high, has finally been ascended by way of the Mittelseggirat, or northeast ridge. The climber was a Japanese, Yuko Mika, aged 23.

He was accompanied by three guides, the chief guide being Fritz Amatter, who on July 10, 1911, attempted the Eiger by this route with Julian Grande.

Grande at that time could not proceed because the most difficult part of the route, the Gendarme, which overhangs, was entirely iced over.

Since that date, no attempt had been made to ascend the Eiger by this ridge, but owing to the recent long, dry Summer, the Gendarmel appears to have been for the first time in its known history free from ice and snow.

The Eiger has been descended several times by this route, first on July 3, 1885, by the guide Alexander Burgener, who lost his life in a terrible accident on the Jungfrau in July, 1910.

Now that the Eiger has been ascended by this ridge, virtually all the difficult positions in the Bernese Oberland Alps have been conquered.

GET THIRD INTEREST IN HAPSBURG ESTATE

American Financiers Will Carry Fight to League of Nations to Recover Properties.

THEY RETAIN RENE VIVIANI

Corporation Formed in Switzerland Will Manage Properties and Liquidate Where Possible.

The management of the estate of Archduke Frederick of Austria and his family, in which a group of American capitalists has obtained an interest, will be operated by the General Real Estate & Trust Co., recently incorporated in Geneva, Switzerland, with a capitalization of $500,000. Two thirds of the stock of this company is owned by the Hapsburg family while one-third is owned by the American syndicate. Rene Viviani, former Premier of France, has been retained to obtain a release of the properties which have been confiscated by various governments. These details were divulged yesterday by J. Leonard Replogle, who heads the American interests.

Mr. Viviani has been entrusted with the task of bringing the matter before the mixed tribunal of the League of Nations on the ground that the confiscation of some of the estates was a violation of the Treaty of St. Germain.

Negotiations for control of this vast estate started two years ago when Mr. Replogle on one of his visits abroad negotiated with Eugene Schneider, the French steel manufacturer, to obtain an interest in the Bergunhutten steel plant located at Teschen, Czechoslovakia. This deal went through and Mr. Replogle is one of the Directors of this company. Following this the parties interested were approached on the matter of taking over additional properties, and finally the deal reached such large proportions that the assistance of other Americans was solicited.

The Teschen steel plant is said to be modern in every detail, it employs approximately 20,000 men at the present time, and, according to Mr. Replogle, is operating at about 85 per cent. of capacity. It has its own by-product coke ovens, coal mines, bar and plate mills, and besides being one of the lowest cost producers of steel compares with any of the large plants in this country in equipment. Mr. Schneider will continue to operate this plant.

The properties of the Hapsburg family taken over by the General Real Estate and Trust Company include approximately 1,200,000 acres of land, of which 60,000 acres is in Italy, 120,000 in Rumania, 290,000 in Hungary, 200,000 in Austria and 200,000 in Czechoslovakia. It includes from twelve to fourteen beet sugar factories, several coal mines, apartment houses in the larger cities of Austria and Hungary, palaces and the Albertina Museum at Vienna. The value of the art objects in this museum alone is estimated at $100,000,000. The Hapsburg family before the war was considered among the wealthiest in Europe, comparing with the Czar of Russia and the Rothschilds.

It is the intention of the trust company, which is headed by H. S. Endsley as President, to liquidate the land holdings and other properties as soon as possible, but as about 50 per cent. of this property has been confiscated by various countries it is believed that realization upon them will be a long drawn out affair. The manufacturing plants, however, will be operated as heretofore by the trust company, which is to be managed by Charles S. Sabin, President of the Guaranty Trust Company of this city; Mr. Replogle, President of the Vanadium Steel Company, and Frank A. Munsey. Mr. Endsley was President of the Replogle Steel Company during its period of organization. Rene Viviani is general counsel of the General Real Estate and Trust Company and Samuel Untermyer represents the American interests.

Associated with Messrs. Sabin, Replogle and Munsey are Thomas J. Felder, William L. A. Bonnald, Louis Chamellon and Dr. Hugh Young of Johns Hopkins University. Mr. Felder had been interested in the negotiations from the very start, and was associated with Mr. Replogle in securing an interest in the Bergunhutten steel plant. He is a son-in-law of the late Milton Smith, President of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad.

The investment in the General Real Estate & Trust Company has been completely financed and there will be no offering of securities either in this country or abroad. The investment is a personal one on behalf of the individuals of the American group. And as the holdings of the Hapsburg estate is liquidated by the trust company, dividends will be distributed in proportion to the holdings of the Hapsburg family, which is two-thirds, and to the American syndicate, which is one-third.

Mr. Replogle has made two visits abroad investigating the property, one last year and one this year. The plans call for Mr. Replogle making an annual visit to Europe in behalf of the local syndicate.

Maine Mills Run at Half Time.

BIDDEFORD, Maine, Sept. 12.—Notices were posted in the Pepperel mills today that, effective at once, the mills would be run but three days a week until further notice. Broad looms, however, will continue to operate forty-four hours weekly. The mills for several weeks have been running on a forty-nine and one-half hour weekly schedule. About 3,000 persons are affected by the new orders.

HARDINGS IN AUTOS RACE HERE IN MUD

Municipal Ferry. Staten Island residents all along the route were on the watch for Mr. and Mrs. Harding, who responded to greetings with friendly waves of the hand. Fire companies at Stapleton and St. George were lined up in front of their quarters, their right hands at salute, while drivers stood by their machines whirring the cranks of their sirens.

The President and Mrs. Harding were met at the ferry pier by Mayor Hylan and Grover Whalen, Commissioner of Plant and Structures, who conducted them to the pilot house of the ferryboat Queens. The ferryboat was dressed in international colors and flew the municipal flag. The President's flag was not displayed.

The police boat John H. Hylan, also flying an array of international code signals, was on hand as escort, but was soon outdistanced by the swifter ferryboat in the sail up the bay. Staten Island-bound ferryboats crowded with commuters had a list to one side as passengers crowded to the rails to cheer and wave to the President and his wife. Tugs and steamers anchored in the bay sounded saluting whistles in all keys, and the whistle-cord of the Queens was pulled constantly in reply.

Destroyers Unaware of Visit.

As the ferryboat passed the Statue of Liberty a flotilla of destroyers, in double column, dashed out of the North River, but apparently the news of the Hardings' surprise visit had not reached the naval vessels before weighing anchor, for no honors were rendered as the destroyers steamed by the President. Before they left the ferry the President and Mrs. Harding shook hands with each of their motorcycle guards.

Mr. and Mrs. Harding received a noisy reception from a crowd of 16,000 at South Ferry, and the streets of lower Broadway were lined with persons, who raised their hats or waved their hands as the White House automobile passed [illegible] column of explosive motorcycles. Although it was [illegible] hours after office hours, the [illegible] district gave its conventional greeting to the distinguished visitors. Scrubwomen and late workers in offices rushed to the stout windows and flung long streamers of tape out the windows.

Northbound traffic on Fifth Avenue was waved to the curb as the Presidential automobile procession sped up the Avenue. The tops of Fifth Avenue buses were thickets of waving arms, and automobile horns and sirens added to the deafening din. Arrived at the Ritz-Carlton, the President and Mrs. Harding took an elevator immediately for their apartments. Lieutenant Warren Christian, son of the President's Secretary, and Mr. Harding's namesake, joined the party here.

Mr. and Mrs. Harding dressed for the musical comedy and dined with their guests in their own apartments and then drove through cleared streets to the Amsterdam Theatre.

Cheered as He Enters Theatre.

If the audience had not arisen and cheered when he entered and cheered again when he left, no one would have suspected that the gray-haired, ruddy-faced man in the upper left box was the President. Aside from his bow and his smile as he entered the theatre, he might have been merely a "tired business man" bound to get the most out of the music of Jerome Kern, the dancing of Marilynn Miller and the antics of Leon Errol in "Sally."

His right arm rested against the box railing, his chin was cupped in his hand. He was just looking on, enjoying things. That was until Errol appeared as the Duke of Czechogovinia, a noble reduced to waiting in an inn. Errol appeared with a tray full of dishes and immediately went into his sliding fall. The first movement of the Errol-knee-that-must-be-fixed caused President Harding to put his head back and laugh heartily. And he turned to whisper something to Mrs. Harding, who nodded and laughed, too.

Again when the dainty Miss Miller came scampering on the stage, a broadstick of huge size over her shoulder, the President led the applause for the actress in the title rôle. Throughout the show the President remained in his box, chatting during the intermissions with members of his party and once at the end of the intermission after act two having to find his chair in the sudden darkness of the house.

28 Police on Guard at Theatre.

Due to the suddenness of his visit the throngs bound [illegible] Amsterdam and to other [illegible] were unaware of the patron [illegible] to see "Sally." [illegible] district were 28 police on duty.

Joseph A. Howard of the West Thirtieth Street Station with a lieutenant, two sergeants and twenty uniformed men arrived at the theatre shortly after 8 o'clock and established police lines that the West Forty-second Street crowd "caught on." Then they began to gather in the street, interfering with traffic and keeping the policemen busy.

A few minutes before the curtain went up traffic was shut off in the street and mounted men arrived to handle the crowds waiting to see the President. With several automobiles filled with Secret Service operatives in the van of the procession, the Presidential party swung into Forty-second Street. As the President's car, a big limousine, halted in front of the New Amsterdam a series of cheers went up from the crowd.

As President Harding was escorted into the lobby hundreds of onlookers pressed in to get a closer view, and the police were hard put to it to maintain their lines.

With policemen in uniform and out of it, detectives and the Presidential bodyguard radiating from him on all sides, the President, with Mrs. Harding by his side, was escorted to the upper left box of the theatre.

Party Occupies Two Boxes.

All of the boxes in the New Amsterdam have been named by "Flo" Ziegfeld, and the box assigned to the President is known as the "Rose Box." The second enclosure, directly back of the one the President occupied, known as the "Violet Box," was set aside to accommodate the overflow of his party.

The President and Mrs. Harding—all in black, with an opera cloak of the same hue—sat in the front of the box. Directly back of them were Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce; Henry P. Fletcher, Assistant Secretary of State, and Mrs. Fletcher; George Christian, the President's secretary, and Captain R. P. Holmes, commander of the Mayflower.

In the second box were placed Brig. Gen. Sawyer, Mr. Harding's physician; Mr. and Mrs. George Van Fleet and Alexander P. Moore, publisher of the Pittsburgh Leader and Mrs. Moore, the former Lillian Russell.

Although the leader of the New Amsterdam orchestra failed to strike into the national anthem, the audience, its curiosity aroused by the policemen who were everywhere—even down the aisles—promptly recognized the President and arose to cheer him.

Intently following the musical comedy and applauding for encores of the popular hits of the show, the President, apparently forgetting that he was President and apparently wishing that the rest of the house also would forget it, was just a theatre-goer until the intermissions between Acts 1 and 2 arrived.

Then while the audience centred its glasses on the box and the conversation buzzed on the one topic, the President got up. The audience seemingly thought he was going to say a few words and the cheering broke out anew. But he was merely greeting Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, also at the New Amsterdam last night. He shook hands with his old campaign manager and chatted with him for a few moments. Then Percy R. Pyne 2d and J. Leonard Replogle, Chairman of the Board of Replogle Steel, came to the box and talked with the President for a while.

President Tells an Anecdote.

That was the last interruption to President Harding's plan to devote himself exclusively to the play. In the second intermission something that Mrs. Harding said, presumably about the antics of Errol, caused a ripple of laughter to pass around the Presidential box.

Whatever it was, it apparently recalled something to the President, for he leaned toward the members of his party and while they listened he talked till just before the curtain arose for the last act—perhaps the sliding collapse of the comedian had brought back some incident of earlier Marion days; it seemed, at any rate, as if President Harding were telling a reminiscence.

As the curtain fell after the show the applause ordinarily directed at the stars and their efforts was diverted to the President as he left his box and was escorted down the aisle and out the lobby to the waiting automobiles. The police outside the theatre had attracted a crowd of perhaps 3,000, which was jammed from sidewalk to sidewalk save for a narrow lane kept clear to permit the President's motor to get away.

Bareheaded the President, with Mrs. Harding on his arm, appeared outside the theatre and acknowledged the plaudits of the spectators. A yell of "Attaboy, Warren!" caused the President to smile broadly and wave his hand at the crowd. At a fast clip the party swung across Forty-second Street and up Madison Avenue to the Ritz, a flying squad of motorcycle men ahead to halt traffic and keep the way clear.

Upon arrival at the hotel, shortly before midnight, the President went at once to his suite and retired.

Two uniformed policemen were stationed on the family floor outside the President's bedroom, and detectives were assigned to supplement the Secret Service men scattered throughout the hotel.

INVENTIONS.

Inventive genius, technical skill, commercial ability, these are the prime essentials of successful invention. HARDING TAKES UP ALIENS' EXCLUSION

Consuls Ordered to Quit Issuing Passports When Quota Is Nearly Reached.

SIEGEL CHARGED CRUELTIES

Complained to President, Who, in Reply, Blames "Dishonest Steamship Agents."

Cruelty in the enforcement of the immigration laws has reached an extreme stage in the last two weeks, because of "the failure of the immigration officials to use common sense," according to Representative Isaac Siegel, who made public yesterday a correspondence between himself and President Harding on the subject. President Harding placed the blame largely on "dishonest steamship agents."

Representative Siegel said that because of the controversy over the interpretation of the immigration laws and the hardships worked in so many cases on individuals, the State Department sent out a general order last Friday to our Consuls in Europe, instructing them to suspend the issuance of passports to emigrants when the number of passports already issued approaches the quota of allowed immigrants. He said that in Poland and some other countries there was a conflict of opinion as to whether the quota had been reached or not, and that the Labor Department desired to stop emigration from such countries until the tangle is straightened out.

Mr. Siegel said that, according to the State Department figures, Poland had passed its quota and several other European countries had reached or approximated it. Mr. Siegel contended that the State Department figures regarding Poland were incorrect and that several thousand immigrants from that country might still be legally permitted to enter.

Citing an instance o what he regarus as cruelty inflicted on aliens through the new law's operation, Mr. Siegel said:

"Freda Berman is 10 years old. Her father, Jacob Berman, a tailor, of 250 West Ninety-first Street, came to this country seven years ago, intending to bring his wife and child here as soon as he settled. The war broke out and most of the people of Poland became refugees. He was notified that his wife and child were dead. Nevertheless, he was successful a short time ago in finding them. He immediately sent the money to bring them to this country.

"His wife died on the eve of sailing and the ten-year-old daughter came over alone. She has not a relative in Poland. But she was ordered to be deported on the ground that the quota was filled.

"There have occurred sixty-seven similar cases of needless cruelty.

"The law allows the admission in any one month of as many as five-twelfths of the 3 per cent. permitted to enter in a year. But the immigration officials are permitting only one-twelfth of the 3 per cent. to enter each month, thus inflicting twelve times as much hardship and cruelty as is necessary."

Mr. Siegel's letter to President Harding was as follows:

Washington, Sept. 8.

Hon. Warren G. Harding,
President of the United States:

Dear Mr. President—It is exceedingly regrettable that the immigration laws, as now being enforced, are resulting in the grossest kind of injustice. There is no reason why the same attitude taken by the Labor Department heretofore should not be followed, in allowing members of families who arrive after the quota for each month has been filled to remain at Ellis Island or be allowed to land under bond and be counted in the next month's quota.

All I can say to you is that the separation of parents from children who arrive at Ellis Island—the parents being admitted and the children being sent back because they happen to arrive after the quota is filed—is something I don't believe you will approve.

The reason that I desire to bring this to your attention is because no one can picture to you in words the effect of the enforcement of this provision the way it is now being administered. Action on your part is absolutely necessary if we are to uphold American traditions regarding humanity.

With kindest regard, yours very truly, ISAAC SIEGEL.

The reply of President Harding was as follows:

White House, Washington,
Sept. 9, 1921.

My Dear Mr. Siegel: I have your letter of Sept. 8. I haven't any doubt in the world but the enforcement of the immigration laws is working many a hardship. My own distress has been very great over some of the specific instances which have been reported to me.

If I have the situation correctly presented, the difficulty must be charged to dishonest steamship agents who have brought to this country innocent immigrants in spite of our continued warnings during a period of very great leniency. I know how very persistent have been the impositions which have been made on the Government agents who have been disposed to be sympathetic and more than generous in carrying out the law.

However, I am sending your letter to the Department of Labor for further information on the subject. I have great confidence in the Commissioner of Immigration, and I know the Secretary of Labor is one of the most humane and sympathetic men in the land. If there are conditions such as you suggest I feel pretty confident that they are unavoidable under the law. Very respectfully yours,

WARREN G. HARDING.

Plans have been made for a consultation of Secretary Davis of the Labor Department, Representative Siegel of the Immigration Committee and others to devise a more humane method of handling the immigration problem at the port of New York.

40 Chinese to Leave Here.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Groups of Chinese, Mexicans and Hindus, who are to be deported for being in this country without proper authority, will start from New York, Los Angeles and other cities during the next few days for New Orleans and San Francisco, to be sent to their own countries, it was announced today at the Department of Labor. A party of forty Chinese will leave New York on Wednesday and twenty others will entrain from Chicago.

A number of the Chinese, it was stated, are seamen who have taken advantage of the freedom permitted under the Seaman's act for aliens to enter and remain in this country, notwithstanding the Percentage Immigration law and Oriental Exclusion act. The department is also finding it difficult to cope with the flood of Chinese endeavoring to enter this country from Cuba and Mexico.

IRISH REPLY ON WAY TO LLOYD GEORGE

added that when the Dail Eireann controlled its own Government it would "no longer allow an English Education Board to officiate, but would start to make Irish the spoken and written language of Ireland from the centre to the sea."

"The Dail Eireann," he continued, "will make Irishmen out of the sons of Saxons or Englishmen, and even make Irishmen out of Orangemen."

This remark, in which was seen an application to Eamon de Valera, who was born in America, evoked peals of laughter.

Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier, returned to Belfast this forenoon and presided at a meeting of the Cabinet. The Ulster Parliament will open its session on Sept. 20, the date being the same as that set for the proposed Irish peace conference at Inverness.

REPUBLICANS PLAN TO HOLD UP TARIFF

Senators Now Putting Stumbling Blocks in the Path of the Measure.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Every day shows more clearly that the Republican members of the Finance Committee are placing stumbling blocks in the way of the enactment of a tariff bill at this session. It became known today that the committee will not report a tariff bill until early in the regular session, about January next.

Republican Senators find that the objection to heavy tariff duties is increasing. They are now realizing, it is said, from reports that have come to them from former adherents of high tariff schedules that an increase in tariff duties in the next few months would greatly injure American business.

Senator Penrose, who does not believe in prohibitive tariff duties, such as carried by the House bill, said today: "There is no great pressure for haste in reporting the tariff bill."

In fact, every opportunity is being found to delay consideration and final action on the measure. The hearings were postponed so that the revenue bill could be disposed of, and no plans have been made to resume the tariff hearings until the revenue bill has passed the Senate.

Another dilatory scheme adopted by the Finance Committee is the appointment of experts to study prices abroad and report upon the practicability of the American valuation scheme. These experts have not been named as yet. Senator Penrose said it would require from two to three months to complete their investigations. The bill cannot be completed until this report is received and that means that it cannot get into the Senate before the last of December.

It is also planned to hear the representations of as many foreign countries as desire to be heard against the proposed tariff rates—an unprecedented practice. Some weeks ago representatives of the Sheffield Chamber of Commerce were heard in protest against the rates on high speed steel. Today Sir Richard Anderson Squires, Premier of Newfoundland, appeared before the committee and asked that the rates on fish and fish oils be reduced. The committee requested him to return when the tariff bill was under consideration.

These are some of the evidences that the Republicans are finding plausible reason for delaying action on the tariff bill in the hope that revision can be put off as long as possible.

FEE-TAKING CHARGED IN YONKERS CAMPAIGN

Mayoralty Candidate Denies Gaining by $2,000 Check Paid to Him While Sheriff.

A bitter Republican primary contest for the Mayoralty nomination in Yonkers, between James J. Lynch and former Sheriff Ulrich Wiesendanger, which is to be settled today, was intensified yesterday by a charge that Wiesendanger accepted a check for $2,000 while Sheriff of the county from the president of a concern his Deputy Sheriffs were guarding during a strike.

John J. Blackford, superintendent of the Yonkers water-works, charged that former President Perot of the National Conduit and Cable Company of Hastings drew a check for $2,000 to Sheriff Wiesendanger's order nine days after a strike at the company's works in Hastings was settled in 1916 and Wiesendanger's deputies were withdrawn from guarding the plant.

Wiesendanger admits Mr. Perot drew a check to his order but asserts it was to purchase stock in the Theiolyte Company and that the check will show that it was endorsed over to the Theiolyte Company. Wiesendanger asserts that he in no way profited from Mr. Perot's subscription for stock, and he never accepted any private funds for any public service performed while in office.

Lynch is backed by William L. Ward, Republican county leader, who lives in Port Chester. Leslie Sutherland, Republican City Chairman, is supporting Wiesendanger. Mayor William J. Wallin is out to aid Ward to retain his hold on the Yonkers City Government. Ward, long a power in Republican affairs, is fighting for his political life. Lee P. Davis, District Attorney, and other independent Republicans, are aiding Wiesendanger.

FIND 109 MORE DEAD IN TEXAS LOWLANDS

SAN ANTONIO DEAD NOW 49

Relief Fund Donated by Residents of City Totals $17,478—Red Cross Quarters Crowded.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Sept. 12.—More than 100 bodies of flood and storm victims in the lowlands along the San Gabriel River in Williamson and Milam Counties have been recovered, according to the correspondent of The San Antonio Express at Taylor, who telegraphed a report tonight.

The correspondent telephoned the following:

"One hundred and nine bodies have been recovered from flooded lowlands along the San Gabriel River in Williamson and Milam Counties. Most of the dead are Mexican farm laborers."

Another dispatch to The Express from Rockdale, Milam County, says:

"More than twenty families in the Brazos bottoms between Cuax and Valley Junction are reported lost. Five persons are known to have drowned on the Ed Green farms in the San Gabriel bottoms."

More than twenty feet of water rose over the roads in the Brazos bottoms and nothing has been heard from the twenty families living there.

Property losses will exceed $1,000,000, the report said.

Ed Green, on whose land several were drowned, was rescued after being in a tree 36 hours. Two white boys and a girl were rescued at the same time.

Death lists from the different towns and communities reported here follow:

Thorndale, sixty-five bodies recovered, all Mexicans.

San Gabriel, eight Mexicans.

Alligator Creek, five Mexicans.

Roy Bland farm, near Taylor, four Mexicans.

Elm Grove, twenty-nine Mexicans on Jake Bower's place, seven miles southeast of Taylor.

Americans whose bodies have been recovered are two unidentified children, drowned in Brushy Creek, near Taylor; Mrs. H. L. Brown and son Lee, at Redville gin on Alligator Creek.

Finding in San Antonio today of the bodies of a man and woman, both unidentified, brought the newspaper known dead list of the Saturday flood to forty-nine.

Relief funds totaling $17,478 had been subscribed today by citizens of San Antonio toward a goal of $25,000 for relieving the distress of those who lost possessions in the flood.

Red Cross relief headquarters was one of the busiest places in the city today treating those injured in the flood, and aiding those needing food and clothing. No record was kept of the number of emergency treatments, but it was said that up to noon today at least 150 persons had been given first aid. Very few were so seriously injured as to have to be sent to hospitals.

Many of those appearing late today had injuries showing signs of infection. Most of them had been bruised and cut about the limbs and feet. The few who would talk explained that they were injured when trying to save their property or rescue members of their families from the water.

Two thousand loaves of bread were received from Houston and Austin today, the local supply having been exhausted. That from Austin had to come by automobile.

C. B. Yandell, general manager of the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce, gave this statement to The Associated Press:

"Though it will be some time before citizens can make absolute checks of their property losses, it is a fair estimate to state that the damage will not exceed $8,000,000, if it reaches that figure.

"The loss in property damage was increased because many merchants had new Fall and Winter stocks stored in the basements of their buildings which were flooded.

"Although San Antonio appreciates the many kind offers of assistance tendered by sister cities, it appears that we will be able to handle the situation satisfactorily without outside help."

GOVERNOR THINKS 150 DIED.

By Telegraph to the Editor of The New York Times.

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 12.—Replying to your telegram, advise that on account of flood waters, about 150 lives have been lost, with property destroyed, in the aggregate, to the extent of $20,000,000. It is not contemplated that at this time any outside help will be needed. Thanks to you. PAT M. NEFF, Governor.

GENERAL STRIKE ON IN NORTHERN FRANCE

Textile Workers' Walkout Extended to Other Industries—Small Towns Without Bread.

Special Cable to The New York Times.

PARIS, Sept. 12.—A general strike was begun this morning throughout the industrial district of Northern France, and tonight reports have reached Paris of considerable disturbance, especially in the town of Tourcoing. Private automobiles and street cars which were being run by corporation employes who refused to strike were attacked by strikers, among whom women were especially numerous, and the police and gendarmes had difficulty in preventing extensive damage being done.

The strike is an extension of the textile workers' strike which began three weeks ago in the towns of Lille, Tourcoing and Roubaix. The cause is the usual one—reduction of wages. Employers claim that they cannot maintain trade against foreign imports at the present rate of wages, and that these should be reduced in proportion to the fall in the cost of living. Workers reply that the cost of living has not fallen.

The strike of bakers has necessitated the institution of relief work, which will begin tomorrow. Today the town of Watrelos and several other small localities were entirely without bread.

In general no work is being done throughout the whole industrial area, and the communist element is busy among the strikers, who already are excited and angered by the situation. M. Daniel Vincent, Minister of Labor, is in the strike district.

LIVERPOOL POLICE FIGHT LABOR MOB

Unemployed Seize Art Gallery and Battle Fiercely in Building and Streets.

Special Cable to The New York Times.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 12.—A fierce conflict between nearly 6,000 unemployed workers and the police occurred here today when the Walker Art Gallery was stormed by several hundred men. In the fighting which followed about 100 persons were injured and 100 arrests were made.

The riot was the outcome of an unemployment demonstration at which a local clergyman said that "if they couldn't keep their families by begging they must steal," and suggested that they might obtain possession of St. George's Hall. Another speaker demanded that the unemployed should have free admittance to cinemas, music halls and theatres.

At the close of the meeting the crowd moved towards the art gallery and several hundred rushed inside. Large police reinforcements quickly arrived and trapped the storming party by closing all doors.

A fierce fight followed. The crowd sought to seize the whole building. The police drew batons and, according to witnesses, one after another of the demonstrators went down under their blows. When the doors were reopened a stream of injured men were led out or carried away on stretchers. No serious damage was done to the gallery or exhibits.

Meanwhile another conflict was going on in the streets. The crowds refused at first to disperse and the police had to use batons and charge several times.

STRIKE TIES UP BERLIN.

Street Cars, Electric Light Service and Newspapers Suspended.

BERLIN, Sept. 12.—All electrical services in Berlin were tied up today by a strike of the electricians.

No street cars were running, the electric light service was suspended, and the newspapers were unable to appear.

CURRAN TALKS TO WOMEN.

Describes City Government as Simply Housecleaning.

Henry H. Curran, speaking yesterday afternoon at the Hotel Martha Washington before the Republican Committee of 109, an organization of women, of which Mrs. Mary Hatch Willard is Chairman, declared that "municipal government is simply housecleaning." Mr. Curran urged a complete change of administration, urging that "a new broom sweeps clean."

Sessions of the Board of Estimate were described by Mr. Curran as "curious jungle meetings." Of the three Republicans opposed to him in the primaries, Mr. Curran said that Fiorello H. LaGuardia, President of the Board of Aldermen, had a "distinct advantage." "I have sat beside Major LaGuardia for a year and a half down in that menagerie they call the City Hall, and have tried to teach him something, but he would not learn. However, it was experience."

Vincent Gilroy, coalition candidate for President of the Board of Aldermen, urged the women to vote solidly for Miss Helen Varick Boswell for Registrar of New York County.

REPEATERS READY, SWANN CHARGES

HOT DENIALS FROM ACCUSED

Swann's Staff Ordered to Watch Precincts Closely for Voters Imported From Jersey.

On the eve of the primary election, District Attorney Edward Swann last night made public a statement in which he charged that Democratic supporters of James J. Hines, Tammany leader of the Eleventh Assembly District and contender with ex-Senator Julius Miller, Murphy's candidate, for the nomination for Borough President of Manhattan had combined with Republican supporters of Borough President Henry H. Curran, Republican-Coalition candidate for the Mayoralty nomination to "import several hundred repeaters from New Jersey" for fraudulent voting at the primaries today in the interest of those candidates. District Attorney Swann said:

"It is my information that the repeaters have been employed by certain Democrats who are supporting James J. Hines for Manhattan Borough President and by certain Republicans who are supporting Henry H. Curran for the Republican Mayoralty candidates. These Democrats and Republicans are said to be working together. To meet this situation I have issued orders to my staff to keep in close touch with the various Assembly districts of New York County today, and to move swiftly whenever they get any information to lead to the belief that such a plot is being carried out.

"It is my information that the arrangements made by these politicians working together are to import several hundred New Jersey repeaters who are to go down the line in both primaries in the names of voters known to be absent from the city, or to have moved out of the districts from which they registered last October. If anything of this sort is attempted, there will be wholesale prosecutions by my office."

Mr. Curran, when told of District Attorney Swann's charges, said: "Oh, that's just his regular roarback. He says that every year. It's just another little swan song, the last squeak of a lonesome man. What I resent most is that he always talks about guerrillas from Jersey and never gives the Philadelphia and Bridgeport guerrillas a chance."

Joseph Shalieck, campaign manager for Mr. Hines, after reading District Attorney Swann's statement, said: "The statement issued by Judge Swann is absolutely false and can be truthfully and aptly applied to the methods the Murphy forces intend to apply in the primaries tomorrow.

"Swann is merely another tool of Murphy's who has been absolutely repudiated by the people. The Attorney General will see to it that any person who commits any violation of law or does any illegal voting will be punished to the full extent of the law."

"The charges are a fabrication, and District Attorney Swann's statement is made without the slightest justification or basis of truth," said Arthur B. Murtha, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Curran Campaign Committee.

After a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Republican County Committee at which the district leaders received their final instructions and talked over plans for the primary election, President Samuel S. Koenig of the Republican County Committee said:

"I have given definite instructions to every leader to visit every polling place in his district and see to it that every candidate, Democrat or Republican, gets a square deal. Election district captains have been instructed to remain in their districts until the last vote has been counted, and that includes the vote cast for Democratic candidates. Instructions have also gone out that there must be no repetition this year of the usual practice of segregating the ballots so that Republican ballots are counted by the Republican members of the local election boards and the Democratic ballots by the Democrats on these boards. All four members of the boards must participate in the count of all the votes this year."

REPUBLICAN WOMEN HOLD THE BALANCE

leader. Major LaGuardia and the other candidates before they appeared at this meeting had addressed half a dozen other audiences. The Major on the final day of the campaign made a flying trip through Manhattan, Kings, Queens and Richmond.

Big Vote Is Looked For.

A very big vote is expected in the Republican primaries today. Late last night peremptory orders went out to every Republican district leader in the city, to be transmitted to their election district captains and other workers, directing that nothing must be left undone to bring to the polls every voter that could be swayed by organization influences in favor of the Republican-Coalition candidates, Major Curran, Senator Charles C. Lockwood of Kings, candidate for Controller and Vincent Gilroy candidate for Aldermanic President. While it is expected that Senator Lockwood who has no serious opposition will have a walkover, considerable uneasiness was felt in coalition circles regarding the fate of Mr. Gilroy, who is an independent Democrat, running in the Republican primaires.

The Citizens Union, through Walter T. Arndt, its Secretary, last night sent out an urgent appeal to enrolled Republicans to support the candidacy of Mr. Gilroy.

"Republicans may feel less interest in his candidacy by reason of the fact that he is a Democrat," said Mr. Arndt. "Furthermore, he has two opponents, both of whom are laying claim to support by reason of the fact that they are Republicans. James J. Halligan, the most active of his opponents who is running on Judge Haskell's wet platform, is not, however, a Republican of long standing, and those voters who are inclined to vote a 'straight' ticket should bear in mind that most of his active career has been passed as a Tammany Democrat, and that his claim to support as a Republican has very little real basis. Mr. Gilroy has cut loose from the Tammany organization entirely because he could not stand for either its leadership or its municipal policies.

"Republicans should not forget that in this contest they must rely on independent and Democratic votes to win. The Republican leaders are committed to a coalition of all elements in opposition to Tammany Hall. The Republican leaders who are sincere in their opposition to Hylan, Hearst and Tammany Hall will, therefore, see to it that their cause is strengthened by the nomination of Vincent Gilroy for President of the Board of Aldermen."

Hearst Out for LaGuardia.

The Hearst publications yesterday came out strongly for the nomination of Major LaGuardia. The general opinion in Republican circles was that this would tend to alienate Republican support from the Aldermanic President, who who in the Board of Estimate has supported many of Mayor Hylan's policies.

"LaGuardia is at last unmasked," said Mrs. Arthur J. Hanford, chairman of the City Affairs Committee of the Women's National Republican Club. "He is the admitted Hearst candidate in the Republican primary. Imagine Hearst daring to dictate to women Republicans. We will take a warning from this.

"We are told that nobody but LaGuardia is a five cent fare candidate in the Republican primaries. This is an eleventh hour falsehood which is contemptible and LaGuardia knows it. LaGuardia knows that Henry Curran always has been for the five cent fare and that Curran faced the Governor and stood up alone with LaGuardia and Hylan present and spoke in Albany for a five cent fare. It is such irresponsible and desperate fictions which have turned large groups of Republican women away from LaGuardia and toward Curran, the man who knows what ails New York, LaGuardia as Hearst's second string candidate is impossible."

"Reports from the members of the Executive committee of our organization, representing the Women's National Republican Club, the Republican Committee of One Hundred, the Harding-Coolidge Club, the Women's Republican Club, Inc., and the Women's Republican Association of Woodhaven, indicate the nomination of Mr. Curran," said Mrs. Edward S. Van Zile, Chairman of the Women's Anti-Tammany Campaign Committee last night.

"The arguments are all in, and tomorrow the jury of 642,000 enrolled Republicans will render their verdict," said Major Curran in his final appeal yesterday. "I hope that every man and woman enrolled with our party will appreciate and accept the responsibility that primary day brings. These primaries are merely the beginning of our job this Fall. The real task is to put New York City's Government back on its feet again. Mayor Hylan must go. His inability to grasp even the simplest problems of municipal government, as well as the incompetence and greed of those whom he has appointed to office, have brought the beneficial progress of our city to a dead stop. We cannot stand still. We have to go ahead. During this primary campaign I have always kept before me this object, and I hope my fellow-Republicans will not forget it now."

LaGuardia Expects to Win.

Major LaGuardia said last night that he expected to win by "a safe and comfortable margin." In his final appeal last night he said, among other things:

"This has been a hard fight for straight Republicanism. It has been a fight to save the great City of New York to its citizenry. I am sure that the great rank and file of the Republican Party repudiate the attempt of up-State bosses to throttle the right of the citizens of this city to govern themselves, and when the votes are counted tomorrow night I will be declared the winner, and the repudiation of Governor Miller be complete. If nominated, I offer to again lead my party to victory."

Mrs. LaGuardia, who is confined to her bed by illness, sent a letter yesterday to women members of the Republican County Committee asking them to support her husband.

"If Major LaGuardia is not nominated and elected, New York will lose a good Mayor, but I will again have the companionship of a good husband," Mrs. LaGuardia wrote.

"If on Wednesday there appears to be any suspicious circumstances about the primary," said ex-Senator Bennett in a final statement last night, "I expect to start in at the office of the Board of Elections with a corps of workers and investigate every election district in the City of New York. Four years ago I pledged myself that the 1917 primary should be the last dishonest primary in this city."

Aldermanic President LaGuardia announced yesterday that arrangements had been completed with two film concerns, one of them the Hearst service, to have moving pictures taken of all disorders at the polls or any obstruction on the part of persons or officials trying to hold up voting today.

"The moment word is given that there is any obstruction," Major LaGuardia said, "camera men will be rushed in automobiles to the polling places to take pictures which will show the persons present and just what is going on."

United States Senator William M. Calder in a statement yesterday urged the nomination of Major Curran.

"It is my judgment Major Curran should be nominated for Mayor in the Republican primaries if the present administration is to be defeated," said the Senator. "As a man sure to appeal to every opponent of Tammany, he did not push himself into the fight for the nomination. The solid, thinking Republicans owe it to themselves and to the city to nominate Major Curran who knows the needs of the city and has the necessary courage and intelligence to be a real Mayor."

Surely the Great Novel of the Year
If Winter Comes
By
A. S. M. HUTCHINSON

"If Winter Comes" is not only a thrilling tale, it is an important work of art. It has a real and skilfully constructed plot; the hero is unforgettable, and even the minor characters are impressively human; it abounds in humor and wit, the laughter of fun and the laughter of the mind.

"I do not know when I have had more continuous enjoyment in reading a new book.

DRUG ARREST LEADS TO STREET BATTLE

RAIN OF SHOTS AND BRICKS

Policemen, Wounded and Bleeding, Cling to Alleged Heroin Vendor.

One detective was shot and another was beaten into unconsciousness yesterday afternoon when they were attacked by a crowd of 250 men at Mott and Hester Streets after they had arrested Antonio Scinto, 19 years old, of 187 Hester Street, on a charge of selling heroin to one of them. More than twenty of the men who attacked the detectives, it was said, discharged pistols in the course of the small-sized riot, and it was not until the arrival of the reserves from the Elizabeth Street Station that Detectives Patrick J. Kirley and Charles Meisenzahl of the Narcotic Division got their prisoners to Police Headquarters, three blocks away.

Some of the attackers ran to roofs of neighboring tenements, tore down chimneys and hurled the bricks on the detectives. Several of the bricks struck Detective Meisenzahl on the head, shoulders and body, but he held to his prisoner until Detective Kirley got to his side.

It was about that time that the shooting began. Kirley had drawn his pistol and was threatening to shoot when pistol shots rang out all around him. Two bullets cut deep furrows in the detective's head, but he tightened his grip on Scinto. When he and Meisenzahl reached the office of Dr. Carleton Simon, Special Deputy Police Commissioner, in Police Headquarters, Kirley collapsed and was removed to St. Vincent's Hospital by Dr. Miseli. Meisenzahl, knocked unconscious by the shower of bricks and other missiles, was revived at Police Headquarters and treated by Dr. Miseli for bruises on the head and body.

Meisenzahl later told Deputy Commissioner Simon he had struck up an acquaintance with Scinto, who was reported to be trafficking in drugs among young men and children in the district. He said he arranged to meet Scinto yesterday afternoon in the hallway of 121 Mott Street, where Scinto was to sell him a small quantity of heroin. Detective Kirley accompanied Meisenzahl, and when they were about a block away from the Mott Street tenement Kirley dropped behind.

Just as Scinto gave him the heroin, Meisenzahl said, and had accepted money in return, Kirley started toward the hallway, and Meisenzahl grabbed Scinto. As the detective got him to the sidewalk, Scinto, he said, began to fight. Kirley and Meisenzahl were struggling with him, when Scinto shouted in Italian to a group of ten young men standing on the corner of Mott and Hester Street.

Within a few seconds the men had surrounded the two detectives and tried to wrest Scinto from them, Meisenzahl said.

Two of the would be rescuers struck Meisenzahl with blackjacks, felling him, but he managed to get to his feet when Kirley drove the group back with his pistol. Meisenzahl then pulled out his pistol, and started to aid Kirley to get their prisoner to Police Headquarters when Scinto was alleged to have shouted to the others: "Don't let these kid detectives pinch me." Both detectives are young looking and athletic.

There was a rush and the shooting began. Kirley was felled by a bullet that grooved his scalp, but Meisenzahl held on to Scinto. Kirley, with blood streaming down his face, disentangled himself from the feet of a dozen attackers who were kicking him, and took a firmer hold on Scinto. Just then another bullet plowed its way through the detective's scalp, but he managed to keep his feet.

Scinto all the time had been trying to free himself from the detectives' grasp, but as Meisenzahl fell unconscious as a brick struck him on the temple Kirley managed to strike Scinto several blows on the head with his pistol, knocking him to the street.

At this point the reserves appeared and the shooting ceased, but it was more that ten minutes before the attackers were driven to cover.

GIRL HELD IN $5,000 AS TAXICAB ROBBER

MAN HELD IN $75,000 THEFT

Victim in This Case Also Fails to Recognize Prisoner — Three Arraigned for 25-Cent Hold-Up.

Police courts were busy yesterday with the arraignment of prisoners arrested in connection with recent robberies and burglaries.

One prisoner was Alice Le Beau, a slender girl of 20, with bobbed blond hair, who was held in $5,000 bail for the Grand Jury by Magistrate Tobias in Washington Heights Court. The girl was held despite the failure of Benjamin Jaslow, the complainant, to identify her. Magistrate Tobias said he believed friends of the girl had brought influence to bear upon Jaslow.

Jaslow is a taxicab driver, living at 1,004 Fox Street. He, two men and a girl had engaged a taxi on Aug. 23 and driven up Broadway near Van Cortlandt Park. According to Jaslow, they made him leave the taxi and then robbed him of $22, a gold watch and chain and a silver cigarette case.

When Miss Le Beau was arraigned in the West Farms Court last week on another charge of robbery Jaslow, according to the police, identified the girl, who was rearrested after having been discharged for lack of evidence.

Magistrate Corrigan in the Yorkville Court held Santo Barbera, 31, a laborer, of 257 Richmond Avenue, Staten Island, in $5,000 bail for examination tomorrow on the charge of robbery. The victim in this case also failed to identify the prisoner. Barbera was arrested Saturday in connection with the robbery of $75,000 worth of jewelry from the shop of Cesare Fochi on the eighth floor of 17 East Forty-eighth Street on March 16 last. Five robbers entered the shop, bound and gagged a young woman employe, and took all the jewelry they could find.

Chief Magistrate McAdoo in Jefferson Market Court held Patrick Hanon, 25, of 240 East 124th Street, and Harry Brown, 27, of 240 East 132d Street in $10,000 bail each for examination tomorrow on the charge of burglary. The men were arrested early Sunday in the Truly Warner hat shop at 1,383 Broadway.

Three men were arraigned in Essex Market Court on the charge of stealing 25 cents. They said they were Frank Cucci, 17, of 219 Chrystie Street; Salvatore Affonti, 20, of 55 East Fourth Street, and Joseph Ciola, 25, of 216 Chrystie Street. The complainant was John Baptiste, who said the men held him up. Magistrate McGeehan held the prisoners in $1,500 bail each.

Henry Touey, 21, a taxi driver, of 162 West Fifteenth Street, was held for the Grand Jury in $2,500 bail on charge of assault and robbery by Chief Magistrate McAdoo in Jefferson Market Court. The complainant was Eulegis Lazoba, a Filipino, who charged that Touey and another man held him up, struck him and stole a $50 stickpin in West Fourteenth Street late Sunday night. The man with the stickpin escaped.

Chief Magistrate McAdoo discharged Logan W. Hunton, 40, of 61 West Fiftieth Street, who was arrested and charged with robbery on the night of Sept. 5, on complaint of Mrs. Helen Kneller, 24, of Elizabeth, N. J., who said Hunton tried to take her purse when they were riding together in a taxicab. The woman failed to appear in court.

Adolph L. Simon, real estate dealer, living at the Monterey Hotel, Ninety-fourth Street and Broadway, was robbed of $700, a gold watch, cuff links and stickpin at Ninety-second Street and West End Avenue on the night of Sept. 1. Mr. Simon had been dining in the neighborhood. He took out a roll of bills to pay his check, and thinks the robbers saw the money and followed him.

SAYS WOMEN HERE FLOCK TO JOIN KLAN

"First Lady" of Ku Klux So Busy Answering Inquiries She Has to Employ Aid.

COSTUME NOT SO DREADFUL

Regrets She Did Not Bring the Silk Gown She Wears at Rituals in Atlanta.

Just before she left the Hotel Pennsylvania last night to try to find a "movie" to her liking along Broadway, Mrs. Elizabeth Tyler, the "first lady" of the Ku Klux Klan, talked about how New York women were taking to the Klan.

Since coming to this city Mrs. Tyler has been attending to her business affairs herself, but found she had to hire a secretary.

"The day after I arrived here," she said, "I received 300 letters from women throughout this State seeking information about the Klan. You can say quite correctly that New York women are flocking to join us.

"Counting letters and callers, I have had at least 700 inquiries in two days. And 95 per cent. of the persons who sought to line up with the Ku Klux Klan were women. Why not? New York women ought to join us and when they know the real purposes of this organization they will want to become members even more than they do now. The Klan stands for the things women hold most dear.

"Right now, according to the last figures I have been able to obtain, people throughout this country are joining the Klan at a rate of 1,000 a day. Most of them are asking to be taken in, although we have our organizers in every State. In some States we have only a few men; in some States only one man as yet caring for the entire territory. But in most of the States we have men in every county. There isn't an inch of this country the Klan isn't covering.

"Unfortunately, all the inquiries that have come to me must get the same answer—the organization for membership of women has not been completed. I have, therefore, either to advise the inquirers to wait or to get in touch with headquarters in Atlanta.

"At my suggestion the women's organization will be on a par with that of the men. We plan that all women who join us shall have equal rights with the men. This women's division now in process of organization will not be in any sense a dependent auxiliary of the Ku Klux Klan. It will be a separate organization, but, of course, will be bound to the parent organization.

"Yes, the women's organization will have the same ritual and the same costumes. I wish that I had brought up my silk costume from Atlanta. There have been so many wild yarns circulated about the costume of the Knights of the Ku Klux that I'd like to show just what the costume consists of. It isn't half as dreadful as it has been pictured."

Then Mrs. Tyler started for the "movie" theatre.

ASSAILS NEGRESS-WHIPPERS

South Carolina Judge Orders Grand Jury to Start Investigation.

GREENWOOD, S. C., Sept. 12.—Judge O. O. Featherstone, at the opening of the County Court today, scored the action of a mob which recently took from the city jail two negro women and whipped them. He charged the Grand Jury that it is "your bounden duty to investigate the facts in connection with this matter."

"The city officials know the men, or some of them, who took the prisoners from their custody," Judge Featherstone told the jury. "There are others who know the facts, and you as grand jurors, have the power to summon and force them to come before you and testify any witnesses whom you please. I will see to it that in your investigation you have the full power of the law to support you.

"You will decide when to make this investigation, and I am going to authorize you to take all of the time which you may regard as necessary. You will find out the facts, the men who engaged in this alleged unlawful enterprise, and then report these facts to the court, together with the names of the witnesses. The necessary indictment will be prepared and the alleged violators of the law will be put on trial."

The negro women who were beaten by a mob of about 150 citizens were charged with attacking two white women on the street about two weeks ago.

Before giving his formal instructions to the Grand Jury today Judge Featherstone said: "It is time for every man who loves his home and his country to stand up boldly for the enforcement of law."

New Today at Wanamaker's

John Wesley, the Founder of the Great Methodist Episcopal Church, was quite a poor man, but his disposition to do what he could led him to look for opportunities and find people to help.

It was a habit with him when he saw the need to say:

"This ought to be done and I must find the way."

In his early days at Newcastle-upon-Tyne, he endeavored, so Bishop Simpson once said, to start an orphan school and made the arrangements with the builders, who required one hundred pounds ($500), which he did not have on hand. He was obliged to take a train to meet an engagement. Just as he was starting off a Quaker in his own town came in and said:

"John, I had a strange dream about thee last night. I saw thee with a parcel of little children in a storm, and thee was trying to shelter them and had no place, so when I woke up I wrote thee this check for an hundred pounds."

Many of us dream of things that ought to be done, but we put off writing the cheeks. If it is put in our hearts to do things, let us at once write the checks.

(Signed)

John Wanamaker

New—for Young Men

There is a section here devoted exclusively to clothing for young men who are just beyond the high school period—young college and young business men——who want suits that are not quite so conservative as father's nor the embodiment of freakish lines and trick fashion features.

Naturally, we have made a study of this phase of the clothing question; and we have kept close to the well-known Wanamaker standard of quality.

Prices begin at $35; and there are complete groups of sizes and styles at $40, $45, $50 and $60.

Shirts

Of fabrics bought originally for custom made—

$3

Fine cheviots—madras cloths—and some plain white madras cords. These are exceptionally fine fabrics, and the shirts were made up in the best possible way.

900,000 OVERCROWD SCHOOLS AT OPENING

Estimates of the Number of Part-Time Pupils Range From 47,000 to 80,000.

HYLAN SEES NEW BUILDINGS

Mayor Asserts That Provision Has Been Made for More Than the Increased Attendance Since 1918.

The public schools of New York City opened yesterday with an attendance of more than 900,000. There were no exact figures given of the number of children on part time, but some estimates put the number at 80,000. Dr. Anning S. Prall, President of the Board of Education, however, said that 15,000 more seatings had been provided, which would reduce the number of part-time pupils to fewer than 50,000.

Although most of the schools of the city were crowded nearly to the limit, the crowding will be still greater during the next few days, when thousands of additional children come drifting in.

The number of part-time students will be radically reduced, according to announcements of school officials, by the opening of twelve new schools and the squeezing in of additional seats in schoolrooms already crowded.

A general denial of the criticisms of the management of the schools and the school building program during his term in office was made yesterday by Mayor Hylan, after he had visited a number of new schools, spending a few minutes at each.

According to Dr. Prall, who accompanied Mayor Hylan, 15,000 extra seats have been installed in the schools, including the new buildings. As two part-time pupils now use one seat, each new seat converts two part-time pupils into full-time pupils. Thus the 15,000 new seats reduce the total of part-time pupils by 30,000. Dr. Prall estimated that about 47,000 children would, even after the new seats wer ein use, still be obliged to attend part-time sessions.

Mayor Hylan and Dr. Prall pointed out that there were 49,000 part-time students on Jan. 1, 1918, when Mayor Hylan took office, so that when all the new seats are in use it will be possible to point to a net reduction of 2,000 part-time pupils during Mayor Hylan's term in office. During the three and a half years of Mayor Hylan's term, it was pointed out, the attendance in grammar schools had increased from 606,326 to 713,211.

Mayor Hylan also pointed out that the schools now nearing completion would render 10,000 additional seats available before the next term.

SAYS HYLAN FAILED TO END PART TIME

whether the laws of the city in relation to the administration of the schools of the city are such as to facilitate the planning and sufficiently rapid construction of buildings, school buildings, for the accommodation of the children? A.—Since the special session of the Legislature the year before last, amending the "pay-as-you-go" law, exempting school buildings, I should say we can.

Q.—Well, the pay-as-you-go law did not have anything to do with building them. It had to do with when you paid for them. A.—Yes, but we could not have attempted to meet the situation by building the number of schools necessary to seat the children, to find seats for the children, under the pay-as-you-go law.

Q.—Why not? A.—There wasn't enough money, I don't believe.

It was brought out by Mr. Brown that the total authorizations for school construction by this Administration have been $29,000,000, and Mr. Prall said that the schools for which this money had been appropriated would all be completed not later than the end of 1923.

Mr. Prall said that in the last three contracts the Board of Education had awarded the contract for the entire building and equipment to one contractor, instead of making separate contracts for heating, plumbing, ventilating, &c. The latter method, he said, frequently caused delays, but the board would probably have to go back to it because of a law, effective Sept. 1, making that method of letting contracts mandatory.

Mr. Brown then gave the history of Public School 130, 143 Baxter Street, Manhattan, which has taken twenty years to build and is not yet ready for occupancy. The history, as read by Mr. Brown, follows:

"In 1901 the local School Board in the semi-annual report requested the Board of Education to secure land on Baxter Street south of P. S. 130 for relief of that school, and in 1902 Superintendent Maxwell recommended erecting a building of not less than twenty-eight classrooms on completion P. S. 130, and another building, P. S. 108, being abandoned.

"In 1904, March 23, the local School Board requested the site be acquired. On July 11 the local School Board renewed its request for the replacing of buildings which were very old and very small. April 6, 1906, local School Board requested new school for the fourth time. In 1906, April 25, local School Board wrote a letter earnestly recommending for the sixth time the acquisiton of property on Hester Street, midway between Public School 108 and Public School 130, as both of these buildings werd very small and are not fitted for modern school use.

"In 1907, Chairman Barry of the Committee on Buildings and Sites, recommended sites be acquired adjoining P. S. 130, to replace Public School 130 and Public School 108, both being buildings small, very old, and unfit for school purposes, assessed valuation $122,000. The School Board recommendations had been considered. Board of Estimate approved site selection, while local School Board earnestly requested for the seventh time a property midway between P. S. 130 and P. S. 108."

Mr. Brown read at least forty more different records of official action of some kind on this proposed school, showing continued lack of co-operation and differences of opinion between the local school board, the superintendents, the Board of Education and the Board of Estimate, which resulted in the award of the contract for the building in January, 1920. He then read the record for the present administration, relating to contracts for plumbing, electrical equipment, &c., as passed upon by the Board of Education and Board of Estimate down to June 8, 1921, when the Board of Education awarded contracts for furniture. This has not been passed upon apparently by the Board of Estimate.

"This is not the only instance," said Mr. Brown. "I have looked over a number of them that are substantially in the same situation in this borough and in Brooklyn. What I am asking about is whether you as President of the Board of Education approve such a circumlocution as that."

"No, Senator, I do not," Mr. Prall replied.

Mr. Prall said he approved the present schedule of salaries for teachers, and Mr. Brown then read into the record a number of letters from Mayor Hylan to Mr. Prall, in some of which the Mayor kept insisting upon action by the Board of Education in building school buildings and in others of which he attacked Dr. Ettinger and Mr. Cook. Mr. Prall denied any differences between himself and the Mayor. Asked if the Mayor had the power to remove members of the Board of Education, Mr. Prall replied that he believed he did upon charges.

"Will you look that up overnight," said Mr. Brown, and the hearing was adjourned until 10:30 this morning, when Mr. Prall will resume the stand.

Mayor Hylan was asked to be a witness yesterday, but declined upon the ground that he had previous engagements and that the committee did not give him sufficient notice.

TIGHE IS ACQUITTED OF CHILD'S CHARGE

Court Says Evidence Fails to Sustain Complaint That Detective Choked Girl.

SHE IS PRINCIPAL WITNESS

Admits Parents Told Her What to Say About Raid in Which Several Were Beaten.

Justices Murphy, Healy and Moss in Special Sessions yesterday dismissed the assault charge lodged against Detective Sergeant Charles F. Tighe by Helen Coen, the 7-year-old daughter of Patrick Coen, proprietor of a restaurant at Ninth Avenue and Forty-third Street. The court found the evidence did not sustain the complaint.

Five charges were lodged against Tighe, three of which resulted in felonious assault indictments, in connection with a raid he and another detective made on Coen's restaurant on July 28 last. It was charged that the detective blackjacked, punched and kicked more than twenty men, women and children when he was locking twenty-four men in the rear of the restaurant preparatory to taking them to the West Forty-seventh Street Station.

All of his prisoners were discharged in Night Court by Magistrate Thomas F. Nolan, who called the arrests an outrage. Some of the prisoners said they were dragged into the restaurant from the street, after they had been attacked by Tighe.

The little girl was the principal witness against the detective yesterday. She said she was on the way to her home over the restaurant, and had started through a side door in the rear, when the detective entered, squeezed her neck with his hands and pushed her into the street.

Under cross-examination she admitted her parents had told her what to say on the witness stand, and that she was not prevented from breathing when the detective squeezed her neck. Her mother testified she heard the child's cries, and when she ran down to the street she found red marks from the detective's fingers on Helen's neck. Charles Green, a crippled negro bootblack, testified he saw the detective grab the child by the neck.

Detective Tighe testified that when he entered the restaurant he found thirty-five men standing about a ticker. He and Detective Kaufman arrested twenty-four men on disorderly conduct charges. He left the prisoners in charge of Kaufman to telephone for a patrol wagon, and on his return discovered that some of the men had escaped.

While he was searching for the fugitives, he testified, the child ran into the room and he put her out, "as it was no place for her." He denied he squeezed her neck.

The court adjourned until Oct. 10 the assault charge made against the detective by Emma Fitzgerald. The three felony charges, it was said, would be called in General Sesions in a few weeks.

Policeman Dominick P. Cassella of the West 125th Street Station was discharged by Magistrate Moses R. Ryttenberg in the Harlem Court when Eugene J. McCarthy, proprietor of a former saloon at 2,484 Second Avenue, failed to appear to press a charge of attempted felonious assault against him.

ROCKEFELLERS IN SUIT.

Supreme Court Justice Lydon yesterday heard arguments by counsel for John D. Rockefeller, John D. Rockefeller Jr. and others named as defendants in a suit brought in 1918 by Charles Bright to recover $500,000 from them on the ground of false arrest. Counsel urged that the third amended complaint on which the suit of Bright now rests be dismissed, declaring that no cause of action had been set forth. Charles P. Howland headed the array of attorneys for the defendants.

Joseph N. Folwell, appearing for Bright, opposed the motion to dismiss, saying that his client was prepared to fight the suit to a conclusion. Justice Lydon reserved decision. In his amended complaint Bright declares that he was a registered merchant in Buenos Aires and that in 1917 he became interested with others in Uruguayan concessions for the construction of railway and port terminals connecting Rio Janeiro, Montevideo, Buenos Aires and Santiago with the Pan-American Railway system. In 1914, Bright deposes, suit was brought against him in the Supreme Court by the National Railway Construction Company in connection with the South American concessions, Bright says, and in December of that year the defendants who he now names caused an order of commitment to be placed in the hands of the Sheriff and as a result he was in jail from April 30, 1915, to March 6, 1916, because he failed to deliver to the National Railway Construction Company 200 coupon debenture bonds of that concern. Bright alleges that the defendants knew he was unable to make the delivery, that the Supreme Court had no jurisdiction to order his arrest and the order of arrest was, therefore, illegal, and that he defendants sought to "hinder him in the defense and prosecution of his rights."

AUTOS KILL TWO AGED MEN.

Police Say Man Now in Hospital Threw Himself in Front of Taxi.

Lazara Lotinsky, 72 years old, of 1,307 Washington Avenue, the Bronx, died in Fordham Hospital yesterday of injuries received when he was knocked down by an automobile at Washington Avenue and 169th Street. The police say he stepped into the path of the automobile. No arrest was made.

An unidentified man, about 60 years old, who was struck by an automobile at Suffolk and Broome Streets on Sunday, died at Gouverneur Hospital yesterday. The man was about 5 feet 5 inches tall, weighed 125 pounds, had grey hair and eyes, and was bald. He wore a grey coat, striped trousers, a white shirt and black shoes.

John Augenstein of 206 West Fifty-third Street threw himself in front of a taxicab at Fifty-third Street and Seventh Avenue yesterday, the police say. He is in Bellevue Hospital suffering from minor injuries.

To Try Travis and Others Nov. 10.

The trials of Eugene M. Travis, ex-State Controller, and Controller James A. Wendell and Albert L. Judson, a bond broker, were postponed yesterday to Nov. 10 by Justice McAvoy in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court. Attorneys for the defense have a motion pending before the same court for dismissal of the joint indictment, which may be decided next week, Justice McAvoy intimated. The defendants have all pleaded not guilty to the indictment charging grand larceny and false audit in connection with the purchase of bonds for the State Sinking Fund.

The gorgeous French silks of Madame de Pompadour were brilliantly revived by Ethel Barrymore as the exquisite Queen Anne of the 18th Century.

THE ROYAL HERITAGE OF SILKS

To look at a Queen has always been the lawful right of cats, even so far back as the colorful days of Louis Quatorze, or, further still, into the Ming Dynasty. We have all been told that—and we believe it.

But silk was another matter in those far-off days when Louis' slightest whim was law in France.

For then, as in the ages before and after, silk was worn only by those fortunate enough to be born with royal blood in their veins.

But those days have been left far behind, and with them the uncomfortable restrictions on what we may and may not wear.

Today we bedeck ourselves as gaily as we please, in all the royal textures of old.

From Ancient China the Way is Long

And perilous have been the journeys of silk to the present day. The Ming blue and gold are lost for a while in the warm glowing reds and purples of Persia. And again, after wandering in Asia Minor and Italy, silk takes to itself the delicate pinks, blues and greens of Seventeenth Century France.

But always the texture itself grows lovelier, richer and more varied.

Our Silks of Exquisite Beauty

Color, texture, variety all are seen at their best and loveliest in our display of silks for the coming season. We have just been looking at these fabrics, and frankly, their beauty and variety fairly took our breath away.

Oh, the Colors!

Black may have reigned supreme in Paris for the past season, but surely colors are emerging with renewed vigor and charm this Fall, if we may judge by the shades displayed here.

The names only faintly suggest their loveliness. Mirabelle, reve d'or, eau profond, coeur de mousse-maie, ciel Indien, Atlantis, sauterelle agile, mure, and many others too numerous to list.

GROUND FLOOR

Crepe Is the Reigning Favorite

Velvet—the Royal Vesture

And here the fancy may run riot in a maze of beautiful velvets faconnes. Designs culled from the history of France, of Italy, of China and of Persia vie with the new and harmonious geometrical patterns. Plain velvets have a wondrous softness and charm, particularly if they are of the family known as Salome.

And Brocades

We see them in charmeuse, in chiffon, in velvet, and each inspires dreams of a lovely evening gown.

The Others

All those rich shimmering fabrics that are exquisite enough in themselves to need no additional attraction—the satins, the duvetynes, and others. They are here and all add their charm to the Autumn Display of Silks.

Spanish Pottery

This group of dishes is not so "arty" as the brighter Chekko-slovakian ware; but it's lively, withal!

And comes in delightful shapes in the tea sets, vases, candlesticks, bowls, pitchers, plates; down to the square little dishes used as ash-trays at 45c (they were 85c last year).

CONFESSES HELPING SLAY AUTO AGENTS

Accomplice of Church Admits He Wielded Baseball Bat After Men Were Manacled.

CROWDS MENACE PRISONER

Police Protect Him From Jeering and Threatening Men After Hearing Before Coroner.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—Leon Parks, named today by Harvey W. Church as an accomplice in the murders of Bernard J. Daugherty and Carl Ausmus, tonight confessed his implication in the crimes, according to the police. Another man whose identity was not disclosed has also been named by Church as an accomplice.

Church, according to Chief Fitzmorris, named Parks as the man who helped him load the body of Daugherty into the automobile and later helped him throw the body in the Desplaines River. Parks had stoutly denied any connection with the murders until late tonight the police brought Church and Parks face to face for questioning.

In Parks's alleged confession as given out by the police, he said that he was in the house when Church entered with Daugherty. His statement as given out by the police follows in part:

"Church held Daugherty up with a pistol. I had been hiding and when his hands were up, came out, and Church kept him covered while I put the handcuffs on his wrists.

"Then we forced him to walk downstairs into the basement, Church going ahead. As he reached the bottom of the stairs I hit him with a baseball bat and he fell down. He struggled and we both beat him. Then Church cut his throat. We did the same thing with Ausmus, who had been waiting outside in the car and who came in to find out what was detaining Daugherty."

The statement as given out did not mention the name of the third man said to have been implicated, and the police refuse to discuss his part in the tragedy.

Parks was said to have declared that the plan of those who did the slaying was to obtain possession of the car and later sell it and divide the proceeds.

A Coroner's Jury investigating the deaths of Daugherty and Ausmus returned a verdict today finding that they came to their deaths through external violence inflicted by Church and recommended that he be held to the Grand Jury on a charge of murder in both cases without bail.

Church, a 20-year-old youth, heard the verdict calmly. His face showed no nervousness or emotion as he faced a crowd of several hundred jeering men after the inquest. It was necessary for the police to clear a way through the threatening crowd for the prisoner.

Yesterday, according to the police, Church confessed that he killed the two men to obtain possession of a $5,400 automobile for which he was negotiating. The body of Daugherty was found Friday in the Desplaines River and that of Ausmus in a garage behind the Church home on Saturday. Church was arrested Friday night at Adams, Wis., where he had gone in the car for a visit to his former home.

8,000 OIL WORKERS QUIT.

California Operators Refused to Meet Union Terms.

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., Sept. 12.—Eight thousand oil workers in the fields of the San Joaquin Valley struck at midnight because operators refused to enter into agreements with the union, R. H. Frazer, Vice President of the California District Council of the Oil Workers' Union announced today.

The strike does not involve the workers of the Standard Oil Company and the Royal Dutch Shell Company. The Standard does not recognize the union and the Shell Company recently signed a memorandum of terms with the union.

FIND BRIDGE DEFECTIVE.

Inquiries Started as to Blame for Disaster at Chester, Pa.

CHESTER, Pa., Sept. 12.—City officials and citizens turned their attention today from the death scene at Third Street and the Chester River, where twenty-four persons lost their lives Saturday night in the collapse of a bridge, to the investigations which are expected to fix responsibility for the accident.

At least two inquiries are under way. The Board of County Commissioners began an investigation of its own, while the police are gathering all information available for the City Administration.

While Thomas J. Feeley, a member of the Board of Commissioners, admitted that the collapse was due to unusual weight being thrown upon a badly rusted and broken supporting arm, he declared the bridge had been inspected and pronounced safe by the County Engineer ten months ago. The break in the arm, he said, was completely concealed from view.

Earthquake Is Recorded Here.

Distinct tremors indicating a severe earthquake 1,940 miles from New York were recorded on the seismograph of the American Museum of Natural History late Saturday night and early Sunday morning. The duration of the tremors, 11:22 P. M., Sept. 10, to 1:46 A. M., Sept. 11, was, says Edmund Otis Hovey, curator of the geology department at the museum, within a minute and a half of those recorded at Georgetown University. Mr. Hovey's assistant, Edward J. Foyles, was in charge of the local instruments when the record was made.

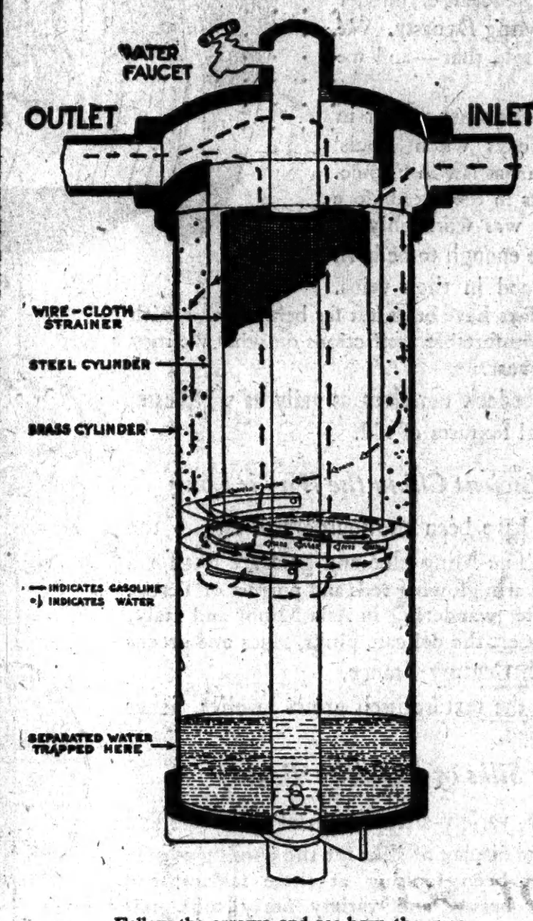
More Power—More Miles from each Gallon of Gasoline



Follow the arrows and see how the gasoline follows the vanes, whirling several times before passing up through the strainer to the discharge. The water, being heavier, is whirled away from the center and trapped below. It is then forced out through the central pipe to the water outlet.

BEFORE Bowser Piston-Type Measuring Pumps created a new standard for gasoline service, automobiles were supplied with fuel from tin cans.

✧ ✧ ✧

The gasoline was drawn into measures and poured through a chamois lined funnel into the automobile reservoir. The chamois was supposed to extract water from the gasoline. It usually failed.

There is a real necessity for extracting water from gasoline just before discharging it into the automobile reservoir, because gasoline accumulates water in any kind of a tank.

All air contains moisture. Air entering a gasoline tank is chilled. Its moisture content is condensed, forms water and mixes with the gasoline.

Modern automobile service demands the extraction of this water before the gasoline is discharged into the automobile reservoir.

The Bowser Centrifugal Water Separator, located on the discharge pipe of the pump, whirls the gasoline in a solid body at the rate of over 1000 revolutions a minute.

Water, being heavier than gasoline, is separated by this whirling motion. The water is trapped in the separator. After passing through a wire cloth strainer, the gasoline, pure, dry and full of power, is discharged without exposure to the air directly into the car reservoir.

Perfects Pen that Lasts Lifetime

W. A. Sheaffer, Fountain Pen Wizard, Astonishes Writing World with His New Wonder—"Lifetime" Pen

Mr. W. A. Sheaffer, the "Edison of the fountain pen industry," has gone another step farther. This time he has brought out a pen with a gold point that is guaranteed for a lifetime. No matter to what class of service the point is put, it will serve forever—and Mr. Sheaffer guarantees it for that distance.

Other conspicuous improvements in this great pen are its greater ink capacity, which reduces the interval for refilling; the self-filling mechanism (a lever on the side) which enables one to replenish the pen in the amazing short time of one second, and a patented vacuum cap which makes the pen positively leakproof. It writes with silky smoothness. All these features are permanent—hence the name "Lifetime" Pen.

Mr. Sheaffer, whose workshop is in Ft. Madison, Ia., first astonished pendom when he brought out a pen with the self-filling lever. That was nearly eight years ago. Since then pens bearing his name have had a dramatic advance, being among the largest sellers in the world. The new pen—"Lifetime"—is regarded as the finest pen ever produced. It is particularly suitable for business men, novelists and men who write a great deal.

New York stationers, jewelers, opticians, druggists and department stores are now featuring it. Drop in and see it today.

SAYS FITZPATRICK WAS NOT A SUICIDE

SUPERVISOR INVESTIGATING

Oyler Says His Friend Was in Good Spirits Just Before He Was Shot.

Special to The New York Times.

WATERBURY, Conn., Sept. 12.—That Narcotic Agent Frank Fitzpatrick did not commit suicide but was murdered was the statement made at Fitzpatrick's funeral by Ralph Oyler, Chief Field Narcotic Officer for New York State. "I received a telephone call from one of my agents this morning telling me he had startling information for me about Fitzpatrick's death. When I return to New York tonight I will do everything to have the Coroner's verdict of suicide reversed.

"Fitzpatrick was not subject to melancholia and he was not in poor health," Oyler told newspapermen here tonight. "I knew him perhaps closer than any one else, because I lived and worked with him. He was in the highest spirits when he left me a few minutes before he was shot. He was elated to think the raid had been so successful.

"We went to a restaurant to eat near the ferry house. Young Daley and he started for the washroom in the ferry house to wash up. Daley rushed up to us in the restaurant and, out of breath, told us there was some shooting in the ferry house. We ran down and found Fitzpatrick breathing his last. A gun lay beside him. As far as I know the ownership of the gun has never been cleared up."

United States Attorney Wallace E. J. Collins of Brooklyn said yesterday that the theory that Frank J. Fitzpatrick, head of the New York Narcotic Squad, had been murdered, had not been eliminated from the investigation of his death.

According to persons at the ferryhouse, Fitzpatrick was alone in the washroom when he was killed. United States Attorney Collins said that there was an open window in the washroom through which he might have been shot. Colonel O. G. Forrer, Supervisor of the Narcotic Division of the Department of Internal Revenue, who was sent from Washington to investigate, was of the opinion that death was self-inflicted.

Fitzpatrick was found dead in the ferryhouse on Friday morning immediately after the raid on the steamer King Alexander, which resulted in the shooting of six Greeks and the confiscation of a large amount of drugs and liquor. His colleagues said he had been despondent and had threatened suicide.

What becomes of all the old Grandfather's Clocks?

They are handed down as heirlooms from generation to generation. Their tick-tock is a friendly word every second in the home, as they run along counting the minutes and the hours. They run down, but they are easily wound up. They rarely seem to wear out, although they keep on working all the time. A fine example of industry and accuracy and harmony is the never-sleeping Grandfather's Clock.

But somebody has to start the new generation. Somebody has to first place a Grandfather's Clock in the home before it can be handed down as an heirloom.

This is an opportune time for doing just that.

In combining two sections of our business we find ourselves with a few more of these fine clocks than we can properly accommodate and we are offering them

At $33 to $638 less than they were last Saturday.

The new prices are now $45 to $1050, and the collection includes many kinds and sizes, both chiming hall clocks and hour and half-hour striking hall clocks.

The cases are mainly mahogany, although a few are in oak and a few in red and black laquer.

BANDHOLTZ LEAVES MINGO, TROOPS STAY

DISTRICT REMAINS QUIET

Reorganization of State's National Guard Is Speedily Proceeding, Adjutant General Announces.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 12.—Colonel C. A. Martin of the Nineteenth Infantry today took command of the Federal troops on duty in the West Virginia coal fields upon the departure of Brig. Gen. H. H. Bandholtz for Washington. Colonel Martin brought the Nineteenth into the coal fields and for a time was stationed at Madison. His headquarters will be at Kanawha City, near here.

The Tenth, Nineteenth and Fortieth Regiments remain in the fields. The Nineteenth, however, has been designated as a headquarters outfit with regimental headquarters at Kanawha City, near Charleston.

Before his departure General Bandholtz addressed a letter to Governor Morgan thanking him and the residents of West Virginia for the manner in which they received the Federal soldiers during military occupation.

"The Federal troops have been shown only the utmost courtesy," General Bandholtz remarked in his letter to the Governor.

Reports to Colonel Martin today said that all was quiet in the lately disturbed region.

Governor Morgan, who spent the week-end at Elkton, Md., returned to his office this afternoon.

Reorganization of the West Virginia National Guard is proceeding with all possible speed, according to an announcement by Adjt. Gen. John H. Charnock today.

A machine-gun company and a rifle company are being organized in Charleston as the nucleus of an infantry regiment, while plans are being laid for the formation of a field artillery unit. It also was stated that seven other units for the Guard are being formed in other parts of the State, but no details were given as to their location or the branch of the service to which they would be attached. The law, enacted last Spring, provides for a Guard not to exceed 6,400 officers and men.

A. F. OF L. TO LAUNCH DRIVE IN THE SOUTH

Gompers Announces Fight in Five States to Stop Pay Cuts by Textile Mills.

SEES WORKERS DESPERATE

Decreases Have Been Enforced Again and Again, He Says at Twenty-First Convention Here.

Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, addressed the twenty-first annual convention of the United Textile Workers of America at the opening session yesterday at the Broadway Central Hotel. Mr. Gompers spoke principally on matters relating to the textile industry, but he also made known that the American Federation of Labor would launch a far-reaching campaign next Thursday upon the five large industrial States of the South.

The Southern States to be covered by the drive are Georgia, Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina and Alabama. Mr. Gompers leaves this morning for Atlanta, Ga., to discuss plans with officials of the five State Federations of Labor.

"We wish to go in peace," said Mr. Gompers. "But, if there is to be talk of battle, we will not turn away from the battle imposed on us." There is going to be something doing so that our men and women may not be tepid in driving back the wage cuts and driving forward the advance guard of the labor movement.

"We aim to accomplish our results day by day, not by a cataclysm of revolution, but by orderly rational progress. But we do not propose to go down again into the abyss of misery where labor first dredged for a pittance in the form of food, and then later for something for which he could buy food and shelter hardly sufficient to keep up his physical powers of work.

"About a year ago a reduction of wages of 22½ per cent. was offered to the textile workers, and because of the condition of your industry you accepted. Then the employers saw that it was quite easy to reduce the wages and they tried it again. And they tried it again and again and again until they have driven the manhood and womanhood of the textile industry to desperation and fight.

"The management of the textile industry will have a fight on their hands unless they treat with the representatives of this organization, recognizing the right of the men and women who labor to speak through representatives of their own choosing—collective bargaining."

"Yes, I've heard of him"

A MAN'S name is mentioned and you say, "Yes, I've heard of him."

Later on you are introduced, and the next time he is mentioned you remark, "I've met him."

After a bit, you are able to say, "I know him."

You'll find he wears well and before long you say, "He's a friend of mine."

Many times you have gone through those stages that lead into friendship with people. And many times you have unconsciously gone through the same stages with inanimate objects.

The name of some article is mentioned and because you have seen it advertised you realize that you have "heard of it" somewhere. Then you try it, grow familiar with it, and soon its use becomes a fixed habit.

It is human nature to prefer the known to the unknown. To damn a thing, all you have to say is "I never heard of it!"

Reaches 7 Out of 9 of the Entire English Reading Population.

Now, therefore, can any National Advertiser ever hope to cover the Chicago Market without full use of The Chicago Daily News?

Practically every local advertiser and merchant in Chicago knows that Chicago can not be covered and sold so completely and at so low a cost in any other way.

[illegible] with any campaign of yours unless that it is The Chicago Market paper, which is the three million population of Chicago itself, that must be put over first. Do that job thoroughly and you will find that the so-called greater Chicago Territory, which includes the thirteen million more people in the five surrounding states, will be waiting for you when you come. Keep that firmly in your mind along with the fact that in Chicago the one paper that reaches seven out of nine of the entire English reading population is THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS.

FOUR U.S. DELEGATES HOME FROM SWEDEN

BELGIAN STUDENTS HERE

Four of the seven American delegates who went to Stockholm for the nineteenth Inter-Parliamentary Union convention returned yesterday on the Red Star liner Kroonland, much impressed with the commanding position this country had assumed in morals and economics the world over.

Twelve nations were represented at the convention in July by 150 delegates, all of whom were reported as keenly interested in the approaching disarmament conference and eager to know just where the weight of President Harding's influence would fall. Representative Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, Senator W. B. McKinley of Illinois and Representative E. B. Brooks of Illinois were the delegates who returned.

Among the ship's company of 576 passengers were nineteen Belgian students who will attend American universities with the aid of the Committee for the Relief of Belgium, Educational Foundation. Twenty-four students enjoy that advantage yearly and five of this year's quota already are here. The Belgian students will spend three days sightseeing in New York. Many wore ribbons indicative of gallant war service. The party includes one woman, Miss Irma De Jans, Ph. D., University of Brussels, who will study American literature at the University of Wisconsin.

La Touraine of the French Line also swelled the quota of foreign students in America, bringing six Spanish girls, three doctors and three nurses, to pursue post graduate work in our colleges under the auspices of the Spanish Government.

The last of the Harvard Glee Club members who toured Europe came back on La Touraine.

Lieutenant Dallas Dupre, who served with the torpedo squadron in French waters during the war, returned to announce that Miss Germaine Grout, daughter of Admiral Grout of the French Navy, who came with him had become his bride at Brest on Aug. 27 last.

Pierre Mathieu, violinist, arrived to join the New York Symphony Orchestra, and Pierre Augiers, pianist, came to accompany Kubelick during this Fall season.

ITCHING POWDER JAILS HIM.

Men Put Stuff Down Boy's Back to See Victim Squirm.

After he had pleaded guilty to shaking itching powder down the back of a schoolboy, a man who said he was Edward Pierson, 39 years old, a merchant of 730 Brook Avenue, the Bronx, was sentenced last night to fifteen days in jail by Magistrate McQuade in the Night Court.

Frank Holbauer, 14 years old, of 645 St. Ann's Avenue told the Magistrate he was playing with other boys at St. Ann's Avenue and Clark Street, the Bronx, yesterday afternoon, when Pierson seized him and shook the powder down his back. The boy said the powder immediately made him squirm in trying to obtain relief.

Policeman McGrath told the Magistrate that for three weeks complaints had been made to the police that a short, stockily built man of Pierson's description had thrown an itching powder on the backs of their daughters in the streets. The policeman said that after Pierson had been put into a cell in the Morrisania Station he attempted to hang himself with his shoestrings.

"What have you got to say about this boy's charge?" asked the Magistrate of the prisoner.

"I am guilty, your Honor," replied Pierson. "But I was only fooling."

"You have a queer sense of humor," commented the Magistrate. "This is a serious charge, and the best way to impress that fact on you is to sentence you to fifteen days in jail or to pay a fine of $50."

Pierson refused to pay the fine, so he was locked up.

A Mine of Knowledge at a Trifling Cost

No matter what you want to know about words, the answer is in the Century Dictionary. It does more than define words for you and spell them correctly. It does more than inform you as to punctuation, the division of words and their derivation. It does more than give you correct pronunciation. It gives you their history, and valuable facts about all subjects, in all divisions of human activity. Nothing is omitted. It treats of both the obscure and the commonplace.

If you are puzzled about any term, you can inform yourself in a single minute. Go to the Century Dictionary with any question and have it met—with authority. From an unfamiliar insect to facts about engineering; from legal terms to a discussion of the pyramids, the facts are all there, at your command.

It contains a complete nature library, with the great outdoors brought under your eyes. There is an exhaustive dictionary of architectural terms, astronomy, medicine, surgery, political economy, botany, zoology, commerce, finance, banking, arts, trades, music. The wonders of chemistry are unfolded, the sciences are all included and many mysteries made clear.

The treasury of quotations embraces 300,000 sayings of noted men and women. There is a complete list of abbreviations in alphabetical order, not in lists at the end of the book. There is an exhaustive dictionary of synonyms, comparing and distinguishing all words which have similar meanings. If we mentioned all that this superb volume contains in the way of information it would require the space of this issue of The Times.

A Single Volume and Complete Authority

The Century Dictionary is beyond challenge. It is pronounced by foremost English and American Scholars as the best and most complete work of its kind. As an authority, it is undisputed. It took many years in the making and every known source of information was tapped. So its contents are final. It stands without question. And you can get such a book as this for $13.50! Never did so little buy so much in genuine value. It won't again.

Physically, the Century Dictionary is remarkably beautiful. With its fine binding of golden-brown corduroy, it is as ornamental as it is useful. It contains 8,250 pages; 600,000 definitions, 300,000 quotations; 5,000 phrases, 10,000 illustrations, 17,000,000 words. Renowned artists have contributed their best with brush and pen.

Every illustration is accurate and completely understandable. The type is remarkably legible, the printing is the best. The Century Dictionary is the largest in the world—and the most convenient to handle. No matter at what page you open it, its leaves lie flat. It will outwear any leather binding, and stay fresh and bright. The paper is India—strong, tough, opaque and not easy to tear. If you know anything at all about paper, you know that the finest Bibles are printed on India, the best editions of great books. The plates were engraved with rare skill, to meet the quality of the paper, and every impression on the press was made with sincere attention.

Originally, the Century Dictionary was made in eight volumes, bound in cloth. Each volume contained about a thousand pages of thick paper. Now, instead of eight thinner volumes of thick leaves, you get one volume of thin leaves. And instead of paying more than $60.00, you pay only $13.50 for this remarkable work.

We Guarantee

that if upon receipt of The Century you are dissatisfied with your bargain, you need only put the book back into the box and hand it to the express company to deliver to us; and that if you do so we will at once refund the amount you paid us.

The Encyclopaedia Britannica, Inc.

This is the Reason Why We Are Selling Only 3415 Copies of this $60 Dictionary at $13.50 Each

Formerly, we sold it in conjunction with the Encyclopaedia Britannica. Then the price of the Century Dictionary was $33. This was a low price, made more than reasonable because so many Britannica buyers were Century Dictionary customers. This made a large distribution and we depended upon volume of sales rather than smaller sales at a regular profit.

Both works were printed on India paper [illegible] This contract has expired and we cannot get the paper at a cost that will permit us to manufacture Britannica sets and the Century Dictionary in conjunction.

There are only 3415 dictionaries left—not enough to use in a combination offer, for Britannica sales are large. So we have decided to offer all we have to the forehanded, and the 3415 volumes won't last long. No other dictionary can compare with the Century in size or price. And never again will you have the opportunity of buying the Century for this very small outlay.

When we say this price represents bare cost, it means labor alone. It doesn't include the cost of the tremendous research effort, the making of photographs, drawings, printing plates, and editing. So you can determine for yourself the value of the Century Dictionary, we have placed it on view at

If, when the expressman delivers the Century Dictionary to you, you are not completely satisfied with your bargain, slip it back in the box and cancel the obligation. Your money will be promptly refunded if the book isn't what we say it is—and a great deal more. These 3415 copies will not last long. Get your order in.

Let us repeat. The Century Dictionary is complete, exhaustive, and authoritative. It is as modern as this newspaper. It includes new words and old, definitions of slang and terms that came out of the war. From cover to cover it is the handbook of the scholar and the person who wants to be. Mail the coupon. It means a bargain in knowledge that cannot be repeated.

THE PLAY

By ALEXANDER WOOLLCOTT

Mr. Maugham Much Magnified.

Arnold Champion-Cheney, M. P. ..... Robert Rendel
Footman ..... Charles L. Sealy
Mrs. Shenstone ..... Maxine MacDonald
Elisabeth ..... Estelle Winwood
Edward Luton ..... John Halliday
Clive Champion-Cheney ..... Ernest Lawford
Butler ..... Walter Soderling
Lord Porteous ..... John Drew
Lady Catherine Champion-Cheney ..... Mrs. Leslie Carter

The Selwyn Theatre proudly played host last evening to a searching, malicious and richly entertaining comedy called "The Circle." It is the work of that facile Englishman, W. Somerset Maugham, and the only reason for not announcing it forthwith as the best thing he ever wrote is the fact that once upon a time he wrote a book called "Of Human Bondage." At any rate, it is his best play, more satisfying even than "Our Betters." It says much more and says it just as well.

The Selwyns have cast it in the grand manner, assembling quite a jubilee company for this, their first venture in staging a high comedy from overseas. In casting "The Circle," they seem to have proceeded on the principle that a producer should either get just the right player for each part, or, failing that, then at any rate some one ever so celebrated. In summoning Mr. Drew to the rôle of Lord Porteous, they have had the good fortune to find an actor who was both—got only famous but fit.

The circle of the play's title is that described by the whirligig of time—the circle made by history in its pernicious habit of repeating itself. Here Maugham tells once more the favorite Victorian story of the wife who wrote a distracted note of farewell, fastened it to her pincushion and decamped with her lover to the Riviera or some such charitable spot on a kindly continent. But, in his malicious, modern way, he tells it in the cruel perspective of thirty years. He reintroduces the recreant pair after they have grown chill and gray and wrinkled in each other's company. He brings them back to serve as a horrible example for a younger woman who is minded to write just such another note for her own pincushion.

Then, with an ironic gleam of satisfaction in his eye, he has wrought a final scene just to show that the horrible example is wasted on the younger generation as is so often the way with horrible examples — and with younger generations. As the last curtain falls the young sinners are on their way and the old sinner, incorrigible sentimentalists, both, are trying hard not to show their inner sympathy and satisfaction.

The scenes are unanswerable played by Mr. Drew and Mrs. Leslie Carter—the latter returning to us after a long absence—for a good many seasons have slipped away since her last appearance here on one of her excursions into vaudeville. It was a thunderous welcome, a royal greeting which was her portion when she swept onto the stage last evening as the painted, dissolute Lady Kitty, come simpering and smirking back to England after an indecorous exile of thirty years.

It is a rôle rich enough in acrid comedy to tempt a Marie Tempest into confessing her years, but Mrs. Carter was never greatly admired in comedy, even by those who would hear no criticism of her in the bosom beating rôles Mr. Belasco used to assign her in the old days. She enters into the Maugham play with considerable gusto, but now and again she takes a scene that calls for a delicate rapier and belabors it with a sledgehammer. She ranges from pretty good to pretty bad.

Mr. Drew, as has been said, is capital as Lord Porteous and Ernest Lawford has a rôle after his own heart in the abandoned husband, who so greatly enjoys the absurd spectacle which the years have wrought out of the friend and the wife who betrayed him. The part is tinged with a fine malice and some of this the dear old farewell-Mr. Lawford forfeits by a too contiguous gentleness, but, with this one half-smothered kiss, only a hearty round of applause should be his portion.

However, "The Circle" as written and as played at the Selwyn, reaches its highest and most perfected moments in the scenes which are left to Estelle Winwood as the young wife and to John Halliday as the breezy fellow from the Malay States who wants to run away with her—and, incidentally, who does. These two could hardly be better and theirs is the power if not the glory.

Which about sums it up, except to say that Mr. Rendel is rather a handicap as the young husband, that Mr. Drew made a happy speech, that Lionel and Ethel Barrymore occupied one stage box and Irvin Cobb the other, and that the members of the audience were so intent on looking at one another that a lot of time was lost in persuading them to sit down and look at the play. When, finally, they were beguiled into doing this for a time, they seemed to like it. Indeed, "The Circle" will prove a genuine test of the burning question as to whether or not folks intend to go to the theatre this season. If they wont go to "The Circle" they wont go to anything.

A Family Affair.

LAUNCELOT AND ELAINE, a play in a prologue and four acts, by Edwin Milton Royle. At the Greenwich Village Theatre.

King Arthur ..... Gerald Rogers
Queen Guinevere ..... Selena Royle
Sir Launcelot ..... Pedro de Cordoba
Sir Modred ..... J. Arthur Young
Sir Gawain ..... Walter Lawrence
The Voice of Lyonesse ..... Margaret Fareleigh
Lord of Astolot ..... Charles Harbury
Sir Torre ..... John Hendricks
Sir Gavaine ..... Leo Leonard
Elaine ..... Josephine Royle
The Servitor ..... Bertram Marburgh
The Hermit ..... Karl Stall
Lady Vivian ..... Elsie Esmond
Lady Margaret ..... Martha Messinger
Lady Ysolde ..... Margaret Fareleigh
Lady Melissa ..... Francesca Di Stinti
Lady Beatrice ..... Louise Carlton
Lady Rosamund ..... LuGarda Harting
Knights ..... Morley Hiles and H. B. Dee

Edwin Milton Royle, author of "The Squaw Man" and many another play, emerged last evening from a long silence. The place was the Greenwich Village Theatre and his rôle a somewhat complicated one. He was at once playwright, producer and proud parent. He had taken Tennyson's version of the Launcelot and Elaine legend and respectfully turned it into a play. This play he had himself produced to the end that his two daughters should make their stage débuts under circumstances at once advantageous and genteel.

So here is a play of the lily maid of Astolot, and how she laid her pure heart at the feet of a peerless knight—the sad knight haunted by the great and guilty love he bore his Queen. The Royle dramatization is a workmanlike job that seldom adulterates the Tennyson poem, of which it uses, wherever possible, the lovely and gracious speech. It achieves one moment of stereotyped but authentic beauty—the arrival at Arthur's court of the black barge bearing the white body of Elaine. For the most part, however, its brave and spacious language is at fretful odds with clinky and sometimes garish surroundings huddled on a cramping stage.

Josephine Royle as Elaine and Selena Royle as Guinevere (pronounced Gwenevere by all hands) are both players of promise, particularly the latter. The accent and quality of the newcomer is in them both and sometimes it is distinctly welcome. Certainly their fresh inexperience is grateful contrast to the tricks and manners of their elders players, several of whom play throughout with the firm, confident, practiced assertion on the wrong note. This, to be sure, is not true of Pedro de Cordoba. He is simple and knightly as Launcelot, except for a besetting inclination to indicate inner distress by rolling his eyes to the heavens, just as though he were a bad actor, which he is not.

"TRUE TO FORM" SHOWN.

Augustin MacHugh's Comedy is Highly Interesting at Times.

Ralph Merrill ..... John Warner
Newton ..... Desmond Gallagher
Andrew Kirkland ..... George Graham
Constance ..... Verna Wilkens
Miss Kirkland ..... Eugenie Blair
Margaret ..... Sue MacManamy
Frank Melton ..... Edwin Nicander

It is not so much a shortage of theatres as their frequently prohibitive terms that brought about the production of a comedy called "True to Form" last night at the remote and minute Bramhall Playhouse in Twenty-seventh Street. This newest play is the work Augustin MacHugh, who was responsible in large part for "Officer 666" and "The Meanest Man in the World." In the main it is a disappointing work, but not a little of it is highly interesting, and a bit of it is excellent.

Mr. MacHugh has begun with a good idea, and then frittered it away by conventional treatment. His play suggests that he has been observing "The First Year," but not to sufficient purpose. Thus his first-act picture of two selfish, crotchety, and settled old people, who are trying to bend their daughter and her husband into their own narrow way of living—all of this is quite as true as anything in Mr. Craven's play. The daughter is unimaginative and willing enough to be bent, but the son-in-law is an artist and demands expression. The very positions of the furniture, unvarying these many years, annoy him.

Here, surely, is the start of a true and searching play, but Mr. MacHugh has not written it. He has chosen to bring in, practically as his leading figure, a character who sets out to analyze the situation at great length, with endless platitude. In other words, Mr. MacHugh is not content to let his situation speak for itself: he must introduce a professional spokesman. Thereafter the play becomes merely a conventional quadrangle, and never touches again the heights of its first act.

The cast is varying, with George Graham and the veteran Eugenie Blair giving the best performances as the elderly couple. There is good work, too, by sue MacManamy, and a highly interesting performance by John Warner. Edwin Nicander fails to make the terrible talker either likable or convincing, but this is not entirely his fault. Truth to tell, he is a maddening person. Mention of "love" or "gentleman" or "dignity," in his presence, and he is off upon a lengthy discussion of these subjects in the abstract.

"Dignity is but the camouflage of stupidity," and so on.

One leading rôle is in the extremely inadequate hands of an ingenue who looks like Lola Fisher, but does not act like her, and the cast as a whole shows a tendency to overemphasize. The piece is attractively set and the small stage of the Bramhall has at least the virtue that it makes a room look like a room and not like Grand Central Terminal.

A film play for the eyes of the world to behold and admire, a photodrama that is remarkable, unusual and in every sense of the word a notable production. Notable because of the fame, tenderness and emotional strength of its heart-reaching story; because of the sincerity and appeal of each of its lovable characters; because of the amazing and incredible photographic effects achieved through tedious double exposure work; because of the beauty of scene and careful attention to detail with which it has been staged; and because of the presence in a striking dual role of Mary Pickford, more bewitching and enchanting than ever.

A BETTER "LILIOM"

(IN YIDDISH)

THE EVE. SUN SAID: "Altogether, the Yiddish 'Liliom' is a very praiseworthy production and is well deserving of the patronage of the regular supporters of the Irving Place Theatre and of those theatregoers who have seen 'Liliom' in English at the Fulton Theatre."

THE GLOBE SAID: "Mr. Ratkay's 'Liliom' is a more consistent character than the one presented by Mr. Schildkraut, and five, happily, from the excess of tricks that have been marring that actor's performance at the Fulton. Miss Adler's Julia is pitched in a more tragic key than Miss Le Gallienne's and in the death scene reaches heights that the American actress has not scaled."

THE TIMES SAID: "Willy Pogany has designed two sets which distinctly challenge Mr. Simonson's efforts at the Fulton. His railroad embankment scene is effective in the extreme. Martin Ratkay in the role of Liliom is thoroughly satisfactory."

THE SCREEN

A group of musicians announcing themselves as former members of the orchestra of the Rialto Theatre, who are not now connected with the theatre because of difficulties with the management, have taken the Manhattan Opera House for a time and will give there a program of music and motion pictures after the manner of the Broadway houses. Their first program was offered yesterday afternoon at a press showing and last night to another group of spectators assembled by invitation. It will be offered to the public, beginning this afternoon.

The program includes two orchestral numbers, a concert solo, some colored views of the Riviera Coast, Fountainebleau and the Seine country, "A Game Old Knight," a revived Mack Sennett-Keystone comedy, and a screen version of "The Three Musketeers" made some years ago under the direction of Thomas H. Ince.

It is the last named picture, of course, that is the feature of the bill, and at the outset one is provoked to ask why the musicians selected it to top their program. Surely they could have chosen more happily. In the first place, the film is an old one and shows it. Compared to the first-class production of today, it is faulty in direction—the players do little more than dash about like high-powered mechanical toys—and, either because of inadequate lighting, the fading of the film or poor projection, many of the scenes appear thin and indistinct. The character of D'Artagnan, played by Orrin Johnson, does not give the impression of youth and fire one expects from the turbulent young Gascon. Perhaps because of a lack of opportunity, the direction of a former day requiring the characters in a film to be always racing this way and that, Mr. Johnson does not give D'Artagnan a definite personality. Nor do any of the others players stamp themselves upon the imagination as individuals. Among them is Dorothy Dalton in the rôle of the Queen.

It is hardly possible, of course, to make any version of "The Three Musketeers," which has not some vitality, for the Dumas story is so full of action and romance that even an inadequate translation of it must be touched by the quality of the original. So this old Ince adaptation is not without interest. Although it begins heavily and continues stiffly for a while, it does gain a certain tempo and intensity as it nears the climax of the incident of the Queen's jewels, though it never becomes the exciting romance inevitably expected by those who know the original story. Except in a few scenes, it is tame.

It may be added for the benefit of those in whose minds there may be some confusion that the picture at the Manhattan Opera House is not the new version of "The Three Musketeers" made by Douglas Fairbanks and now running at the Lyric Theatre.

Teeth You Love to Show

Find out how millions get them

This offer is to women who desire to look their best. To men who find that tobacco stains, etc., make their teeth look dingy. To young folks who know what beauty lies in glistening teeth.

It is to all who have learned that old methods are wrong. And that, despite the tooth brush, teeth discolor and decay.

Clouded by a film

Teeth are clouded by a dingy film. At first it is viscous—you can feel it. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays.

Old ways of brushing do not effectively combat it. Much of the film remains. Then night and day it may do ceaseless damage. Most tooth troubles are now traced to film, and those troubles have been constantly increasing.

It is the film-coats that discolor, not the teeth. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Also of other serious troubles, local and internal.

Science combats it

Dental science, after long research, has found ways to combat film. Able authorities have amply proved them. Now leading dentists here and abroad, advise their daily use.

These effective methods are embodied in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. Thus one may twice a day apply them in a most delightful way. Millions already do this, and to them it has brought a new era in teeth cleaning.

Three other effects

Modern authorities find that a tooth paste should also bring other effects. This to cope with the average diet, rich in starch and low in fruit acids.

So Pepsodent stimulates the salivary flow—Nature's great tooth-protecting agent. It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva—put there by Nature to digest starch deposits that cling. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva—Nature's neutralizer of the acids which cause decay.

These are natural results, but modern diet often fails to bring them. This tooth paste brings them, at least twice a day.

Note the white teeth

Note the glistening teeth you see. Ask how people get them. You will find, we think, that most of them are due to Pepsodent.

But this is more than a question of beauty. Those whiter teeth mean cleaner, safer teeth. To young and old they mean better tooth protection.

It means more to children than adults. Young teeth are most easily attacked. Very few children escape. So dentists advise that Pepsodent be used from the time the first tooth appears.

Let one person try it in your home. Then show the results to all.

You'll quickly see

The Pepsodent results are very quickly apparent. Some are almost instant. A ten-day test is usually convincing.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear. Watch the other good effects.

The test will be a revelation. The book we send will explain each new effect. Then judge by results, and their scientific basis, what is best for you and yours. Cut out the coupon so you won't forget.

23 QUESTIONS ABOUT

PISTON RINGS and OILDAG

The World's Best Lubricant

By Dr. Edward G. Acheson

1. "I have been told that Oildag would have an important effect on the piston rings of my automobile engine. Is it so?"
"Yes."

2. "I am more or less ignorant regarding piston rings and their purpose. Where are they placed in the engine?"
"In grooves, encircling the pistons."

3. "What part do they play in the operation of the engine?"
"They close the spaces between the pistons and the cylinder walls, thereby preventing the gases from the explosions in the cylinders leaking past the pistons into the crank case, which would result in a loss of power. They also prevent an excess of lubricating oil getting past the piston rings into the combustion chamber, where it would be burned and carbon set free, producing carbon deposits and smutting the spark plugs."

4. "If they produce these results, they are evidently very necessary to the proper working of the engine, are they not?"
"Yes, they certainly are."

5. "I am having a lot of trouble with my engine. The old joy of riding is pretty nearly a thing of the past. Do you think these piston rings are the cause?"
"Yes, it is possible. What troubles are you experiencing?"

6. "Smutting of the spark plugs, smoke from the exhaust and the engine doesn't develop anything like the power it used to."
"These conditions indicate very clearly that your piston rings are not free to act as they should."

7. "What prevents them from acting as the manufacturer intended they should?"
"The trouble is probably almost wholly due to burning up lubricating oil in the combustion chamber, or at least partially burning it, thus setting free a lot of carbon that has got into the piston ring grooves, which prevents the rings from acting freely. Other portions of the freed carbon would blacken your spark plugs, produce carbon deposits and smoke in the exhaust."

8. "Then the piston rings ought to have prevented all these difficulties?"
"Yes, the rings were put there for the special purpose of closing the spaces between the pistons and the cylinder walls. They have a slightly springy action, and it is intended that they should expand to the cylinder walls and thus close up the spaces, but, of course, as you understand, this expansion will not occur unless the rings are free to act."

9. "Is the trouble that I am experiencing met with by many automobile owners?"
"Yes, it is very common. It is frequently found that the rings are so thoroughly cemented in the grooves that, on attempting to remove them, they break. The failure of their proper action is probably the most frequent cause of the decrease in the power of the engine, which is so commonly experienced by autoists."

10. "How can Oildag cure this annoying condition?"
"By forming anti-friction surfaces on the metals."

11. "What is the use of forming anti-friction surfaces on the metals when I am using a lubricating oil to prevent friction?"
"Unfortunately, lubricating oil does not always lubricate. I do not mean to say that it would not lubricate if it were present, but the very fact that your piston rings, cylinder walls and bearings become worn is evidence that at least for a portion of the time the metals are not kept separated by lubricating oil, but are coming in actual contact, causing them to wear away. If you had anti-friction surfaces on the metals, an occasional breaking of the oil film, permitting the metals to come into contact, would not be a serious matter, as they would not wear owing to their anti-friction condition."

12. "I formerly used rather a thin oil to lubricate my engine, but owing to the fact that the engine commenced to lose power I was advised to use a very heavy oil, and when this change was made the engine certainly improved in its power development. Can you explain the reason for this improvement in the engine?"
"The fact that you were losing power is evidence that the piston rings had become cemented in the grooves to such an extent as to prevent them from expanding and closing the spaces between the pistons and the walls. The introduction of the heavy oil resulted in the closing of these openings by the oil itself, but it is not reasonable to expect a fluid to close and hold these open spaces against the pressure of the expanded gases in the manner that could and should be done by the piston rings."

13. "What do these anti-friction surfaces that you have mentioned consist of?"
"They are surfaces produced by covering the metals with graphite that has been reduced to the molecular condition. The individual particles of the graphite are held in contact with the metal by molecular forces. Such a surface is called a 'graphoid' surface, and with it you have the strength of the metal plus the lubricating value of a pure graphite."

14. "Will not the graphite be quickly removed when the metals rub each other?"
"No; it is held in a most remarkable manner. In a test made under the supervision of expert engineers it was found it required two and one-half hours to remove graphoid surfaces when two of them were pressed together with a pressure of 900 pounds per square inch, while being violently rubbed. This test was made with the surfaces in a dry condition, no oil or other liquid being present."

15. "This is a wonderful demonstration, but it was probably made under laboratory conditions, was it not?"
"Yes, it was, but it has become a common occurrence to hear of an automobile running on ordinary roads for distances of from 15 to 60 miles without any oil being used for lubricating, the rubbing surfaces being perfectly dry. Previous to these runs, however, Oildag had been used in the cars."

16. "Are these graphoid surfaces formed quickly when using Oildag?"
"For the formation of the graphoid surfaces a car should be operated when using Oildag a distance of approximately 2,000 miles. The amount of molecular graphite, in the oil of which the Oildag is made, is but one-fourth of one per cent. of the weight of the oil; that is to say, one pound of graphite in every four hundred pounds of oil. It requires time for enough of these graphite molecules to come in contact with the metal surfaces to give them a complete coating, and only then are the graphoid surfaces ready for such tests as I have described."

17. "Are there no benefits resulting from the use of Oildag until the car has run this long distance?"
"Yes, you will begin to notice an improvement very soon, perhaps after 20 or 30 miles, but the maximum effect is not obtained until the graphoid surfaces are completely formed."

18. "Can these graphoid surfaces be produced with any graphite, for instance such as is dug from the ground, or the small flakes found in some rocks?"
"The graphite must be in the molecular condition in order that the molecular forces may come into play and hold it firmly to the metal surfaces. Graphite in this condition is not to be found on the world's markets, except in the products of the Acheson Oildag Company."

19. "Well, then, you think I would get better results from my car if I used Oildag lubrication in the engine?"
"I am quite sure you would, provided the engine is in proper condition when you commence to use it."

20. "What do you mean by being in proper condition?"
"Perhaps it may be said without error that all cars which have been operated while using ordinary oil lubrication have more or less carbon deposits in them. If the amount of carbon deposits in the cylinders and in the piston ring grooves is not very great there is evidence that the Oildag will loosen it up and it will be blown out from the exhaust. If, on the other hand, the amount is very great and the rings are tight in the grooves, you should have the carbon removed before commencing to use Oildag."

21. "It costs money to have carbon removed. Is it worth it?"
"It certainly is in your case. You have invested a good deal of money in your car and you certainly want to get the best results, and prolong its life. A few dollars will cover the cost of removing the carbon and you will save much more than this cost in reduced gasoline expenses and repair bills."

22. "Is Oildag as thick and viscous as the oil I am now using, which I am told has a viscosity of 600 to 700?"
"No, it is not nearly so viscous. There are several grades in use, but the thickest is not more than 300 viscosity. Thick oils waste a good deal of the power of the engine."

23. "Do not these thin oils get past the piston rings into the combustion chamber and produce carbon deposits?"
"No; the graphoid surfaces permitting free action, allow the rings to expand to the cylinder walls and on their downward stroke all excess Oildag which may have been splashed or otherwise spread over the cylinder walls is wiped into the crank case. The condition you suggest has occurred, however, in cases where autoists who were not familiar with the use of Oildag started in to use it in very dirty engines."

INJUNCTION ISSUED ON KAUFF'S BEHALF

Ex-Giant Outfielder Gets Temporary Order for Reinstatement as a Player.

AFFIDAVIT ATTACKS LANDIS

Bennie Calls Commissioner "Czar" and Denies He Has Jurisdiction Over Kauff's Contract With Giants.

Bennie Kauff, former Giant outfielder, whose indictment on a charge of receiving stolen automobiles was followed by his suspension from organized baseball, yesterday obtained from Supreme Court Justice Isadore Wasservogel an injunction which on its face requires his reinstatement as a player. The injunction was directed against the National Exhibition Company, operating the New York National League Baseball Company; John A. Heydler, individually and as President of the National League of Baseball Clubs, and Federal Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, individually and as Commissioner of all organized leagues of baseball in the country. Kauff was represented by Former Magistrate Emil Fuchs.

The injunction, which is returnable tomorrow before Justice Wasservogel, not only directs the defendants to show cause why they should not be restrained from interferring with Kauff in carrying out his contract with the Giants pending the outcome of a suit for a permanent injunction, but it also enjoins them right now from keeping Bennie from fulfilling his contract.

Mr. Fuchs at his office, 51 Chambers Street, said he had endeavored unsuccessfully to persuade Judge Landis and the latter's associates to reconsider their refusal to let Bennie play, even though Kauff had been acquitted by a jury. It had been represented to Kauff, Mr. Fuchs said, that he could not be reinstated because on the witness stand he had admitted "settling with a couple of men who claimed to have lost money through the purchase of stolen automobiles." Mr. Fuchs continued:

"Kauff said that he had paid these men under advice of his counsel, and it was here that advice. Bennie came to me with word that these men claimed to have lost money purchasing stolen automobiles on his advice, which he had given in good faith. I told him to settle as one who in good faith had guaranteed the cars and not as one who was in any way culpably criminally.

"Be that as it may, the question is whether or not the defendants in this action can exercise jurisdiction or pretend jurisdiction in regard to affairs which were alleged to have happened off the baseball field, particularly in view of the fact that the player affected has been acquitted by a jury."

Kauff Criticises Landis.

Kauff sets forth his side of the case in a long affidavit, in which he is anything but complimentary to Judge Landis.

Kauff recites the facts of his war service, of his reputation for honesty and loyalty as a ball player, of his acquittal in the automobile case, of the testimony as to his good character given by John J. McGraw and other well-known men at his trial, and of his continued suspension by Judge Landis following his acquittal. Kauff's affidavit then continues in part:

"Still the said Landis used his power and set himself up as a Czar in the situation, and, although receiving the most severe criticism of the Congress of the United States, continued to hold his Judgeship and entered into a business contract for which he receives upward of the sum of $40,000, and arbitrarily, without justice, reason or sense of justice, has continued to deprive me of my livelihood and the practice of my profession.

"I have never had any official dealings with the said Landis, nor did I sign a contract which gave him the right of any jurisdiction over me, but he has used his powers, whatever they may be, in order to make a gallery play with the public, in view of the scandal caused during the world's championship series of 1919.

"I received letters of character and testimony under oath from men who have held a high sense of honor that they would not drag down the great United States bench to mix it up with a commercial proposition, and use the power of that position to continue to exercise the functions which are arbitrarily un-American and against the policies of the Constitution as well as the laws of ethics and decency.

"At a conference of the American Bar Association, held recently, the said Landis was condemned for his unethical conduct and still he wants to judge me before the entire country. I am not as much as every inch as much of a gentleman and have as high a sense of ethics and character as this man Landis, who has no standing as far as I am concerned, and who has maliciously and cunningly conspired to further his position at my expense, without regard to conscience, standing or decency.

Says World Series Money Gone.

"The action of said Landis in depriving me from playing with my clubmates will most probably deprive me of my right to share in the world's series money of 1921, and if this order continues and I am kept from playing under the contract herein submitted my prestige will be gone and my means of livelihood will be kept from me.

"An action for breach of contract will not help me, because that will give me but the money that this year's contract calls for and will deprive me of my reputation, character and prestige, which is not computable in money damages, and unless the said Landis is restrained from further interfering with a legal contract over which he has no jurisdiction, irreparable harm will be done me and the amount of damages will not be ascertainable.

"I, therefore, am beginning an action for specific performance, and pray that the defendants herein, their agents, servants and employees, be restrained from interfering in any manner with your deponent in the continuance of his contract. I have never received a notice of suspension from my club in writing, and the only reason that I am not permitted to join my teammates, I believe, is because of the interference of this man Landis."

In his complaint Kauff demands, in addition to a restraining order, that he be adjudged a member of the New York baseball club in good standing and entitled to such sum of money as is unpaid to him under his contract.

Mr. Fuchs said yesterday that a suit for heavy personal damages may be instituted unless Bennie is reinstated immediately.

Boston Fans Arrange Testimonial for Veteran Outfielder.

BOSTON, Sept. 12.—A group of fans, headed by former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, got together today to complete plans for a testimonial to Harry Hooper of the Chicago Americans, former Red Sox captain and right-fielder, at Fenway Park on Sept. 17. A double-header will be played here between Red Sox and White Sox on that date and it is planned to give Hooper a gold watch and charm. Funds for the gift were raised by popular subscription.

Speaker Out Indefinitely, Indians Leave Chief Behind

CLEVELAND, Sept. 12.—Manager Tris Speaker of the Cleveland Indians was not with the team when it left here tonight on its last invasion of the East. Speaker is suffering with a contusion of the right knee joint, sustained yesterday when he tripped over first base in St. Louis. An X-ray photograph taken late today showed there was no fracture, but, according to his physician, Speaker will be out of the game indefinitely.

PITTSBURGH DIVIDES TWO WITH BOSTON

Wins First Game, 5-4, in 15 Innings, but Loses Second, 4-3—Southworth Hurt.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 12.—Pittsburgh and Boston split even on today's double-header, the former winning the first, 5 to 4, in 15 innings, and losing the second, 4 to 3. Carey's single, Maranville's double and Gibson's error at the plate scored the winning run in the fifteenth inning.

In the second game Glazner was knocked out of the box in the seventh inning and Zinn, who relieved him, was unable to hold the visiting batsmen. With the score tied in the eighth and two out, he passed Christenbury and Cruise, which was followed by Boeckel's single to centre, scoring what proved to be the winning run. Southworth was hurt in a collision with Powell in the first game and forced to retire.

Orioles Win, 11-1, and Lose, 6-3—Pitchers All Baltimoreans.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 12.—For probably the first time in the history of baseball in this or any other league city four home boys pitched the two contests between the Newark Bears and Baltimore Orioles here today. Tommy Thomas, a Baltimore city college product, twirled the first game against Dan Fisher, a left hander, who has been pitching for St. Patrick's Catholic club in the City Club League. The Orioles won this game, 11 to 1, and the score just about indicates how interesting a game it was.

Schueler, a well built right hander from Overlea, a suburb of Baltimore, who has been with Crisfield (Md.) all season, made his debut for Baltimore in the second. Opposing him was Baldwin, a right hander from Sparrows Point of the Interclub League and the Markham of the Semi-Pro League. Newark won, 6 to 3, Baldwin, holding the champions to seven hits, while the visitors touched Schueler for ten. Despite his defeat Schueler showed good action on the rubber, and with better support would have been charged with only half as many tallies.

GIANTS PURCHASE 6 YOUNG PLAYERS

Shinners of Indianapolis Among New Recruits—Secretary O'Brien Resigns.

Ralph Shinners, star outfielder of the Indianapolis club of the American Association, was purchased yesterday by the New York National League club. Shinners, the outstanding player in a group of six young recruits just acquired for future service with the Giants, was sought by several major league clubs and the New York club had to pay a high price to gain title to his services. The amount involved in the deal was not announced.

Shinners has spent less than two years in professional ball but he has come along so rapidly that he is regarded now as ready for the majors. He first showed his skill while a member of the Marquette University team at Milwaukee and later starred in the semi-professional ranks in that city. Manager Jack Hendricks of the Indianapolis club got the player last season and at the close of the campaign he was rated as one of the most promising players in the big AA league. This season he has improved greatly in his stickwork besides developing into a great outfielder. Shinners is remarkably fast and seems destined to make a name for himself in the majors. He has batted .341 this season and ranks second in stolen bases with 41.

Three young pitchers, one infielder and one outfielder have also been purchased from minor league clubs, according to an announcement by Secretary Joe O'Brien. The latest batch of recruits swells the number of recent acquisitions to eleven, as five collegians were announced as under contract only a few days ago. The pitchers are Davis, from the Sioux City club of the Western League; and Rube Benton and McLoughlin from the Portsmouth Club of the Virginia League. Benton is a youthful right hander. The infielder is Black, also from the Portsmouth club, and the outfielder is Ike Boone, from the New Orleans club of the Southern Association. Boone is one of the leading hitters of the Southern Association.

O'Brien Resigns Position.

Besides announcing the acquisition of the minor leaguers Secretary O'Brien gave out the information that he had resigned his position with the New York club. When the change becomes effective is not settled, as President C. A. Stoneham is now in Cuba and Secretary O'Brien will await his return before relinquishing the post. The retiring official gave no reason for his sudden decision to relinquish the post on the eve of a probable world's series, but rumor has it that friction with another official of the club is behind the move.

Mr. O'Brien first came to the Giants in 1910, succeeding William Grey as secretary. He served in this position during the pennant winning year of 1911 and then resigned, returning to his home in Milwaukee, where he had an interest in an insurance businesses. Two years ago Mr. O'Brien, then part owner of the Milwaukee club of the American Association, was re-engaged to serve as Secretary of the Giants on a recommendation of Manager John J. McGraw and he has made a most capable official during two of the biggest seasons the Giants ever enjoyed. His decision to retire from the club will be generally regretted in baseball circles. Mr. O'Brien has had long experience as a baseball official, having served in various capacities with American Association clubs and at one time he was President of that organization. It is understood that James A. Tierney has been named to succeed O'Brien.

Yankees vs. White Sox Today.

The drive for the American League pennant will be resumed this afternoon at the Polo Grounds, where the Yankees meet the White Sox in the opener of a two-game series, and at Shibe Park in Philadelphia, where the Cleveland Indians inaugurate a four-game stand with the Mackmen, this latter series including a double-header on Wednesday. The White Sox are the only American League club which has the edge on the Hugmen in the season's play, but many of the Chicago successes were scored early in the season. Of late the Yanks have been more successful against the Gleason troupe.

Bob Shawkey, who has not gone the full route since last Friday, is the probable starter for the Hugmen this afternoon, but Harry Harper is a possibility, and the southpaw may get the call. Mays probably will be sent against the White Sox tomorrow, when the teams clash for the last time this year. Neither Faber nor Kerr has done much pitching for the Sox recently, but one of them may have to face the two stars of the Chicago staff in this series. Faber has not been as effective of late as he was earlier in the year, and his presence on the mound is not so terrifying to opposing batsmen as it was a while back.

Following the White Sox the Browns will come to the Polo Grounds for four games in three days, a double-header being on the card for Thursday afternoon. The Tigers will follow for four games, one postponement having been scheduled for next Monday, which was an open date for both clubs. The Indians will make their appearance after the Tigers leave, opening a four-game series on Friday, Sept. 23. Then the Yankees will go to Philadelphia for two games, and on their return will close the season with a game against the Mackmen here on Oct. 1 and one against the Red Sox on Oct. 2. Cleveland's remaining schedule calls for eighteen games—four at Philadelphia, three at Washington, three at Boston, four at New York and four at Chicago.

The Hugmen must play nineteen more games if they are to complete their 154-game schedule, but there is some doubt as to the playing off of a postponed game with the Senators at Washington. Each team has made its last scheduled visit to the other city, and neither club can compel the other to make a return trip. Clark Griffith is anxious to have the Yankees go to Washington on an open date, and the matter is still under consideration.

Bob Meusel's home-run drive into the right-field stand at the Polo Grounds on Sunday did something more than settle the game for the Yankees. That circuit smash broke the club record for homers in a season, established last year, when the Yankees poled 118 circuit drives. Meusel's belt gave the Yanks the one hundred and sixteenth for the Yankees this season.

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 12.—Mike McNally, third baseman of the New York Yankees, signed a life contract today, but not with a baseball team. McNally and Miss Mae Murray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Murray of this city, were married this morning at 11 o'clock in St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church by the Rev. M. F. O'Rourke, pastor. Miss Geraldine Cunningham and Peter O'Donnell of Scranton were the attendants.

Mr. and Mrs. McNally left for New York this afternoon following a wedding luncheon at the bride's home.

FISHER BREAKS UP VARSITY GRID SQUAD

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 12.—Although the varsity football candidates have been out only a week at Harvard, Head Coach Fisher broke up the unwieldly squad of one hundred or thereabouts into first and second squads today. More than sixty players were held by the varsity coaches, but probably a third of these, or more, will be sent down to the scrubs after another week's work. In the first squad were fourteen backs, twelve ends, ten guards, eight centres, nine quarterbacks and eleven tackles. About thirty-five men were assigned to the second team.

The weather was very warm today, but there was no let-up in the work. The line-up had its first hard drill breaking through. Coolidge worked with the ends, and Woods, Parmenter and Sedgwick with the remainder of the line. The first middle combination tried was Kuhnhardt at centre, Brocker and Brown guards and Lockwood and C. Lee tackles. Kunhardt, who weighs 195, was substitute last year, and Brown, 205 pounds, and Brocker, 200 pounds, were second-string guards. Lockwood, who also got into several games last Fall, weighs 190 pounds. Lee, who played with the scrubs and the second team, weights 195 pounds.

Several backfields were arranged. Last year's varsity quarterback, Buell, working with Gratwick, Fitts and Chapin, all veterans, and Conlon having Churchill, Cronin and Gherke as his string. Gherke is the 190-pound back from last year's freshmen eleven.

Tommy Campbell, the new freshman coach, was out for the first time today. Jim Tolbert, last year's varsity guard, returned from the West today, but announced that he will stick to his decision not to play football. He will coach, and today he worked with the scrubs. George Owen, last year's varsity star back, will not be able to play for about two weeks, and Angier, one of last year's substitute varsity backs, is laid up with an injured arm.

COLUMBIA FOOTBALL WARRIORS IN CAMP

Special to The New York Times.

CAMP VAIL, N. J., Sept. 12.—Headed by Coach "Buck" O'Neill the Columbia University football squad, numbering thirty-two players, arrived here shortly after noon today. Intensive training will begin tomorrow morning and continue for two weeks, during which time an eleven will be whipped into shape to open the gridiron schedule against Amherst on Oct. 1 at South Field.

The first part of the afternoon was spent in setting up the cots and straightening up the fifteen tents which the squad will occupy during its sojourning here. The camp is laid out like a company street in an army camp, and when the candidates were through with it this afternoon it was spick and span enough to fill the requirements of the most exacting inspection officer.

After the tents were shipshape Coach O'Neill ordered a light workout and the squad went through an hour or so of kicking and passing. No scrimmage and no formations were attempted. In fact, the veteran coach and his assistants frowned on any candidate who made an effort to start something by rushing down the field for a tackle or put up a bit of interference for some mythical runner.

At the conclusion of this workout the entire squad took to the Shrewsbury River, which flows only a short stone's throw from the barracks, and spent the remainder of the time until mess in its placid waters. The first meal in camp was served at 6 o'clock. A competent staff of chefs and waiters had been provided by Bobbie Watt, the Blue and White's graduate manager of athletics, who secured and laid the plans for the camp, and the husky hopefuls did full justice to the culinary efforts of these gentlemen.

A field has been laid out on the Government reservation, which is large enough to accommodate twenty gridirons; the goal posts are up, as is the tackling dummy, and everything is in readiness for the serious work, which will begin tomorrow morning. In a short talk this afternoon, Coach O'Neill warned the men to get their fill of ice cream and smokes tonight, because from tomorrow morning on the strictest kind of training will be adhered to until the final whistle of the season blows on Thanksgiving Day.

The squad as it arrived here is practically complete, all of the coaches, including Joe Brooks, former Williams coach, and Trainer Barrett, also formerly of Williams, are on hand, or will arrive tomorrow mornign. Tom Thorp, line coach, will not be with the squad in camp, but will join it when it returns to South Field. The only players missing at today's roll call were Fargo, who will arrive from Cleveland tomorrow; Burt, who is also expected to report tomorrow; Freeman, whose mother is ill, and Appleman, whose return to college is still uncertain. Latest advices indicate, however that the big back will respond to the call in the near future. If so, the squad will be absolutely complete, every man returning who was expected at all, and the Blue and White will enter the coming season with the brightest prospects that it has had in years.

Among the veterans on hand at the camp are: Modarelli, guard; Scovil, captain and tackle; Forsythe and Pulleyn, ends; Moszenski, fullback; Reilly, halfback; Anderson, halfback; Walder, guard; Brodil, centre; Thornton, fullback.

EDWINA IS VICTOR IN NASSAU STAKE

Kilmer Filly Likes Going at Belmont Park—Takes Feature Event by Five Lengths.

ARMY RACE TO COURTEOUS

Ridden by Lieut. McCreery, Gelding Captures Test of Stamina—Jockey Jones Hurt in Fall.

The four-year-old filly, Edwina, which new races in the colors of Willis Sharpe Kilmer, was very much at home in the going at Belmont Park yesterday and easily captured the Nassau Selling Stakes at a mile, one of the features of the day. She had but a small field to contend with and won by five lengths from Crystal Ford, with Knight of the Heather and Servitor bringing up the rear.

The track was slow and slightly muddy from the rain of the night before, and the condition resulted in numerous scratches, despite the new scratch rule. The fields were small throughout the afternoon, but three horses going to the post for the opening dash. The crowd had as one of the attractions the army officers' race, which was a true test of stamina. It was at a mile and six furlongs, and was won by the gelding Courteous, which was ridden by Lieutenant Thomas McCreery, who years ago was a professional rider and trainer of horses.

The Nassau fell easy prey to Edwina when Krewer was withdrawn. She was a strong favorite at 3 to 5 and was well-ridden by Johnson. Knight of the Heather and Crystal Ford raced with each other in the first six furlongs and though they drew away to a lead of several lengths, both were done for at the head of the stretch. Johnson was content to let his mount trail along under a steady ride until he turned toward home, when he gave the filly her head and easily overhauled the leaders. In the final furlong, Edwina drew away and proved to be very much the best. Crystal Ford outraced Knight of the Heather for the place, the two tired horses fighting it out in the last sixteenth, and finishing only a few inches apart. Servitor had scant speed at any stage of the race and was never a contender.

Pace Is Slow.

The army officers' race was an exhibition of good horsemanship on the part of the riders as well as a severe test for the horses, which carried from 202 pounds up to 170 pounds. It was one of the best races of this kind that has been held on the local tracks this year. Montesol, with Greenough up, raced his horse along until making the last turn, and did not have to apply the whip until within a few yards of the finish, when he shook up his mount.

The pace was naturally slow. Courteous gained a lead of three lengths, going through the back stretch, while Madelle, which had been made an odds-on choice, was trailing the field. The leader began to tire after going a mile and the others gradually closed the gap. Courteous and Chester Two, the latter ridden by Major Stanley Koch, moved up at the stretch turn, disposed of the leader and were considerably best of the others. Courteous won by three lengths and Chester Two finished four lengths in front of Madelle, which had finished strongly under hard urging. The favorite had been far out of it in the early running to make up the ground in the stretch.

The Amityville Handicap at a mile resulted in an easy victory for the Quincy Stable's Captain Alcock, which was much the best. Though away very slowly and trailing behind the leaders by several lengths in the first half mile, he won by two lengths from Chateau Thierry, with Irish Dream third among four that went to the post.

Irish Dream in Lead.

Irish Dream displayed remarkably fine speed at the start and raced into a lead of half a dozen lengths. It appeared that he was about to upset all calculations and romp off with the race. But six furlongs was enough for Irish Dream. As he turned toward the stretch he began to slow up visibly. Chateau Thierry, which had been closest to the pace, moved up menacingly. At the same time Captain Alcock came around the field and made a strong run in the stretch. At the furlong pole he had disposed of Irish Dream, and was abreast of Chateau Thierry. He appeared to jump the latter slightly in the stretch run, but not enough to make any difference in the race. He then drew clear and won by two lengths. Chateau Thierry weakened so badly at the end that she just lasted to save second place by a head. Quecreek, which was the other starter, was outclassed, and was never a contender.

The Pickle Mode proved a dismal disappointment to his backers in the first race, a five and a half furlong dash for two-year-olds. Sent to the post a 1 to 2 choice in a field of three, he was beaten three lengths by the filly Prodigious, which was much at home in the going. Ridden hard at the end, and apparently did not like the condition of the track, Black Rascal raced into a long lead at the start, but blew up in the stretch. Prodigious caught him and won easily, while Mode got up to save second with plenty to spare.

The steeplechase was marred by an accident, in which Jockey Willie Jones was badly hurt. He had the mount on Mayhigh. The mare fell at one of the lower jumps on the second turn of the field, and Jones was knocked unconscious. The Belmont Park management failed to provide an ambulance for such emergencies, but this was not in evidence yesterday, and the injured jockey had to wait for the return of the starter's car. He was removed to St. Mary's Hospital in Jamaica. It was feared that he had sustained serious injuries about the neck and shoulders.

Le Marsouin Wins.

The race was won by Le Marsouin, owned by J. S. Cosden, and the favorite in the race. He was catching Mayhigh at the jump at which the latter fell. With the only dangerous rival removed, Le Marsouin won by ten lengths. Rev. Haven outgamed Ben Wyvis for the place.

The last race of six furlong dash for maidens went to Gray Gables, which outgamed Wrecker in the stretch and won by half a length. Ruddles was third. Wrecker gave up a big gap and appeared the easy winner, but he tired suddenly. Ruddles, which was well supported, was eight lengths back for third. Cave Tree refused to break, and was left at the post.

HUMPHREY HOME IN FRONT.

Scores Easy Victory Over Colonel Baker in Latonia Feature.

Special to The New York Times.

LATONIA, Ky., Sept. 12.—The Mount Auburn Purse at a mile and a sixteenth, one of the features of the racing at Latonia today, resulted in a surprise for the form players when Humphrey got home five lengths in front of Colonel Baker with Ben Valet third among five starters. Parader, the favorite, was next to last, and was never a contender. The winner paid $27.30 to holders of a $2 ticket. Ben Valet set the pace, but tired badly, and Humphrey raced up in the stretch, took the lead and drew away readily.

Montford Jones's crack two-year-old, Rockminster, won a close verdict over his stablemate, Pegasus, in the Miami Valley Handicap at six furlongs. He won by only a neck, getting up in the last sixteenth. Martha Fallon was third. Pegasus might have won had he been lodged along in the stretch.

SINGLE G. WINNER IN RECORD TIME

Pacer Equals Best Mark for Syracuse Track by Covering a Mile in 2:00.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Single G., the eleven-year-old pacer owned by W. B. Barefoot of Cambridge City, Ind., won the Champion Stake, free-for-all pace, in the Grand Circuit meeting at the State Fair in straight heats this afternoon. Single G. stepped the second heat in 2 minutes flat, equaling the fastest time ever made on the Syracuse track. Several years ago Miss Harris M., also a pacer, made the mile in 2 minutes.

King Etawah, driven by Ben White, in winning the Merchants' Cup, the trotting event for two-year-olds, equaled the record for the year for his class when he negotiated the mile in 2:09¾, in the third heat. Outdistanced in the first heat, King Etawah finished gamely, taking the last two from under the nose of Edith Worthy, driven by Brusie.

Single G.'s exhibition was the feature of the first day of the meeting, however. The veteran pacer won the three heats, all of which were in fast time, by standing off John Henry, driven by Pitman, in close finishes in every one of the heats. In all of them, however, Allen, driving the Wonder horse, got off in front and stayed there, despite John Henry's efforts to displace him.

The 2:15 trot, the third race on the program, was won by Warner's Legal J. after a battle in four heats. Legal J. took the last two after Crane's Let Fly had annexed the first in easy style. Let Fly had to be content with second place, although he was hard pressed by Swanhilde.

The last race on the card, the 2:12 pacing event, went to Queen Abbe, which took the first and last heats. The second heat went to Tony Mack after the prettiest home-stretch brush of the afternoon. Queen Abbe turned into the stretch in the lead, but Tony Mack managed to nose her out just before the finish was reached. The best time in the event was 2:06¾, made by Queen Abbe in the last heat.

Has Continuous Run of 118 in 1,000 Point Cue Exhibition.

Albert Cutler was the winner of both afternoon and evening blocks in his 1,000-point 18.2 balk line exhibition with Edgar Appleby at the Rational Recreation Academy yesterday. In the afternoon Cutler scored a total of 250 points while his opponent was gathering 156, and in the evening he won, 250 to 206. Cutler averaged 13 16-18 and Appleby 9 3-17, and had a high run of 71 to 36 for his opponent in the afternoon. In the evening Cutler's average was 22 8-11; Appleby's, 18 8-11. Cutler had a high run of 47 and Appleby 46. Cutler finished his afternoon block with his high run and continued to 47 in the evening, giving him a total of 118. The pair will meet again this afternoon and evening.

FIRST BLOCK TO BRESLIN.

Defeats Cannefax in Three-Cushion Handicap Match Opener, 44 to 36.

Former three-cushion champion Bob Cannefax failed to get away to a flying start last night in the first block of his handicap exhibition match with Tom Breslin at the Ambassador Billiard Academy. Cannefax is to play 800 points in blocks of 50, to 264 by Breslin in blocks of 44. Last night the rivals played their first block, which Breslin won, 44 to 36.

As the former titleholder had to go 50 to Breslin's 44, he was beaten eight points per and set behind fourteen. The winner's high run for the evening was six; Cannefax's high run was four. The two will meet for their second block tonight.

The Massachusetts National Guard, the United States Navy, and the Philippine Scouts each had 544 for third place.

RECORD ENTRY LIST IN SENIOR TOURNEY

363 Golfers Ready for Annual Tourney on Apawamis Course at Rye Today.

"Once a senior, always a senior; sometimes venerable but never dyed," is the slogan that the United States Seniors' Golf Association adopted at the time of organization many years ago.

It might be altered a bit to state: "Once a golfer, always a golfer," for in the ranks of its membership are men who were among the first to take up the game in America; men who have pioneered the formation of clubs and steered them through and over the rough spots.

Today, on the links of the Apawamis Club, at Rye, N. Y., these venerable youngsters will hold forth in their annual tournament which will extend over until Friday afternoon.

It is the seventeenth annual event and a record-breaking field is entered. According to the list, 363 players will start. Numbered among them are men in all walks of life, representing practically every section of the country—men who look forward to this annual event with the eagerness of youngsters for Christmas time. They come to Apawamis annually to become boys again.

The only bar to membership in the seniors' organization is age; membership is restricted to those of the mashie and niblick brigade who have attained the age of 55. It doesn't matter whether or not you are 80 or 90, but you must be at least 55, before you are eligible to membership.

The annual team match with Canada will be played on Wednesday afternoon and will be followed by the annual dinner. The event, for the Duke of Devonshire Trophy, has been played three times, and in two of these the United States has been returned victorious. Hugh Halsell, the Texan who played in the senior ranks last year for the first time and who won the championship with a record seniors' round of 80, as a starter, will doubtless be pitted against George S. Lyon, the veteran Canadian Seniors' champion in this event in which there will be fifteen men on a side.

Horace Hotchkiss, "father of the seniors," will be on hand as usual, but it is doubtful if he will attempt to play.

The usual conditions will govern the tournament, one-half the field competing today and tomorrow, and the remainder on Thursday and Friday. The contestants will be divided into four groups according to age, those from 55 to 60 in Class A; from 60 to 65 in Class B; from 65 to 70 in Class C, and those over 70 in Class D.

MET. GOLF STARS OUT.

Kirkby and White Decide Not to Go to St. Louis.

Little by little the strength of the metropolitan golfing forces at the national amateur event which opend at St. Louis on Saturday is dwindling.

A few weeks ago high hopes were entertained of the possibilities of a victory for the metropolitan district in the national event for it was almost certain that practically all of its stars would be among the starters.

Indications were last night, however, that only three of the top-notchers would make the trip and it was doubted whether there will be enough players from the area to make up a team for one of the proposed intersectional matches. It was stated that Oswald Kirkby, who had been selected as captain of the metropolitan team, had decided not to make the trip and it was also announced that Gardiner M. White, the metropolitan amateur champion, had definitely decided not to go. Others who have faded out of the St. Louis picture are Jerry Travers, the Upper Montclair star and a several time winner of the title, and J. N. Stearns Jr., winner of the recent national invitation tourney.

Gardiner M. White stated last night that he had decided not to make the trip and he also gave the information that, in a conversation with Kirkby on Sunday, the Englewood star had practically given up the idea of making the trip.

As a result the only top-notchers from the district who will tee off at St. Louis are Jesse W. Sweetser, former intercollegiate titleholder; J. G. Anderson of Siwanoy, a former runner-up in the national event, and Reginald M. Lewis of Greenwich, who carried the champion, Chick Evans to the forty-first hole in a sensational match in the championship last season.

HUTCHISON SETS RECORD.

Breaks Belle Meade Course Mark With a 67—British Pair Win.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 12.—Jock Hutchison, British open golf champion, today set a new course record for Belle Meade, with a 67 for the afternoon rounds match play against Abe Mitchell and George Duncan. Jim Barnes was Paired with Hutchison, and the Americans were defeated, one up, at the home green.

George Duncan was credited with a 69 in the morning round, but the figures would not have stood as a record, since he was conceded three puts. Jim Barnes, after being erratic for the first 27 holes, found himself and shot the last nine in 33, or five under par, being one stroke ahead of Hutchison for that nine.

Gus Platts to Make Bow.

Gus Platts, English middleweight who was included in the latest importations by Charlie Harvey, specialist on European boxing material, will make his initial appearance here Sept. 22, at the Academy A. C., Dyckman Oval, against Mike McTigue, Irish middleweight. The battle will be for fifteen rounds.

O'Donnell Scores Knockout.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 12.—Charlie O'Donnell, Cleveland lightweight, tonight knocked out Eddie Shannon of Detroit in the third round of a scheduled twelve-round bout.

Carpentier Summons Wilson; To Train for European Bouts

Gus Wilson, trainer of Georges Carpentier, will sail for France either on Saturday or on Thursday of next week, he declared yesterday. Wilson is now arranging his affairs in preparation for his departure to join Carpentier in France. The French heavyweight's trainer has been summoned to his native country to prepare Carpentier for two bouts which have been arranged to take place prior to Carpentier's proposed visit to this country. Wilson expressed confidence that Carpentier would return here to battle Tom Gibbons, and added that the two European bouts have been arranged principally for the purpose of satisfying Manager Descamps and Carpentier that the boxer's right hand has properly mended.

MOORE HURTS HAND; TITLE BOUT IS OFF

St. Paul Boxer Not to Meet Herman at Garden Opening—Rickard Has Good Card.

The proposed fifteen-round bout between Pete Herman, world's bantamweight champion, and Roy Moore, veteran St. Paul bantamweight, which was scheduled to feature the opening show at Madison Square Garden, Sept. 23, is off. Promoter Tex Rickard made this announcement yesterday, giving as the reason for the cancellation of the contest that Moore injured his right hand and would be unable to box. Rickard said he was not in a position to announce a substitute attraction. He is now engaged on the task of arranging an attractive card of bouts with which to open the Garden for the Fall and Winter season.

Rickard has not altogether discarded his plans for a bantamweight title bout. The promoter is looking over the field of aspiring bantamweights with the view of selecting a worthy rival for Herman. Midget Smith and Jack Sharkey were considered as attractive prospects in view of the fact that Joe Lynch, former champion, is not yet in condition to undertake another title bout. Rickard is prepared to give either Smith or Sharkey the bout if the boxers are reasonable in their terms, or, failing this, Rickard is prepared to conduct a bout between Sharkey and Smith on the opening night.

The promoter has another alternative in the offing. Willie Jackson, Bronx lightweight, and Pete Hartley, the "Durable Dane," have been matched for a fifteen-round bout scheduled for the night of Sept. 30, and it is probable that if all other plans fail and the boxers declare themselves able to properly prepare, Rickard may put Jackson and Hartley into the ring as the opening night attraction.

Announcement was made that Rickard has completed his preliminary card for the Garden's opening show. The program includes three eight-round contests in which bantamweights and featherweights will hold sway. Carl Tremaine, Cleveland bantamweight, will make his Eastern début against Irish Johnny Curtin of Jersey City; Earl Baird, Seattle featherweight, will engage Battling Reddy of Harlem and Johnny Murray, Bronx featherweight, will exchange blows with Red Cap Wilson.

GOLDSTEIN IS VICTOR.

Defeats Scaption in Debut at N. Y. A. C. Amateur Tourney.

One of the most promising amateur boxing prospects of the year was uncovered by Nat Oss, Ninety-second Street Y. M. H. A. boxing coach, last night in the New York A. C. tournament. The newcomer was Jack Goldstein, a lad who made the Mercury Foot tournament the occasion for his initial bout. Goldstein drew J. Scaption, a sturdy Italian boxer, as his rival in one of the 128-pound class bouts and at the end of three rounds the judges gave their verdict in favor of Goldstein.

The Y. M. H. A. youngster was clearly entitled to the decision. He exhibited a brand of boxing which, combined with the untiring aggressiveness of the rugged Scaption, made the contest one of the most interesting of the dozen held. Showing latent cleverness and punching power which undoubtedly will develop and improve as he continues, Goldstein carried off every round of the three. He timed his punches admirably for a raw competitive novice, judged his pace to a nicety, and, hooking, jabbing and crossing his rival with surprising skill, accumulated points consistently. Scaption was willing and aggressive at all times and he showed ability to assimilate the blows of his rival without flinching, but Goldstein's cleverness and speed proved too great an obstacle for the Italian to hurdle.

Old Terris, Rutgers Gymnasium flyweight, and Louis Guglielmini, a bantamweight of the Pastime A. C., both of whom have been consistent winners in local tournaments, added fresh triumphs to their strings. Terris, competing in a 110-pound final from a previous tournament, gained the judges' decision over George Viger, Paulist A. C., in three interesting rounds. Guglielmini was a participant in the 118-pound class and carried off the decision of the judges over H. Sarno in three rounds.

The summaries:

115-Pound Class, Semifinal Round—F. Singerwald, St. Bartholomew's Club, defeated P. Rizzo, unattached, two rounds, referee's decision; I. Rosenberg, unattached, defeated J. Hayden, unattached, three rounds, judges' decision.

TODAY'S PRIMARIES.

Unless the enrolled Republicans of this city are content to endure four years more of Hylanism, they will go to their primaries in great numbers today and nominate Mr. CURRAN for Mayor. He is the only candidate of the four who can be elected. To vote for any one of the other three is to vote for either a personal ambition or grievance or an issue that can't be settled in the City Hall and has no relation to the competent and effective administration of the city's affairs. Mr. CURRAN knows the city's business better than any of his rivals. His prime policy is the honest and able management of that business. He can command that Democratic and independent support without which there is not a ghost of a chance of defeating Tammany. Remembering the surprise in the Republican primaries of 1917, the enrolled Republicans ought to turn out in force today and give Mr. CURRAN a fat plurality.

There is no considerable opposition to the nomination of Senator LOCKWOOD as Controller. Mr. VINCENT GILROY, Coalition-Republican candidate for President of the Board of Aldermen, represents that large body of Democrats, and especially young Democrats, that is sick and tired of Tammany boss government and misgovernment. Republicans should forget party labels and give him a strong and loyal support.

In the Democratic primaries the only contest on the city ticket is that of Mr. JAMES J. HINES, anti-Murphy candidate for the nomination for Borough President of Manhattan, against JULIUS MILLER. Mr. HINES has made a spirited canvass, and, while Tammany is hardly to be beaten from the inside, his manifestation of independence is gratifying, and there seems to be a good deal of that quality among Tammany men and women this year.

But it is to the Coalition, the union of Republicans, Democrats and Independents, that the opportunity of reestablishing civilized municipal government lies. The majority of enrolled Republicans desire that reestablishment. The first step toward it is the nomination of Mr. CURRAN. If a corporation was plainly going to the devil, the stockholders would surely take the trouble to go to the annual meeting and kick the mismanaging directors out. Between 3 and 9 P. M. today the enrolled Republicans can make at the primaries the first move toward kicking out the Hylan Administration. They ought not merely to nominate Mr. CURRAN, but to nominate him by a plurality generous enough to show that the Republican Party of the city far prefers the welfare of the people of the city to the prosecution of petty schemes of partisanship or little games of political finesse. There is no doubt of the good-will of the mass of Republicans, but that is a futile velleity if they don't go to the polls this afternoon or evening and manifest it in fact.

EXCHANGES OF GOODS.

The increase of our exports by $54,000,000 in August, and of our imports by $16,000,000, shows that finance is not the only factor in trade movements. That inference is strengthened by the decrease of our domestic credits. Where, then, is the explanation of the increase? A hint may be found in the British foreign trade for August, which shows an increase of exports and imports by about eight million pounds each. To be sure, all British trade does not come here, but it does fit our trade as the hand fits an empty glove. When both sides move in the same direction there is almost proof, certainly a demonstration, that nothing moves goods like the movement of goods. Imports imply exports, and exports imply imports.

Eventually these facts and truths will impress themselves upon the minds of protectionists and politicians. Those interested in finance rather than trade will draw the lesson that the exchange of goods is more important than the exchange of currencies, although the latter attracts more attention. Goods are sold for goods in effect, although not in the form of barter. Only to a limited extent are currencies sold for currencies, chiefly by travelers crossing frontiers. Otherwise exchanges of currencies are in effect exchanges of goods, however disguised in the form of barter. Just as it is sounder to watch the commodity markets than the security markets, so it is sounder to watch the exchanges of goods rather than the exchanges of currencies, although important implications may also be drawn from the latter. All is not going badly if the world's exchanges of goods are increasing, however the currencies may be depreciating in some particular countries for specific reasons.

THE CONSEQUENCES.

If it be to the profit of the nations of the world that bickerings and quarrels continue three years after the ending of the war, with no ready means of settling them; that plans for putting a stop to the enormous expenditure for fleets and armies for which provision was made in the League Covenant are impossible of execution because this nation holds aloof; and if it be a cause for pride and rejoicing that the Government of peace-loving America is the one that has hobbled the League and hindered it from carrying out the great designs of its founders, then the group of Republican Senators, headed by Mr. LODGE, who caused the Treaty and the Covenant to be rejected at Washington are worthy of the profound and continuing homage of mankind.

If, on the other hand, they did an evil thing, and we cannot well doubt that it is an evil thing to perpetuate the causes of war and inhibit the safeguards of peace; if it be an evil thing that, as Mr. JAMES says in his Geneva dispatch to THE TIMES, "whereas three years ago America "was the best-loved nation on earth, "it is today perhaps the most disliked," then these Senators deserve from their fellow-men what it would not be easy or might not be wise to say, but it would not be homage.

It is not pleasant, at least for millions of Americans, that a statesman of the standing and dignity of ARTHUR J. BALFOUR should feel compelled to advise the League Assembly that the hopes of those who made the peace with the Central Powers have been cheated of their fruition; that the burden of maintaining a preparedness for war "hangs like a millstone around the neck of the world," and hampers economic revival at every stage, and that these grievous disappointments are due to the absence from the League of important nations, meaning the United States. It is we who have robbed the League of the authority it would have wielded had its membership included every civilized nation. It is we who have brought upon ourselves the reproaches of the other nations until, as Mr. JAMES learns at Geneva, "all the "countries of the League are being "told that America is killing the "League because she wants her own "League."

The responsibility, whether praise or blame, is ours. If there were a grain of truth in the campaign pretense that we have preserved our sovereignty, our independence, our Monroe Doctrine by this sacrifice, we might not feel that the cost was too great. But all save the blindest of the blind see that that was a hollowness and sham.

MENTAL TESTS IN THE SCHOOLS.

It is doubtless congestion in the schools that has resulted in a rapidly widening application of the mental tests, as it was the exigencies of the draft that led to their use by the army. As regards the individual, their significance is limited. Many kinds of ability, some of them of a very high order, are dimly revealed by the tests or not at all; wit, personality, the inventive faculty, imagination, are not brought out. Likewise, great ability in the tests may be offset by deficiencies in character and moral stamina, so that subjects who pass with flying colors are, in actual life, utter failures. But "statistically," as regards large groups, the results are of great value. Thus, at an officers' training school which was recruited from college students eighty-ninths of those who scored A or B in the tests eventually got commissions, whereas of those who scored C—and D seven-eighths failed to get commissions, and most of them failed even to qualify as non-commissioned officers. If the C— and D men had been eliminated at the outset there would have been a few individual cases of injustice but a great saving of time and effort.

In the schools as in the army the tests afford a ready means of reducing to the minimum waste effort and delay. Children whose minds are sound and serviceable instruments are grouped together and, under a teacher who is not hampered by cares of the dull and the slothful, are carried forward steadily and rapidly. The Principal of Public School 64, Louis MARKS, who was a pioneer in introducing the army tests, reports that the formation of classes according to mentality enables many pupils to save a year and even two years. The less able pupils profit equally, being placed under a teacher who has a special understanding of undeveloped minds and patience in struggling with undeveloped characters. In these classes many pupils who floundered helplessly under the old order, repeating grade after grade, are carried steadily forward. Where classes are more uniform in mentality, moreover, a pupil whom the test has misplaced is readily detected. As the present term progresses there will be doubtless a considerable shifting upward and downward before the classes are homogeneous.

As yet the use of the tests has been relatively limited. About 8,000 pupils in elementary schools and 1,100 pupils who are entering high school have received their "intelligence quotient" and will be classified accordingly. But if, as may be confidently predicted, the result satisfies the authorities, the practice will eventually become uniform in New York schools. For many reasons it is to be hoped that it may, and spread throughout the country. It is to the mental tests as used in the army that we owe a clear knowledge, denied us by the census, of the literacy of our people as a whole. One quarter of the drafted men, 24.9 per cent., were "unable to read the newspapers and write a letter home." The final tabulation of the tests, recently published by Major R. M. YERKES, is a gold mine of information with regard to the relative mentality of men in the different trades and professions, the relative mentality of the different races that compose our population.

COMMERCE WITH A CLUB.

There no longer is any secret why foreign shipping carries 70 per cent. of our foreign trade while a thousand of our Shipping Board vessels are tied up, and those which are running are losing money. Senator JONES lets the cat out of the bag. He is the proprietor of the plan for promoting American commerce by retaliation against aliens who do some of it, for discrimination in favor of Americans who lose money by it, and for transferring the shipping losses to railways by reduction of their unprofitable rates. Senator JONES gives to the newspapers a report from the National Merchant Marine Association exposing the "secret contracts" which the law requires to be filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission. The idea is that the publication of the secret will promote the Senator's method of trading with a club, and under monetary penalties such as courts sometimes inflict in the way of fines upon those whose criminality is worthy of something less than imprisonment.

Retaliation, discrimination and the purchase of commerce by subsidies belong to the stage in our economic development when importers were penalized in similar manner. All these disguised subsidies and statutory methods of forcing trade where profits are insufficient to induce it have been tried and found prejudicial. They are revived now because our foreign trade is entering a new stage, corresponding to the economic evolution of our factories and commerce, and there is a need felt to export our industrial surplus. There was no such need to promote the exports of our soil. Dealing in them, we always sold on a "cash and carry" basis, and were able to do so because we had little competition. But our manufactures must meet competition on a world basis both of production and transportation. The discovery in the files of the Interstate Commerce Commission of these contracts between American railways and foreign steamships, and the substitutes proposed for them, constitute a confession of our incapacity to compete on a world basis under the conditions of world trade and our own laws. The imputation of anything un-American or malicious in such contracts is gratuitous.

When these contracts were made there was only a rudimentary American marine, and our trade was carried both more efficiently and economically than under present arrangements, when we are finding a merchant marine more of a luxury than our ability to pay taxes can sustain. To handicap commerce to support a marine which cannot support itself is bad business, and comes from sources which have sought to punish railways and steamships for methods of trade which now they propose themselves. Our Government regarded the steamship conferences as conspiracies in restraint of trade. But our Shipping Board finds that it needs them as a defense against cutthroat competition. Now there is a proposal to pool business in a similarly reprehensible manner, but with details of a theoretical rather than practical sort.

If the thing is to be done it were better to let business do it in its own way, under responsibility for results and restraint as to the propriety of the conduct and methods. No confidence can be felt regarding the business wisdom of those who have passed laws handicapping our marine by expenses ranging from 20 to 70 per cent. above competitors', according to the costs of various nations. There is no secret about that. No protectionist organ is so brazen as to deny it. While such conditions continue retaliation and discrimination will be as ineffective as expensive.

CHINA AND AMERICA.

It is being said that the people of the earth are ceasing to look to the sanctions of the past—"sanctions" not in the recent legal use, that is means or penalties of enforcement, but in the sense of approbation—and are looking more and more to the present to find their models in morals, dress, education, and even in philosophy. A fashion in hats, says a French observer, now goes around the world in six months and is forgotten in a year, a trivial specific instance, but illustrating a general tendency. And a distinguished American juridical philosopher, commenting upon this, reaches the conclusion that mankind "will soon come to glory not in immortality but in illocality."

A more substantial illustration of this tendency is manifest in the changed attitude of China. Kotowing to that which has been, reverencing its ancestors, paying little heed to the extra-mural life of the world, it has until recently maintained a self-contained solitude. But a few months ago an educational commission came to America, clothed not in the picturesque costume sanctioned by Oriental ages, as worn by WU TING-FANG, but in the less becoming garb of "illocality," the black coat and derby hat, and armed not with WU TING-FANG'S affectation of childlike ignorance, but with the meticulous notebooks and fountain pens of trained and knowing students and statisticians, to discover the inwardness of our educational system. Not satisfied with this, China has now invited one of our foremost educational authorities, Professor PAUL MONROE of Teachers College, Columbia University, to assist in the task of "improving the "methods of administration in edu-"cational matters" in China, a service in which he could be most profitably employed here in New York City.

Professor JOHN DEWEY, the educational philosopher, who himself is less restrained than most teachers by the "sanctions of the past," has spent two years in China, giving incidentally instruction in his progressive pedagogical theory and practice, which is now to be supplemented by Dr. MONROE'S advice as to administration. A little further back those able financial and administrative preceptors, President GOODNOW of Johns Hopkins University and Professor WILLOUGHBY, were invited to give advice as to the republican procedure in the Occident. Topping all this is the opening of a complete medical centre at Peking, comprising a medical school, hospital, pre-medical and nurses' training school, given by the Rockefeller Foundation, and generically scientific in every respect, except the curved lines of the roofs—the one intimation of yielding to ancient and local sanctions. What all this signifies is that the Chinese are ready to take the best they find the world around, and that science is becoming completely and consistently "illocal" in its ministries.

Despite the impression of confusion and political chaos, says the former Minister to China, Dr. PAUL B. REINSCH, "the industrial, commercial and social forces of China are "at work building a new life." Wherever Chinese are met they are "planning to do some development." This means, usually, looking away from the sanctions of the past. It is to be hoped, however, that those particular sanctions which have given the Chinese such honesty of character and have prescribed such simplicity and picturesqueness of life and habit will still be potent.

FOR DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

Mr. JOHN KIRKLAND CLARK is the Republican-Coalition candidate for District Attorney of New York County in today's primaries. His eminent qualifications for that post are too familiar to be recited here. He is a first-class lawyer. But on the primary election ballot he drew second place, while every other Republican-Coalition candidate's name is first on that ballot. Voters should keep that fact in mind and make their X opposite the name of JOHN KIRKLAND CLARK, whose name is accompanied with the number 25.

FOR REGISTER OF NEW YORK COUNTY.

For the important office of Register of New York County the Republicans have designated HELEN V. BOSWELL and the Democrats ANNIE MATHEWS. Former Register JOHN J. HOPPER is a designated candidate in the primaries of both parties for the post which he filled with so much usefulness and distinction. He reorganized that office. Under his administration the searching of titles was immensely facilitated by improvement of the indexes, the completion of the locality index and the installation of a chattel mortgage card index. The copying of imperfect or fading records went on at a much increased pace. The forms were bettered and made cheaper. The staff was organized. The operation of the Torrens law for the registration of titles was greatly advanced by Mr. HOPPER.

He ought to have been re-elected in 1917. He is a successful business man who knows from top to bottom the business of the office of Register. With the highest respect for the admirable women who have been designated for the nomination, it is difficult to see what other recommendation than their sex brought about that designation. It is good politics to "give the women an office." So the Registry office of New York County was offered by both sides. If the enrolled voters of the two parties are impressed by the mere considerations of knowledge, experience and fitness, they will name Mr. HOPPER.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Modern Forms of Torture.

Once, and not so long ago, everybody, from the great dignitaries of Church, State and Law down to petty officials of all sorts, believed not only in the possibility of arriving at the truth by means of torture, but in the right and even the duty to get the truth that way when other means failed and the truth was considered important.

That confessions so obtained and information so secured are never correct could not be asserted, but for something like 200 years it has been realized in all civilized countries that the product of torture in most instances is merely what the inquisitors want to get—that to escape the continuance of intolerable pain most men will say anything that is demanded of them and that statements made under such compulsion are worthless. So the rack and the thumbscrew, the red hot pincers and club and the lash were abandoned as implements of investigation, and there was established the principle that nobody should be required to give evidence against himself. Among the police of every land, however, the old illusion as to the utility of torture lingers still and apparently it is ineradicable. Experience in innumerable cases that confessions so obtained are almost sure to be repudiated as soon as the prisoner has his day in court, and that the repudiation will be treated by the Judge as outweighing the confession—this does not affect the police mind at all.

Of course its possessors, nowadays, deny that they use actual physical torture, but accusations that they do even that are frequent in talk about the "third degree," and there is no doubt that prisoners often are subjected to coercions that are none the less torture because they are applied to the mind instead of the body. A common form of it consists of interminable interrogation by relays of questioners, all assuming the guilt of the suspect and so denying to him the presumption of innocence which is his by modern right.

This Case Fully in Point.

That the police still believe in torture and still inflict it is illustrated in the case of the man CHURCH, under arrest in Chicago for the murder of two automobile salesmen. Not only were questions about the crime and his connection with it volleyed at him for hour after hour, but he was taken to the scene of the killing, where all its known details were rehearsed to him again and again, and he was brought into close contact with the mutilated body of one of his supposed victims. As was to be expected, at last he "broke down" and "came through."

Perhaps he is guilty. Indeed, it seems something more than probable that he is, but as a matter of fact his confession has added nothing whatever to the case that has been made out against him by other and legitimate means, and should he be convicted it will be on testimony and evidence quite different from this self-incrimination.

The inveterate liking of the police for confessions, and their use in obtaining them of measures as ruthless as they dare to apply, are always open to suspicion, for they are "labor-saving devices"—they permit the presentation of the defendant whom the law requires and they are an excuse for making no further pursuit. And a particular wrongness of this method lies in the fact that even when the confessions are false they affect the minds of jurymen, though Judges are supposed to ignore all evidence which they reject as inadmissible.

Amusing Though Vicious.

In a book just published —GOULDSBURY'S "Reminiscences of a Stowaway"—there is described an invention for extorting confessions, devised by native policemen in India and probably still unknown to Occidental detectives. In that far country, too, torture of every kind is forbidden by the British overlords, but it was found in one district that, while bodies were spared, the desired revelations were none the less forthcoming.

This scheme, it seems, was worked when several men had been arrested for a single crime. First they would be questioned in the presence of each other, and with no results. Then one prisoner would be taken into an adjoining room, and from it soon would come the sound of heavy blows, followed by shrieks of pain and pleas for mercy. After these had died away one of the policemen would return and announce that the man had admitted his guilt and implicated all the others. To escape a like painful experience the others then usually would confess.

In reality the beating had been received by a sack of rice, and it was a policeman who had shrieked and pleaded!

And Finally Came the Disaster.

The higher authorities admitted the ingenuity of the plan, but they condemned it as wrong as well as illegal, and punished the inventors, as they should have done.

San Antonio's terrible experience of last week raises again the question why it is that men will build their homes and their business buildings in places where it is next to sure that some day a flood will come and drown them out.

It is evident from the dispatches that at San Antonio, just as at Pueblo, there was plenty of land a little way back from the river beyond the reach of any rising of the waters. There was safety there, but with it went a certain amount of inconvenience. And the inconvenience was continuous, while the danger was problematical.

So the people there, as in so many other places, chose to take chances. Years and years went by and nothing happened. Then came two days of exceptionally heavy rain—rain of the sort to which the name of "cloudburst" is applied for no very good reason—and many lives are lost, much property destroyed and an old lesson taught again.

Probably the teaching will be of little or no effect. Against perils that come as rarely as this one man are slow to take precautions or neglect them altogether. Probably they are right, too, on balance, for a universal "folkway" is never unreasonable, though it may seem so now and then.

PRESTIGE OF THE LEAGUE.

America Hindering the Carrying Out of Her Own Ideals.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The Assembly of the League of Nations is impressing upon Americans how much the League suffers by America's absence. It would be a blessing if this country would take to heart the facts brought out in Mr. Balfour's speech on Saturday: that the League exists for precisely the ideals held by all American friends of humanity, and that the League might accomplish its purposes if it had America's support.

It must have been the political campaign of 1920, the embattling of Republicans against Democrats, the animosity of anti-Wilson feeling, that betrayed the intelligence of law-respecting Americans, Mr. Harding's idea of an "Association of Nations," his calling a "disarmament conference," show that he wants exactly what Mr. Wilson wanted and that Republicans want exactly what Democrats want, an organization of Governments that will promote peace and common actions among the nations; and that, according to all the world except some anti-Wilson or anti-Democratic political leaders, is precisely what the League of Nations is.

The League wants for achieving its almost universally acknowledged benefits the great essential of a government authority. Without this, it is, as Mr. Balfour said, seriously crippled. The nations will not bow to it as men obey their Governments. Chile will not submit to the League a question on which she is (let us suppose) sure she is right. It is when he is sure of his rights that a citizen of a civilized nation is most willing to go to law. Why the difference? The citizen trusts that court. Chile does not trust the League.

Chile will cheerfully submit important contests to the League, Sweden will respectfully accept an award of the League only when the League's authority is firmly established. I see two elements in "authority"—prestige and power. Prestige can be gained by success in actual achievements; but the League is as yet only an experiment. Prestige can also be given by undoubted commendability of aim and by the commendations of the leaders of peoples. The League has the former and might have the latter but for such selfish criticisms and intransigent demands like those of Sweden and Argentina. And, most important, prestige might be derived from the greatness and unanimity of the membership. It is chiefly in this respect that the absence of America cripples the League. To control the world the League must embrace the world in its membership.

Power, the most fundamental requirement of all, is what the nations are most reluctant to concede to the League. As long as its rules and decisions do not have a mighty sanction, the scheme is indeed idealistic and based on a more optimistic view of the self-control of nations than the state and history of the world warrant. Wilson's Article X. had some tendency to supply the League with this power. But it can succeed only when the balance of the control of the world's armaments rests in an independent League body. Such a condition cannot be while so great a power as America refuses to make a definite sacrifice, a contribution of her military strength to the causes of the League. And even, then the success of the League is likely to be but a slow attainment, like the other advances of civilization.

CHESTER S. MASSETT.

Questions Prince Bibesco's Figures.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

While traveling about Prince Bibesco's article in THE NEW YORK TIMES of Sept. 4 had escaped my attention.

The lengthy article signed by the Rumanian Minister is filled with presumptions and statements devoid of proper proofs.

I merely wish to call the attention of those who have read Prince Bibesco's article to one of his statements, which any one can check up.

Prince Bibesco says in one paragraph that under the old order nine millions of Magyars lived in Hungary. In the next paragraph he states:

"Owing to the mixed character of the population along the ethnographic border, approximately two million Hungarians were incorporated in the 'succession States.' Hungary was left with a population of nine millions, all pure Magyars, with a small sprinkling of Germans and a negligible one of Slovaks."

An increase from nine to eleven millions in the short weeks of transition is somewhat astounding.

You can judge by this as to the accuracy of Prince Bibesco's other statements, contained in the same article.

COUNT PAUL TELEKI.

New York, Sept. 10, 1921.

The Nelson Bill.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The President of the American Federation of Labor is quoted in THE NEW YORK TIMES of Sept. 6 as saying, regarding the Nelson bill, that it "provides that men or women against whom information is lodged, or against whom indictments have been found in Federal courts anywhere in the country, may be taken from their homes in any other State and taken into the Federal jurisdiction in which the court may be located, without preliminary examination or opportunity to furnish bail."

The writer does not wish in any way to express himself upon the merits of the bill. Mr. Gompers, however, in this brief statement has made a number of misstatements. In the first place, the bill does not provide that the mere lodging of information against any one will enable persons to be taken from their homes either as Mr. Gompers alleges or in any other way. Mr. Gompers is correct in saying that there is no opportunity for preliminary examination, but the bill distinctly provides that if the offense charged in the indictment is bailable the person arrested may be admitted to bail for his appearance for trial.

NOEL SARGENT.

New York, Sept. 8, 1921.

KNIGHT ERRANT OF THE AIR.

Above life's little cares and woes, he swings,
Intent upon his nearness to his star;
Or climbing up a shining, golden bar
The sun flings out to him. On nobler things
His mind is bent. His splendid, soaring wings
Are spread to carry his ideals far
Beyond earth's common walks and ways, that mar

But he, proud flier, with his heart aglow,
His simple faith, his vision limitless,
Soars upward; and his errant soul's aflame
With longing—to attain the best. Here below
We wingless ones can guess but never guess
What ecstasy he knows or whence it came.

WOOD MISSION DEPARTS.

Members Sail for China and Korea—Forbes to Washington.

MANILA, Sept. 12—Major Gen. Leonard Wood and W. Cameron Forbes, with the other members of President Harding's mission to the Philippine Islands, sailed yesterday for Hongkong, China, on the steamer Korea Maru.

After a three days' visit to Hongkong the mission will go to Shanghai on the steamer Empress of Asia, where they are to be the guests of the Chinese Government, later visiting Peking and other cities.

Leaving China the mission will travel through Korea as guests of the Japanese Government, following which General Wood and other members of the commission will return to Manila, while Mr. Forbes will sail from Japan for the United States with the mission's report. A summary of the report was telegraphed to President Harding from Manila just prior to the departure for China.

In an address yesterday at the University of the Philippines, Mr. Forbes declared the islands are still without sufficient resources for the maintenance of a separate, unprotected Government, but that he believed it contrary to the traditional policy of the American Government to hold an alien people in subjection permanently against their own will.

SCHURMAN AT PEKING POST.

Minister Presents Credentials and Takes Up His Duties.

PEKING, Sept. 12 (Associated Press).—Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman, the new American Minister to China, presented his credentials to President Hsu-shih Chang today and formally assumed the duties of his post. He was conveyed from the American Legation to the Presidential Palace in the historic carriage prepared for the late Yuan Shih-kai at the time he assumed the Presidency of China.

After the formal ceremony Dr. Schurman had a long, confidential chat with President Hsu-shih Chang and the Foreign Minister, during which important Chinese-American questions were discussed.

TO BEGIN INSURANCE INQUIRY

Hirshfield to Investigate Rise in Burglary and Auto Rates.

David Hirshfield, Commissioner of Accounts, said yesterday he would begin to take testimony this morning in the investigation ordered by Mayor Hylan last week into the operations of burglary insurance companies in the city. The Mayor became riled when he read that the insurance companies were about to increase their rates because of the unprecedented number of burglaries and automobile thefts here. He said he understood that the companies granted policies without investigating to see if the applicants possessed the property represented or had placed an exorbitant value on it.

"I have subpoenaed several witnesses for tomorrow," Mr. Hirshfield said. "I am going to try to find out how many of the reported automobile thefts are legitimate. I have been informed that certain automobile owners have paid $100 for each car stolen, so that they could collect the insurance."

ASK NEW FERRY FRANCHISE.

Whalen Welcomes Service to Tottenville, S. I., and South Amboy.

Plans to operate a new ferry from Manhattan to Tottenville, S. I., and South Amboy, N. J., were announced yesterday by Grover A. Whalen, Commissioner of Plant and Structures. Officers of the New Jersey Coast Ferry Company made a formal application for a franchise to the Commissioner and he sent it to the Sinking Fund Commission with a recommendation that it be granted.

"Such a ferry is very much needed," said Commissioner Whalen, "both because of the insufficiency of the service rendered by the present ferry operated between Tottenville and South Amboy and because it is highly desirable to open a new route to the Jersey coast and Philadelphia that would avoid a roundabout route through Perth Amboy and the crossing of the Raritan Bridge."

ANTI-BLUE LAW MARDI GRAS.

200,000 Visitors Help to Inaugurate Annual Exhibition.

The eighteenth annual Mardi Gras at Coney Island began last night and will continue throughout the week, ending Sunday night. About 200,000 persons visited the resort and more than 5,000 participated in the parade, which was a protest against Prohibition and Blue laws.

The Loyal Order of Moose led off last night. Twenty-five high officials of that organization dined at Stauch's and 2,000 Moose delegates marched in the parade. Louis Fischer entertained Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, Mayor Hylan and other city officials, at the Hotel Shelburne, after which the officials motored to the Giant Racer, from which they reviewed the parade.

FELICITATES CENTENARIAN.

Harding Sends Congratulations to West Virginian.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Sept. 12.—John T. Gibson, retired from the army, who will celebrate on next Saturday the 100th anniversary of his birth, yesterday received a congratulatory message from President Harding. It follows:

"I do remember very well the old gentleman who sat next to me at the Huntington meeting last Autumn and am delighted to greet you again. I have to congratulate you on having lived a full century, the most eventful and important, I am sure, in the world's history; and I hope you will have many more years vouchsafed to you in what I believe will be a yet more important and fruitful time."

The centenarian also has received messages from Admiral W. S. Sims and Governor Allen of Kansas.

THREE RETIRED FROM ARMY.

Brig. Gen. Jesse McI. Carter, Colonel Guy Carlton, Inspector General's department, and Major Hastie A. Stuart, finance department.

General Carter will be retired on his own application. He was born in Missouri, and was graduated from the United States Military Academy in 1882.

Colonel Carlton was born in Texas and graduated from the United States Military Academy, is at present on duty at San Francisco.

HECHT FOR McCARTHY'S JOB

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—President Harding has indicated, according to an announcement made by the Attorney General today, that W. C. Hecht would be appointed United States Marshal for the Southern New York district, to succeed Marshal McCarthy, who has resigned, effective Nov. 1.

The announcement said that Mr. Hecht had the support of the two United States Senators from New York, as well as of the Republican State organization.

AMERICANS PROPOSE A MALAY TERRITORY

PRESENT RULE CONDEMNED

Independence Means the Jungle Will Reclaim Land, Says Writer in Outlining Territorial Scheme.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MANILA, Sept. 12 (by Telegraph from San Francisco).—Captain H. L. Heath, President of the American Chamber of Commerce, today publishes a leading article in the September issue of the Chamber of Commerce Journal outlining a plan of the "territory of Malaya." The article has created a sensation in native circles. It was approved and authorized by the Board of Directors.

Captain Heath declares "an effort must be made immediately to formulate the American idea of the kind of the territorial Government we must have for the Philippines. Americans residing in the Philippines want good government. They are accustomed to it at home and they see no reason why it should not be good here."

The article says the United States' responsibility for conditions here commenced with McKinley, who had "a wrong conception of the character and capacity of the people and the relationship of this land mass to the oceanic and other geographical divisions of the Asiatic continent." It says Harrison established no new precedents, but simply exaggerated the original policy, moving faster along the roads to self-government for a completely unprepared people than did his predecessors. Heath continues: "Every official in the Philippine Government, appointed or elected, is as much an official of the Government of the United States as is the President of the United States. The moral responsibility for it all is with the United States and it cannot be avoided or denied."

Heath points out that for the past eight years "the best, men that the Latinized Malay people have produced in all the centuries" have had a free hand in local affairs and "the world can see the result."

Says People Lack Ability.

"A child was given power too fast," he continued; "it lacked maturity; it had a curiosity to see why the wheels went around; it can't put the machinery together again. The foundation of the Government is too weak to bear the load; the people lack the character and the capacity to properly choose; to throw aside the bad and accept the good; racial, tribal, family, feudal and lingual ties are so strong and so differing and customs are so strongly imbedded that the situation is hopeless unless some disinterested and fair hand can take over the guidance and initiate and institute the proper forms and teach the reasons for them. A universal language must be learned before any sort of national character and capacity has a chance to predominate among the people and become the foundation whereupon a self-government institution can be erected.

"Present conditions are bad, can hardly be worse. The country's currency is unsupported by reserves, the reserves having been dissipated through loans to private individuals and corporations. Collections of taxes have trebled, yet the expenditures exceed the receipts. There is not a department of the Government which is sufficient in funds to properly function and deliver service to the taxpayer. Justice is a travesty and a great country full of possibilities lies dormant under the heel of a political oligarchy."

Heath asserts that a change in the form of Government is absolutely necessary.

"First, to save the face of the sovereignty that is morally responsible for the condition; second, to save the common people of these islands from the autocracy of their leaders." He further states that the trial of the Filipino has demonstrated "his complete incapacity for independence."

Fears Flood From North.

The article then says that independence would mean swamping the country by "a stronger continental insular flood from the North." It declares the only two possibilities are territorial Government under American sovereignty or "complete, unprotected independence." It insists that the present status is impossible. Either the Occidental or the Oriental idea must predominate, and whichever prevails must run the Government and be responsible therefor. The article continues:

"Twenty-three years' experience of the American community in the Philippines with Government thoroughly democratic proves that the American will be fair to the Filipino and the Filipino will be unfair to the American. As long as this unfairness is possible through the control of the Government it is not advisable for a single American dollar to come to the Philippines for investment or development." It adds that as soon as the status of the islands is organized as a Territory and fixed under Anglo-Saxon ideas of Government, there will be a great opportunity here for conservative capital in development of the Territory's resources.

"Independence means that the jungle will take the country and the people," the writer continues. "Territorial Government means a well-defined future, fair play in Government and business and a continuation of the Latin Malay race instead of its absorption by the stronger people of Asia. A radical change in Government is unnecessary. The present form can be incorporated in the new without the future being jeopardized."

His Outline of Government.

The article advocates a new charter replacing the Jones law and declaring the sovereignty of the United States without ambiguity or evasion. It says English should be made the sole official language. The Governor General should be an American, with an eight-year term and a salary of $30,000, making the office attractive to the best American administrators. The Cabinet, the article says, should consist of Americans, Secretaries of each Federal department, who would be Secretaries of the corresponding territorial departments, each with a salary of $10,000 and a term of eight years.

This Cabinet, Heath says, would replace the present Philippine Senate and, together with the present Lower House, would form the territorial law-making body, meeting every two years. Federal laws would apply wherever applicable. All taxation of individuals or their incomes would be created by the local law-making bodies, and no Federal law of individual or corporation taxation would be applied to the territory by the American Congress.

This is the strongest and most outspoken authoritative American utterance since the occupation of the Islands. The Directors of the American Chamber are the leading Americans in the community. Practically every American business man in the Islands is a member. A copy of the plan was submitted to Major Gen. Leonard Wood before his departure.

BAR TALK BY MRS. STOKES.

Special to The New York Times.

STAMFORD, Conn., Sept. 12.—Mrs. Rose Pastor Stokes was forcibly prevented by the police from delivering a speech here last night, advertised as in aid of the starving people of Soviet Russia. American Legion members stood in threatening groups around the building while policemen took her to Police Headquarters on orders issued by Mayor John J. Treat.

Justice J. Fennel, Executive Committeeman for Connecticut and former local commander of the Legion, complained that Mrs. Stokes is now under indictment for alleged sedition, and that she should not be permitted to speak in public until this charge is disposed of.

The meeting in the Casino was under the auspices of a committee of local societies representing Socialist and workmen's organizations. Morris Bernstein, Secretary of the committee, was told Mrs. Stokes would not be allowed to appear. The speakers were Miss Rose Pearl, William Mackenzie, described as of the Potters' Union of New York, and Allen S. Broms of that city, who criticized Secretary Hoover.

After a collection had been taken and about $300 raised, Miss Pearl announced that Mrs. Stokes would speak. Before she could do so Policeman Harahan ordered Mrs. Stokes to accompany him to Police Headquarters. There she insisted on being locked up, demanding that a formal charge be preferred against her. Captain John Brennan refused and sent her home.

Mrs. Stokes, who admitted that a Federal indictment found against her for a Kansas City speech in March, 1918, was still pending, under which she had been released on bail of $10,000 given by her husband, declined tonight to say what she intended doing about the action of the local officials.

NEW HAMPSHIRE 'FIND' STARTS A GOLD RUSH

Special to The New York Times.

FRANKLIN, N. H., Sept. 12.—Farmers in this vicinity have deserted their fields and equipped themselves with pickaxes, shovels, crowbars, dynamite and optimism to search for gold. At the railroad station here strange machinery is arriving by freight, including a digging machine of a type distinctly alien to these parts and certainly not designed for the potato trade or other farming purposes.

The cause of all this excitement was the "find" of Curtis Tilton, a farmer. He has started to tear a portion of his land to pieces. The cause of this is a letter he has received from the Assay Office in Washington in which occurs the statement "$9 worth of gold and $2 worth of silver per 1,100 pounds of ore."

Experts say this percentage is decidedly high and predict that this area may prove a second Klondike. For many years it has been known that gold and silver existed in the ledges in certain sections of this State, and from time to time a gold fever has appeared and disappeared.

For years the hill on which ore has been discovered has been known as "Klondike Mountain." Tilton has dreamed for the past twenty years that gold was found under his barn, in his pasture, at the bottom of his well, in fact, everywhere about his little farm. So persistent became his dreams that his friends urged him to have some of his land analyzed. He took some ore from the hillside and had it examined. The yield was anywhere from $2 to $15 worth of gold per ton of ore. In one case the figure was $19 in one ton.

Today Tilton anxiously awaits the result of investigations being made to determine whether the gold-bearing rock exists in sufficient quantities to make mining profitable.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 12.—The romance of Mrs. Emily Knowles Spiker, which created a sensation two years ago, when, as the mother of Perley Spiker's child, she came to America from England to wed his brother, Guy Spiker, has been shattered. Mrs. Spiker, who had lived with Guy Spiker in East Baltimore, has disappeared.

The child, adopted by Perley Spiker's wife when she forgave her husband for his infidelity while with the American army overseas, is at the home of the Perley Spikers.

The English girl left her home here several weeks ago, according to her husband, leaving a note saying that she no longer cared to live with him.

"She went of her own free will," said Guy Spiker last night, "and she can stay."

Guy Spiker has been out of work for some time and his wife sought employment. For more than a month, it is understood, she had been employed at a military camp.

PICTURE CHEMISTRY IN WAR.

Senator Lenroot and Gen. Fries at Exposition Opening.

Discussing disarmament at the opening of the Chemical Show in the armory of the Eighth Coast Defense Command last night, Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin asserted that "it would be folly for any nation to rely upon any international agreement that poisonous gases should not hereafter be used in war."

He asserted that the future safety of the country depended largely upon the chemical industries because dreadnoughts and other huge war weapons had been made obsolete by the use of gases.

"Let the nations know that, although without a large army or navy and with industries devoted to peace," he said, "we are possessed of the last word in science and invention and that we have the skill and the materials to defend ourselves, and no more."

"Let us agree to sink our battleships, melt our cannon, destroy our fortifications if other nations will do likewise. But let us encourage rather than destroy progress in discovery and invention, making for the happiness and welfare of the people and their defence in time of war."

Brig. Gen. Amos A. Fries, chief of the Chemical Warfare Service, said that the development of the chemical industry and the processes of deriving by-products from coal tar were indispensable to the future preparedness of the nation. He told of the history of his branch of the service and of the possibilities of its expansion in time of necessity.

Demand Bergdoll Pot of Gold.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—The Government is going after the famous Bergdoll "pot of gold." Thomas W. Miller, Alien Property Custodian, announced today that a complaint had been prepared demanding of Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll, mother of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, as attorney in fact for her son, all property in which he held any interest, including gold coin taken from the Treasury before the draft evader escaped from the Federal authorities and fled to Germany. It is expected that the complaint will be filed today in the Federal District Court at Philadelphia.

NAVY AIR VICTIMS TO ARRIVE FRIDAY

British Cruiser Will Be Met by Escort Outside Harbor and Bodies Taken to Navy Yard.

SERVICES THE NEXT DAY

Three Foreign Navies to Be Represented at Funeral—25,000 Expected to Attend the Rites.

The British cruiser Dauntless will arrive here on Friday afternoon with the bodies of the sixteen officers and enlisted men of the United States Navy who lost their lives when the ZR-2 collapsed in mid-air and fell into the Humber River.

Outside of New York Harbor a fleet of battleships, destroyers and seaplanes will join the Dauntless and escort her into the harbor. The flag-draped coffins will be landed at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, where a guard of honor is to watch over them during the night.

The funeral ceremonies will begin at 2 P. M. on Saturday with the tolling of bells in the Navy Yard. Twelve hundred invitations have been issued to relatives of the victims, officials and others. Three foreign navies will join in paying honor to the dead. Contingents will attend from the Dauntless, the Brazilian battleship Minas-Geraes and the French cruiser Ville d'Ys.

Captain Matthew C. Gleason will conduct the Catholic services for the dead and Lieutenant C. N. Moyer the Episcopal services. A guard of 100 marines and 100 sailors will fire three volleys over the coffins.

The bodies of Lieutenant Commander Louis H. Maxfield, Lieutenant Commander Valentine M. Bieg and Chief Machinist's Mate George Welch will be buried in the National Cemetery, Arlington, Va., at the wish of relatives. The bodies of the others will be held to await instructions from their families.

Secretary of the Navy Denby will attend.

An invitation also has been sent to President Harding.

The nearest of kin will occupy a special stand. The public will be admitted by the Sands Street gate. No passes will be required and officials expect that at least 25,000 persons will attend. Officers will wear black bands on their swords. The only other mark of mourning will be the flags flying at half-mast.

It originally was planned to bury the body of Coil at sea from the deck of the Dauntless, as the officer before had expressed that wish. This arrangement has been altered. Coil's body will be taken to sea on an American war vessel and buried according to his wish at a later date, after receiving honors with the others.

PARIS GOWNS SEIZED ON SMUGGLING HINT

Woman Called to Explain Why She Substituted New York Labels for French.

Mrs. Jeannette Hannah Thompson of 305 West Seventy-second Street, who returned from her first trip to Europe on Saturday by the French liner Paris, appeared before the Law Department in the Custom House yesterday afternoon to explain why she had taken the French labels from eight gowns purchased abroad and substituted those of a Fifth Avenue firm.

When the liner docked on Saturday morning Mrs. Thompson expressed her intention to swear off $800 worth of gowns as having been bought in this country and taken abroad by her. She declared a little more than $100 worth of property, and attracted the attention of Customs officials by carrying a golden-haired, blue-eyed, life-sized doll in her arms, stylishly dressed.

When Mrs. Thompson was at the window of the customs office one of the Acting Deputy Surveyors said to her, "Did you take much baggage abroad with you?"

"No; not very much."

"How long have you been away?"

"About three months."

"Well, don't you think it would be better not to swear off the $800 worth of gowns and admit they were purchased in France?"

"Yes," Mrs. Thompson was said to have replied. "I admit that the dresses were bought in France and will not swear them off."

She also was said to have explained that she had cut off the French labels and sewn on the American labels, and as it was her first voyage abroad she was not aware what a serious thing it was to attempt to smuggle goods.

The trunks containing the gowns were sent to the Public Stores and the case was turned over yesterday by the Collector of the Port to be dealt with by the Law Department. Mrs. Thompson was asked if she had anything to say regarding the seizure of the dresses and the question of changing the labels, but she declined to make any comment.

TOBIN QUITS A. F. L. COUNCIL

"Too Much Talk," His Objection to Unemployment Conference.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Daniel J. Tobin, President of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, has resigned as Treasurer and member of the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor, and his resignation will be acted on by the Executive Council at a meeting Nov. 14, according to the current issue of Labor, a weekly paper published by sixteen railroad labor organizations. Disagreement with President Gompers of the Federation as to representation at the forthcoming unemployment conference was the cause of the resignation, the article says.

The incident which led to Tobin's resignation, the article says, occurred at Atlantic City during the closing sessions of the council there. President Gompers, the article adds, suggested that if an invitation were extended him to represent labor at the Harding unemployment conference he be authorized to attend as representative of the Federation. Mr. Tobin was quoted as saying he was not in favor of "more talk."

Tobin's motion was defeated, whereupon he submitted his resignation and left the meeting, the article printed by Labor declares.

QUEBEC CITY VOTES WET.

Existing Local Option Is Repealed by Overwhelming Majority.

QUEBEC, Sept. 12.—The City of Quebec voted itself wet today by an overwhelming majority, estimated tonight at 12,000 in a total poll of 23,000. The effect of the voting will be to repeal the existing local option law and place the city under the provincial liquor statute whereby the Government vends intoxicants in its own dispensaries.

The provincial statute has been in effect since May 1 last, but the City of Quebec had some dry areas previously under the so-called Scott act, or Dominion of Canada local option law.

ACCUSES VETERANS OF FAKING ILLNESS

Dr. Haven Emerson Tells Tuberculosis Conference They Handicap Physicians.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 12.—Lack of co-operation on the part of ex-service men themselves is affording the greatest handicap to Government efforts to care for tubercular ex-soldiers, Dr. Haven Emerson, medical adviser of the Veterans' Bureau at Washington, told delegates attending the Mississippi Valley Conference on Tuberculosis here tonight. He said there are many veterans "who establish the record of their disease in order to draw their compensation and who insist on making their own decision as to when they are well enough to go home."

"We find patients," he said, "eager to be found sick, grateful for a declaration that they are worse, hopeful of continued disability, resenting attempts to persuade them that the will to win against disease is tantamount to recovery, clinging to any straw that will permit them to stay on the hospital roster, indifferent to truth if the monthly check can be increased, reckless in their expenditures for luxuries and gambling and the vices of drugs and liquor."

"Against this anti-social, unpatriotic, selfish attitude the whole weight of the medical, nursing and other staff of hospitals is now directed, and it is a struggle between character and intelligence on the one side, and still demoralized clients on the other, which has been so fed and pampered by sentiment that sense has a hard row to hoe."

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 12.—The decline in the tuberculosis death rate during the last two years will continue for 1921 and may never rise again, in the opinion of tuberculosis experts from eleven States forming the conference.

"I believe the end is in sight in the fight against the white plague," said Dr. Walter McNab Miller of St. Louis, President of the conference. "We are beginning to get real results from the intensive campaign of education and prevention which has been carried on for the last ten years."

Others attributed the sharp decline in the death rate of 1919 and 1920 to the influenza epidemic of 1918, which killed many who were predisposed to tuberculosis, and they expressed fear that the rate may climb again in a few years unless there is a sustained campaign of education and prevention and greater hospital facilities made available for those infected.

SHONTS ESTATE, $536,504.

Administrators Have Paid $400,000, Including $96,320 to Widow.

The estate of Theodore P. Shonts, late President of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, totaled $940,969.36, according to a petition for a judicial settlement filed yesterday with Surrogate Foley by the Guaranty Trust Company, the administrators. The estate consisted chiefly of personal property and a stock farm in Bucks County, Pa., and the net amount now on hand is $536,504.

Many of Mr. Shonts's industrial securities are now valueless, the accounting disclosed. He held three notes declared to be worthless. The administrators have paid out more than $400,000 and the balance on hand awaits the approval of the court for distribution.

The petition showed that $158,000 had been paid to the National Bank of Commerce in settlement of a loan made to the former Interborough President, and that $96,320 had been paid to Mrs. Milla D. Shonts, his widow, in settlement of a claim for $100,000 which Mr. Shonts acknowledged in his will. It was recalled that Mrs. Shonts recently withdrew a suit against Mrs. Amanda C. Thomas, residuary legatee of the Shonts estate, to recover $1,000,000 for alleged alienation of affections. Immediately after this suit was dropped the sum was paid.

REV. GEO. H. H. BUTLER DEAD

Pastor of St. Mary's Episcopal Mission in Yonkers for 16 Years.

The Rev. George H. Houghton Butler, who resigned in May, 1912, after sixteen years in charge of St. Mary's Episcopal Mission in Sherwood Park, Yonkers, died Saturday in a local hospital after a protracted illness that had kept him a patient in different hospitals for the last two years. He was a nephew of the Rev. Dr. George W. Houghton, rector of the Church of the Transfiguration in East Twenty-ninth Street, and as a younger man served as an assistant to his uncle.

Mr. Butler graduated from Columbia College in 1883, was ordained a deacon by Bishop Whitehead the following year and in 1905 was advanced to the priesthood by Bishop Greer. The Mission of St. Mary's, built up largely by his own efforts and with his own funds, enjoyed a flourishing existence until the Fall of 1906, when a factional fight arose among the members, involving the vicar and eventually forcing his resignation.

104 OF LEGION BACK AFTER TRIP ABROAD

PROUD OF OUR PRESTIGE

Transport Also Comes With 1,194 War Dead and 400 Occupation Soldiers.

With her masts decorated with flags fore and aft, the French liner Leopoldina arrived yesterday morning from Havre, bringing back 104 American Legionnaires and twenty-five women who had been over on a visit to France and Belgium at the invitation of the Governments of the two countries.

Just as the police boat John F. Hylan came alongside the liner at Quarantine with the band and a number of Legionnaires and their friends to welcome the travelers home, the United States army transport Catigny came to an anchorage with her ensign at half-mast. She had 1,194 soldier dead from France lying in their coffins on her lower decks.

After a short delay at Quarantine, while the Public Health officers examined the passengers on the Leopoldina, she proceeded to her pier at the foot of West Fifteenth Street, where the Fire Department Band and some hundreds of relatives and friends were waiting to receive the American Legionnaires, who were all in civilian clothes except one officer.

National Commander John G. Emery, who wore the medal of the Legion of Honor, the Croix de Guerre and the Belgian medal of the Order of Leopold I., was in command of the returning Legionnaires and gave out a statement in which he described the trip and the reception they had been accorded in France and Belgium.

He said in part:

"The welcome we received surprised all anticipations. We return happy and proud because of the prestige our country enjoys and the place it holds in the hearts and thoughts of these gallant peoples.

"Much was said to us of the coming world conference at Washington. This meeting is a matter of vital interest to the veterans of France, who, above all, yearn for a continuation of peace, and whose highest hopes are that from the Washington conference may come some formula guaranteeing peace to France. But the question of disarmament or reduction of armament is one which Frenchmen, burdened by taxation as they are, should approach with a view to definite guarantees given for protection against the smouldering menace of another invasion."

The transport Cantigny went to Pier 3, Army Base, South Brooklyn, to land 400 officers and enlisted men from the Army of Occupation in Germany. One of the passengers was Charles O. Neaf, a former sergeant in the United States Army, who attempted to arrest Grover Bergdoll in Germany.

The service for the 1,194 American dead on the transport will be held on Sunday afternoon at the pier, it was said, and the following day the Graves Registration Service will commence the task of shipping the bodies to various parts of the United States.

First Trainload to Leave Moscow Will Go to Kazan Instead of Samara.

RACE ON AGAINST WINTER

Investigators Urge Haste in Stocking Strategic Relief Centres Before Cold Blocks Transportation.

MOSCOW, Sept. 9.—Messrs. Foy and Murphy, representatives of the American Relief Administration, arrived in Moscow tonight after being eight days on the trip from Riga with a consignment of eight motor lorries and one automobile, which are urgently needed for the famine area reached by the first train. No news of them had been received here since their departure, and the American Relief Administration here was beginning to get anxious.

The main cause of the delay was a four days' hold-up on the Lettish side of the frontier, the military authorities being apparently unconvinced that the lorries were not going to the Red Army.

Messrs. Foy and Murphy got a foretaste of some hardships the American Relief Administration men will meet with in Russia this Winter. They traveled in an unheated box car without an interpreter, and their food and cigarettes had to be rationed to a minimum before they reached Moscow.

The first relief train will go to the Volga as soon as the contents of the Latish freight cars can be transshipped into Russian ones. It probably will leave Monday.

It was intended that the first train should be sent to Samara, but a report received today from the American Relief Association investigating party at Kazan led to a change of plan, and the first train will go there. The report paints an appalling picture. Of 1,250,000 children in the Tartar Republic, of which Kazan is the capital, 800,000 are already foodless. There is the same number of sick persons without proper food or medicine. The rest of the children are being fed by the Government, but it is feared this will be discontinued on Oct. 1, when only 11,500 can be fed.

In the whole immense province there are vast roads running through small areas on the extreme east and west. The report insists vehemently on the extreme urgency of rushing aid so as to prepare central distributing centres before Winter.

It is suggested that this be done at three points—Kazan, Tetiushi and Christopol—to which rail or water transport will be available until the end of October at the worst. There are plenty of tugs, barges, motor trucks, gasoline and horse transport, but during the Winter it will be necessary to feed villages by sledge-lift for fifty to a hundred miles.

The report emphasizes the eagerness of the authorities to facilitate the work in every possible way. As regards relief the latter have devoted their energies to supplying seed grain, which is reported nearly accomplished throughout the whole province. Marvelous to relate, the peasants, faced by imminent starvation, actually sow the grain as instructed, though saying calmly, "We don't expect to live to see it sprout."

The report says that everywhere law and order prevail and there is full recognition of local and national authority. The migration of the famished and exhausted is ceasing, and control of food and seed distribution is proceeding in an orderly manner. This fully confirms my own impressions in the famine area.

The report concludes with a demand for speed, speed, speed in response to which Mr. Carpi has cabled home asking that ships be rushed to Petrograd whence there is the shortest haul to Kazan.

THIS RED CROSS JOB TOO BIG.

Assistance to Refugees in Constantinople to End Oct. 1.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Assistance rendered by the American Red Cross to war refugees at Constantinople must be discontinued after Oct. 1, officials of the organization said today, despite reports of the hopeless situation which will result for thousands of unfortunates in and near the Turkish capital.

The American Red Cross has expended upward of $700,000 at Constantinople, officials said, $300,000 representing special contributions and the balance appropriations from the association treasury.

The problem of providing for refugees continues to grow, however, it was said, with the gradual disappearance of assets possessed by some of the war victims, and it has been decided that the work was entirely beyond the capacity of a single agency.

Officials of the Red Cross understood that Constantinople relief work had been presented to the League of Nations Council for consideration, as it had become an international problem. A suggestion also advanced, they said, was that the nations participating in the military occupation combine to handle the relief work.

NO WORD OF PLANT'S SEIZURE.

Harvester Company Officials Without News From Russia.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—Officials of the International Harvester Company in Chicago have received no official word of the seizure of the company's plant at Lubertsy, near Moscow, by the Soviet Government.

"We don't know whether the plant has been seized or not," said Herbert P. Perkins, Vice President of the company, tonight. "In fact, we have had little information at all from Russia for a long time. We understand the plant is still in operation."

The International Harvester Company in Russia was organized Jan. 16, 1919, being incorporated under the laws of the State of Maine. Its authorized capital is $40,000,000, but only $31,000,000 worth of stock was issued. The Lubertsy plant, occupying a tract of more than sixty-four acres, has an annual capacity of 60,000 engines, binders, lobogreikas, reapers and mowers. Its operations are financed by the Hercules Bank, an agency of the present Russian Government. In its last report the company was unable to give any production or other figures regarding the Russian plant.

BABY KILLED UNDER WAGON.

Two-year-old Estelle Hertowitz of 295 East Seventh Street was instantly killed in front of 258 East Seventh Street yesterday when she fell from a baby carriage under the rear wheel of a wagon which was passing along the street. The child had been left on the sidewalk by the carriage.

According to witnesses, several boys ran by and one of them accidentally struck the carriage, causing it to roll from the sidewalk and overturn in the street.

Rules Waste Apple Vinegar Is Not 'Pure Cider' Vinegar

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Announcement was made here today at the executive offices of the American Cider and Vinegar Manufacturers' Association that the Secretary of Agriculture had granted the Association's contention that vinegar made from waste or evaporated apples should not be branded as "cider" or "pure cider" vinegar. He had ruled, however, that it might be labeled "apple" vinegar. The association was said by its counsel, former State Senator William W. Armstrong of this city, to have sought for such a ruling for twenty years.

The ruling, according to word received by the association, was made to regulate the branding of vinegar until a court decision on the matter can be obtained.

A statement issued by the association declared that the makers of vinegar from apple waste "have been sending out waste vinegar as pure cider vinegar by the hundreds of thousands of barrels. Indeed, they have practically enjoyed a monopoly of the vinegar business." It is claimed that the practice constitutes unfair competition with manufacturers who make vinegar from whole apples.

SOVIET CONCESSION ON FOREIGN DEBTS

EXPLAINS THE NEW POLICY

Foreign Trade Minister Asserts Red Government Has Never Yet Broken Its Word.

By WALTER DURANTY.

Copyright, 1921, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MOSCOW, Sept. 9.—The new economic policy of Russia was detailed today by Foreign Trade Minister Krassin. He laid down the following principles:

1. The Soviet Government recognizes no right of ownership in goods or factories in Russia, whether owned by Russians or foreigners. Former owners wishing to reopen will be in exactly the same position as other concessionaires; but exceptions probably will be made in the case of large or small interests who carried on work throughout the revolution. The Westinghouse Company is a case in point.

2. The Soviet Government similarly disavows its legal obligation of foreign debts, but Krassin expressly stated that, taking France, for instance, they would be willing to negotiate on a consolidation basis.

3. Import and export remain in the hands of the Government, but foreign concessionaires will be allowed to import machinery, &c., and export produce or manufactured goods. Foreigners trading here will be allowed to import goods from abroad provided they are paid for by credits abroad, and not by money taken out of Russia.

4. The general scheme of concessions will be based on a royalty basis, to be paid in cash, or preferably in products. The guiding principle of all such concessions will be an increase in production. Once this is guaranteed the Soviets will be prepared to offer generous terms.

Krassin suggested that to meet immediate needs, for instance, agricultural machinery, a foreign consortium should import goods under guarantee of the national and local authorities and sell direct to the peasants in return for a yearly percentage of the latter's products—a sort of hire-purchase system. He declared that agricultural machinery already being "carried" by banks in America and Great Britain might better be earning money in Russia, where it is so urgently needed.

Asked what guarantee a consortium or other concessionaire would have that the Soviet Government would keep its obligations, he replied indignantly that it had never broken its word yet, adding that other national revolutions established the principle that new régimes wiped the slate clean as far as their predecessors' obligations were concerned.

Krassin made clear that liberty of trade applies only to internal trade. The Government, even when permitting imports and exports, intends to retain full control over them. It desires to encourage trade and industry in Russia, whether handled by natives or foreigners, and will allow profitable returns on the same, but will not let Russia become the prey of foreigners.

This is fully in accord with the new interpretation given by the Communist Party to the economic change: "Communism means the increase of production for the general benefit, combined with the prevention of exploitation for general protection."

2 WOMEN CONVICTED; BREITUNG THREATENED

Mrs. Kift and Miss Whitney, to Be Sentenced for Immorality, May Ask Banker's Arrest.

Mrs. Nellie Kift, arrested on July 9 in a raid on her apartment at 640 Madison Avenue, where Edward N. Breitung, a wealthy banker, was a guest, was found guilty yesterday by Magistrate Jean Norris, in the Women's Day Court at Jefferson Market, of renting her two rooms for immoral purposes. Miss Jean Whitney, also arrested in the raid, was found guilty of immoral conduct. Both defendants were remanded to the Jefferson Market Prison for investigation and sentence tomorrow. Miss Whitney screamed as Magistrate Norris announced her decision and fell in a faint. She was carried to the retention "pen" by court attendants.

Detectives who raided the Kift apartment said they found Miss Whitney and Mrs. Edna Clark with Breitung, who later became bondsmen for the three women. Mrs. Clark forfeited her bail and the banker declined to give more bail for the other women. He said on the stand last week he had called at the apartment on business with Mrs. Kift pertaining to mining property. He admitted that Miss Whitney and Mrs. Clark might have been there.

Frank Kift, husband of the convicted woman, said he intends to sue Breitung for "quitting the women cold." He refused to say what action he would take, but Bernard Sandler said that when the case was reached for sentence, the defendants would ask the Court to issue a warrant for the banker and make him a co-defendant.

RHINE ARMY CALLED SMARTEST AND BEST

BEER AND WINE TEMPERANCE

The transport Cantigny brought to New York yesterday a large number of officers from the Army of Occupation in Germany, military attachés from various European posts and several officers who have been making special studies abroad. Most of the officers hastened for hotels, overhauled their kits and made ready to renew acquaintance with New York. The majority of them have been abroad for two years or more and, while they are glad to get home and want to see the old country, even if it has changed considerably, those who have been in Germany said it was a military man's paradise. When every soldier is as fine a specimen of manhood as it is possible to build with army training, when their behavior is almost without exception something of which every American may be proud, when the esprit de corps has been cultivated to an extent that rivalry takes on the wholesome contention of college sport, said these officers, an ideal military force can be developed, and that, they say, is just what has been done, and the result is the best trained, most fit and snappiest army ever.

The Hotel Astor was full of uniforms yesterday, and Lieutenant Kie Cody, who was attached to the headquarters staff in Coblenz, was found getting the sea tarnish from his belt buckle and spurs, while Captain P. V. Kane, who has been in Spain and later visited Germany, looks on.

Dread Day of Return.

"You can't say anything too good about the A. E. F. in Germany," said Lieutenant Cody. "And the men and officers there almost without exception dread the day when they will come back. The men particularly dislike the thought so much that they refuse to talk about it. There never has been an army which is 'sitting on the world' as those fellows are.

"With many opportunities, they avoid getting into trouble because the penalty is being sent home. Another reason is the spirit of sportsmanship which has been cultivated by General Allen. There are football, baseball, polo, shooting and track teams always trying to break records. When I left three teams were tied for first place, the Quartermaster's Corps, the Headquarters Troop and the Fifth Infantry teams.

"They have gone in for horse racing a good deal, and have built their own race track and steeplechase course. As a result there has been a general hunt for good horses by officers, and they have joined and bought some of the finest animals the army ever contained. It makes good horsemanship. They also play polo a good deal. The rifle teams have resulted in more sharpshooters and marksmen being produced than ever before in the army of that size. When they competed against the British, French and Belgians, they took first place in nearly every event. They beat us at machine gun fire. I knew one officer who felt so badly at his scores that he wouldn't permit his name to be put down, and said he would wait till he got back with line troops so he could get necessary practice. He wouldn't lower his team's record.

"Although the men are able to buy all the beer and wine they want there is hardly an instance of a man taking too much. Drinking wine and beer has made them temperate. No whisky or cognac is permitted in the area, and even at the officers' clubs cocktails are barred. Champagne is less than $1 a bottle, and the men can buy it if they want to, but they seem to prefer the other wines."

Cafe for Americans.

"There is one café in Coblenz which is patronized almost entirely by Americans," said Captain Kane. "They won't sell beer, so they can keep out their fellow-Germans, and get only the trade of Americans, which is much more profitable.

"When an officer travels he is constantly the object of solicitous attention," said Captain Kane. "They bring you pillows and everything they think you may need to make you comfortable. A conductor never asks for your ticket, and if an officer wanted to he could travel all over Germany for nothing. I always bought my ticket, but the conductor never seemed to want it. Once I was smoking in a car, which apparently was not a smoking car, and the conductor hurried off and came back with a sign, which he slapped up on the wall: 'smoking car.'

"Among the officers who returned were Major Geoffrey Keyes, Major Harold F. Loomis, Major Herman Jones, Major Casey Hayes, Captain Ralph Smith, Captain J. W. O'Hara and Captain P. V. Kane, all of whom have been studying in France and Spain. Major John Considine, who was a member of the world's championship rifle team which won the trophy held by Switzerland for sixteen years, also was on the transport. Others were Captain Henry A. Brickley, Military Attaché at Bucharest; Captain and Mrs. Horace McBride, who have been in Warsaw; Captain Robert Hyatt, Assistant Military Attaché at London; Captain John S. Winslow, Military Attaché at Constantinople; Captain Trevor W. Swett, Military Attaché at Warsaw; Major William M. Colvin, Military Attaché at Stockholm, and Colonel Conrad S. Babcock, Military Attaché at Paris. There were also 415 soldiers who came home on the transport for discharge or reassignment.

UNDERWOOD WILL ACCEPT.

Senator Willing to Be a Delegate to Conference on Arms.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 12.—Senator Underwood, the Democratic leader who has been selected by President Harding as one of the four American delegates to the conference on limitation of armament and Far Eastern questions at Washington, said here today that he would formally accept the appointment as soon as he had received the official notification.

There should not and cannot be any party politics at the conference, Senator Underwood said.

"Party politics," he continued, "should only affect Democratic questions. When one crosses the three-mile limit going out to sea, then the question becomes an international one."

The Democratic leader asserted it was his belief that the nations at the conference would be willing to make the necessary concessions for an ultimate agreement which would relieve the world of its armament burdens and assure peace to "this and future generations."

"I think the four men representing the United States at the Conference can stand as a unit on all questions," he said. "The delegation will undoubtedly favor disarmament to an extent that will be real in its effect.

"The problems that confront us will be to convince the representatives of other nations of the necessity, advisement and effectiveness of the disarmament agreement. Theoretically none of the great nations of the world today stands antagonistic to peace, and all would agree theoretically that it is a wise and proper thing to do to reduce the armaments of the world."

Revolutionary Plot in Constantinople Bared; Nationalists Planned to Kill Allied Officers

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 12 (Associated Press).—The discovery of a vast revolutionary plot at Constantinople is announced by the British authorities here.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—The British Intelligence Department at Constantinople has discovered a plot, organized and subsidized from Angora, the Turkish Nationalist Capital, to foment a revolution at Constantinople, according to Reuter dispatches.

It was planned to spread dissatisfaction among the loyal Indian troops and assassinate the leading allied officers. Seventeen desperadoes, it is reported, were brought to Constantinople to carry out the murders. The British authorities have demanded the arrest of those implicated.

Last June it was reported from Constantinople that a great uprising by Turks and Bolsheviki there had been frustrated through the vigilance of the police and military officers. Allied troops, acting under orders from General Harrington, commander of the British forces in Constantinople, raided various hotels and houses, seized large quantities of arms and arrested more than fifty persons alleged to have been implicated in the movement.

Later, Cecil B. Harmsworth, Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, stated in the House of Commons that the arrests were justified and were necessitated by the discovery of a plot to start a revolution in Constantinople, beginning with the assassination of General Harrington. Many of those involved were Russians.

SPANIARDS START DRIVE AT MOORS

REPORT REBELS IN FLIGHT

Shelled Out of Villages, They Abandon Harvested Grain and Booty—Had Prepared Elaborate Defenses.

MADRID, Sept. 12 (Associated Press).—The Spanish forces in the Melilla zone in Morocco, after a brilliant operation in their new offensive against the rebellious Moorish tribesmen, which began at dawn today, have occurred the line of Rasquiviana-Zoco-Arbaa, says an official statement on the fighting. The troops were assisted by Spanish war vessels.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—The Central News Madrid correspondent gives a further official statement on the fighting in Morocco. It says:

"The enemy is in flight before our artillery, abandoning villages, harvested grain and booty. The enemy left numerous dead on the field. The Spanish losses were insignificant."

MELILLA, Morocco, Sept. 12.—The Rif tribesmen are making active preparations to resist the new offensive by the Spaniards in the Melilla zone.

The activity of the tribesmen appears to be concentrated in the vicinity of Arkeman, at the southern end of Chica Bay, where trenches are being dug. Fifteen hundred Riffians have arrived there from Nador. In the Rasquiviana valley the tribesmen also have dug deep trenches and have placed strong guards over the wells.

Nador is said to be studded with covered pits to prevent charges by the Spanish cavalry. Since the exact positions of the Moroccan artillery and concentration camps became known to the Spaniards and the guns of the fleet have inflicted damage daily with a sweeping fire. Information received here says the fire of the Spanish warships has reached Barraca ravine and Beni Bugomar, where many native families are gathered.

The Moroccans are preparing gun emplacements in front of Zoco-el-Had, with which they hope to dominate the Spanish artillery in that position.

Reports reaching here state that Spanish prisoners of the Riffians declare they are suffering severe ill-treatment at the hands of their captors, being compelled to toil daily at road making, burying the dead and cleaning up the Riffian encampments.

BRUNSWICKS TO LIVE NEAR THE EX-KAISER

THE HAGUE, Sept. 12.—Although the Dutch Government officially denies the persistent rumor that the Duke and Duchess of Brunswick and their family are coming to live in Holland with or in the neighborhood of the ex-Kaiser, THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent learns from a reliable source that William Hohenzollern has just bought an estate from Jonkheer van Amerongen at Woudenbourg, in the vicinity of Doorn which, it is stated, will be rebuilt and renovated for the Brunswicks, who are coming to stay at the Doorn house through October until their house is ready.

It is an open secret that ever since the death of the ex-Kaiserin, the ex-Kaiser, who is very lonely, has been attempting to persuade his only daughter, ex-Princess Victoria Louise, to live with him. After the death of the ex-Kaiserin, William Hohenzollern refused to allow Victoria Louise to return to Germany for several weeks. Since then she has revisited Doorn with her children, to whom the ex-Kaiser is much attached. Prince and Princess Adalbert also are expected in October.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—Widespread interest has been created in West Somerset by the announcement of the sale at Minehead on Oct. 14 of Croydon Hall, the estate formerly the residence of Count Conrad Hochberg, cousin of the ex-Kaiser. The estate has a sea frontage, covers nearly 250 acres and includes the mansion rebuilt a few years before the war by Hochberg when he purchased the place.

The Count was a popular figure in the district, made many friends and entertained on a lavish scale. A few days before war was declared the Count was missing from Croydon Hall and later it was discovered that he had returned to Germany.

William E. Smith, heir to more than $4,400,000 of the estate of Mrs. Roxy M. Smith, his mother, through counsel opposed a motion yesterday before Supreme Court Justice Lydon for a receiver made by Mrs. Beatrice Provost Nugent, his cousin. L. T. Tatio, Smith's attorney, said there was no reason for the appointment of a receiver and that Mrs. Nugent's demand that Smith and his bride, a former actress, be enjoined from removing securities and mortgages from a trust company vault was without valid foundation.

In papers submitted to Justice Lydon it was denied that Mrs. Smith was opposed to her son's marriage to an actress, and set forth that she had an affectionate regard for the young woman. Justice Lydon reserved decision.

WORLD METHODISTS WANT END OF WARS

London Conference Representing 32,000,000 Declares for International Disarmament.

DENY WAR IS NECESSITY

Separate Resolution Dealing With the League of Nations Is to Be Voted On.

LONDON, Sept. 12 (Associated Press).—The World's Methodist Conference this afternoon adopted a strongly worded resolution calling for international disarmament and the complete abolishment of war. This action was taken after a spirited controversy over the question as to whether mention should be made in the resolution of the League of Nations.

The conference finally decided to adopt a resolution which did not mention the League and to ask the business committee to frame a separate resolution dealing with the League, which will be voted on later.

The resolution adopted says the Conference, "speaking in the name and on behalf of 32,000,000 followers, declares without hesitation or reservation its belief in the absolute necessity for international disarmament and the complete abolition of war.

"Sitting in the shadow of the most terrible conflict in human history, with its unparalleled wastage in human life, and property, and with its inevitable aftermath of human sorrow and its burden of woe, we declare war an unrestricted curse to humanity," the resolution continues.

"On behalf of millions of youths who suffered and died; on behalf of millions of homes broken by bereavement; in the name of the silent multitudes who still suffer, we insist that our statesmen shall turn the guns of the world inflicted damage daily with a sweeping fire. Information received here says the fire of the Spanish warships has reached Barraca ravine and Beni Bugomar, where many native families are gathered.

Paris Observers See Clemenceau as Possible Obstacle to Briand's Leaving the Country.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—The French embassy received an official cable message from Paris today announcing that Premier Briand would head the French delegation at the Washington conference on armaments and Far Eastern affairs.

The other members of the delegation have not been announced. The French delegation will be accompanied by twenty-five advisers, for whom, together with the delegation, reservations have been made at the Willard Hotel in this city.

PARIS, Sept. 12.—Before he leaves for America to take part in the Washington conference on the limitation of armament Premier Briand will meet and discuss his plans with the Chamber of Deputies, according to those closest in touch with Government affairs.

In order to do so it will be necessary to recall the Deputies from their vacation some days prior to the regular date, and it has been decided that this shall be done. Instead, therefore, of meeting in the beginning of November, as usual after the Summer recess, the Chamber will be summoned by decree for Tuesday, October 25.

Probably at the first session the Premier will take the opportunity of explaining the reasons which have brought him to his decision to attend the Washington conference in person. He will have in the following week or so ample opportunity to set his Parliamentary house in order. He will sail for America about Nov. 1.

All these arrangements, however, are conditional on the conference being held on the date suggested by President Harding, as well as the general aspect of European affairs at that moment. And in the former connection Marcel Hutin, writing in the Echo de Paris this morning, says: "But will the conference in Washington be held on the announced date of Nov. 11, or will it be postponed until next year? We will see." No other hint of the possibility of postponement has reached this side, and at the Foreign Ministry preparations are going forward confidently on the basis that the date will be kept.

Even before Parliament reassembles, M. Briand will make one and possibly two important political speeches which, while they are likely to be mainly concerned with the domestic and the European situation, will, it is expected, contain definite reference to France's policy with regard to the Washington conference. One of these speeches is scheduled for the beginning of October at Saint Nazaire, but a slight shift in the political wind has rendered it possible that the Premier may find it convenient to speak as early as Wednesday evening.

This political side current has been caused by M. Clemenceau, who, in spite of all the statements and rumors to the contrary, still maintains the attitude of being about to pounce once more into the political ring.

On top of a long string of attacks in the last two years, ex-President Poincaré reappeared yesterday with a three-column letter to the Temps setting forth how Premier Lloyd George was always against the occupation of the left bank of the Rhine, and, incidentally, how M. Clemenceau gave way to him, at least to some extent. Today André Tardieu replies, showing how gallantly the French peacemakers struggled against Mr. Lloyd George's wishes and Mr. Wilson's indifference.

But it is greatly questioned whether the Tiger is disposed to be longer content with the defense by his henchman Tardieu. Clemenceau is in splendid health. Immediately upon landing he started on an automobile trip down to his native province of Vendee, where, on Oct. 2, he will unveil a war memorial. Until the day and the moment arrive Clemenceau is almost certain to guard his secret and keep every one guessing as to whether he is going to reply to the critics of the treaty and re-enter the political ring. He has certainly tried to convey the idea that such is not his intention, but there are symptoms and statements that he is bluffing, and among those who profess to know it is hinted that something sensational may be expected.

Certainly nothing definite can be settled about Premier Briand's attendance at Washington until it is known whether he is to be engaged in an internal campaign against the French framer of the Versailles Treaty.

WORLD SICK OF WAR, SAYS BRITISH JURIST

Sir John Simon Tells Bar Association That Lawyers Are Potent Force for Peace.

Sir John Simon, former Attorney General and former Secretary of State for Home Affairs of Great Britain, who is returning today on the Aquitania after a five weeks' visit, was the guest last night at a reception given by the Bar Association of New York City at 42 West Forty-fourth Street.

James Byrne, President of the association, introduced Sir John Simon, and following the addresses William D. Guthrie proposed him for honorary membership in the association, which was awarded by acclamation. There are only three other honorary members, Cardinal Mercier, Lord Reading and René Viviani.

Mr. Byrne sounded a note of optimism for an early settlement of the Irish question and added: "There is cheerfulness in the whole outlook. It is inconceivable that there should be any war between this country and Great Britain, and it is just as inconceivable that there would be war with France or Italy or any of our allies. Civilization must unite against war."

The liberties of which Great Britain and the United States are so proud were due largely to the work of lawyers, Sir John declared. It is a proud thing for a lawyer to read your history, he said, to see how much you owe to the law in laying the foudation of your liberties. It is a constant subject of surprise to those who do not understand the nature of a lawyer's work that in our profession, where we live by quarreling, there is a steady, constant good-fellowship among its members.

"The fact that we trace our reverence of law from a common fount is one of the chief causes, in my opinion, of Anglo-American friendship. And in our practice of the law we are guided by the same principles and arrive at the same conclusions as yourselves. Here in actual existence is a case of 'hands across the sea.'

"The application of these same principles may be a strong force in the movement for the peace of the world. It is in our hands—the lawyers of these two great countries—to do quite as much as the statesmen or the press in making a contribution to the peace of the world. The world is sick of war. We must do what we can to save the world from future misery."

Organized Hoboes Offer Aid To Solve Unemployment

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Aid of the organized hoboes of America was offered to Secretary of Labor Davis today in the efforts of the Government to solve the unemployment problem.

L. Francis Shea, Secretary of the Hoboes' Union, which maintains headquarters here, advised Mr. Davis that his organization had prepared a plan which had been tested successfully, especially with "the unskilled, illiterate, never-had-a-chance migratory man or boy," and asked for an interview in which he could present details.

FIVE NATIONS ONLY TO CONFER ON ARMS

China and the Smaller Governments Will Take No Part in Limitation Discussion.

GUARDING BELGIAN RIGHTS

Holland Also Will Be Asked to Participate in Conference on Far East Questions.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—As a result of exchanges between this Government and the nations invited to take part in the Washington conference, that phase of the conference having to do with the limitation of armaments will be participated in only by the five principal allied and associated powers. China will not take part in this aspect of the conference, and no other nation which may enter the conference will be invited to assist in the determination of the armaments problem.

The five principal allied and associated powers include all the Governments which have large fleets or large armies, and it is regarded as unnecessary and inexpedient to have smaller nations assist them in determining the measures to be taken to reduce great naval and military establishments. The Soviet Government of Russia is credited with having the largest army of any nation, but there will be no Russian participation in the conference unless and until a central Government for all Russia based on a Constituent Assembly has been set up. As there is not the slightest prospect of this before the conference concludes its sessions, Russian elimination from the conference proceedings is a foregone conclusion.

The participation of other nations in the general discussion, exclusive of the armaments phase, appears to be assured as a result of the suggestion advanced recently by the United States that Belgium and the Netherlands would be asked to take part. The State Department made known today that France and Japan had assented to this suggestion, which means that it is endorsed by a majority of the principal allied and associated powers, Belgium has important railway interests in the Far East which may be affected by the outcome of the conference, while the Netherlands Government has large territorial possessions and has administered them for more than two centuries.

In view of these circumstances it was believed to be proper to have the Belgian and Dutch Governments take part in such of the conference proceedings as may affect their interests. The exact character and scope of this participation has not been clearly defined, but it is apparent that such questions as pertain intimately to Belgian and Dutch interests in the Far East will be under consideration while the representatives of these two Governments are sitting with the other conferees.

Still Negotiating on the Agenda.

The principal allied and associated powers are still engaged in oral and telegraphic exchanges concerning the preparation of agenda for the conference. It is understood that Great Britain and Japan are anxious to obtain a definite recognition of the status quo in the Pacific and the Far East before giving their assent to a special agenda. Its consummation is reported to be one of the British and Japanese Governments some doubt is expressed as to whether the agenda can be completed until after the participating national groups assemble around the conference table in Washington.

Some hesitation is evidenced on the part of this Government to assenting to the recognition of the existing status quo, on the ground that such action would commit the United States to sanctioning the rights claimed by various nations in China. According to persons who understand that Great Britain and Japan have advanced the proposal mentioned, it would be necessary before the United States Government could commit itself in the matter to have the British and Japanese Governments furnish it with exact and complete data defining the so-called status quo. In this connection it is claimed that such data would include certain treaties and special arrangements between China and the Powers concerned which never have been given publicity.

Dutch Interested in Far East.

The proposal to include the Netherlands Government in the conference is based mainly on the fact that its territorial interests in the Far East are larger and its commercial interests of longer duration than those of any other western nation except Russia. The Dutch East Indies comprises 728,000 square miles, three times the size of France, and the population is 38,000,000, seven and one-half times as large as that of the Netherlands.

Holland's trade with the East Indies, China and Japan long antedated the closing of China and Japan to foreign trade and intercourse, and after the closing of Japan, at the beginning of the seventeenth century, the Dutch were allowed to send a ship a year to Nagasaki and to maintain agents on an island in that port, the vessels and the nationals of all other countries being excluded.

KOREAN THROWS BOMBS AT JAPANESE GOVERNOR

One Damages Seoul Offices Without Injurying Saito—Assailant Still at Large.

SEOUL, Korea, Sept. 12 (Associated Press).—An attempt upon the life of Admiral Baron Mitoru Saito, the Governor of Korea, was made today by a Korean who threw two bombs at the rooms in the Government Building where Governor Saito was assuming his duties after his return from the country. The Governor was not injured.

One of the bombs landed in the accountants' division, its explosion causing considerable damage. The missile breaking through the ceiling of the paymaster's department. The other bomb, which landed in the secretarial division, did not explode.

The bomb-thrower, who so far has escaped arrest, was apparently familiar with the general layout of the Government compound. The police have begun an organized search for him.

In September, 1919, an attempt was made to assassinate Admiral Baron Saito and his wife as they were leaving the railway station at Seoul on the Baron's arrival in Korea to assume his duties soon after his appointment. The bomb exploded under the Governor's carriage. No one was killed, and neither the Governor nor his wife was injured, but several persons were wounded by the explosion, among whom were William Harrison, brother of Carter Harrison of Chicago, and his wife, who received slight flesh wounds.

CHINA TO REJECT SHANTUNG PROPOSAL

IS DISTRUSTFUL OF JAPAN

WANTS BACKING OF POWERS

Full Text of Tokio Government's Terms of Settlement as Made Public in Peking.

PEKING, Sept. 12 (Associated Press).—China will refuse to entertain Japan's proposals relative to settlement of the Shantung controversy, it is declared by a person in the confidence of the Administration.

She will base her action on the ground that the award of Shantung to Japan by the Treaty of Versailles was illegal and that Japan has no right to the privileges in Shantung which were conferred by concession upon Germany, which were turned over to Japan at the Peace Conference.

"Second—If the Chinese Government on its own initiative opens the whole of the leased territory as a commercial port, recognizing liberty of residence by foreigners and of the carrying on of commercial, industrial and agricultural projects, and also recognizing the rights and privileges already acquired by foreigners, the Japanese Government will rescind the agreement formally entered into for the establishment

FINANCIAL MARKETS

The movement of financial and commercial prices yesterday gave further proof of the extent to which markets of both kinds move at present under a common impulse; the day's irregular downward reaction on the Stock Exchange occurring simultaneously with a sharp decline in prices for wheat and cotton, and for similar reasons. The general question of prices is so largely dependent at this time on larger economic considerations—even on the mental attitude of the whole community toward values—that it is not unreasonable for all these speculative markets to move occasionally as if they were a single market, governed by the same set of influences.

The cotton market, in yesterday's violent decline, was plainly influenced by the doubts of the spinning trade as to whether retail buyers would acquiesce in prices for finished textiles readjusted to the recent advance in raw material. In the wheat market an unexpectedly large increase in the visible supplies diverted attention from the heavy European demands to the evident willingness of our own farmers to press their grain on the market whenever prices rise. On the Stock Exchange a similar mental balancing of economic influences is at work, and in all these markets the presence of speculation on a large scale makes frequent reversal of the movement of prices inevitable, merely for the purpose of taking quick profits. It was the industrial stocks which lost ground most rapidly yesterday, especially those which had advanced rapidly last week on general principles. In the railway shares there was little change.

Last week's expectations that the fall in the German mark would proceed even more rapidly after the price had passed its previous low record of January, 1920, were abundantly fulfilled. Having ended last week at 99¾ one-hundredths of a cent, the mark declined yesterday to .91, recovering only slightly at the close. It is not surprising that correspondence from Berlin is telling on the one hand of the perplexity of Stock Exchange authorities as to how the prodigiously increased speculative orders can be handled, and on the other of the excited agitation for higher wages and salaries to match the swift increase of living costs.

It is probably more than a coincidence that the month which brought the first recovery in the country's iron production since the decline began last November, which brought the aggregate net earnings of the railways to the largest total since the return to private operation, and which determined the fact that the general fall in prices had been arrested, should also turn out to have been marked by a positive halt in the decrease of our foreign trade. With only unimportant interruptions, the value of our monthly exports decreased rapidly and continuously from December to July; yesterday's returns for August show increase of $54,000,000 over the preceding month; a change all the more striking because August in ordinary years is a month of decreasing shipments. The increase in last month's export trade is no doubt explainable largely by the grain and cotton movement. We sent out nearly 8,000,000 bushels more of wheat even than in August, 1920, and about 250,000 bales more of cotton (an increase of 60 per cent.), and the export of both was very much larger than in other recent months.

Although last month's imports also increased $15,000,000 over July, the larger expansion of the outward trade brought the surplus of exports to much the highest figure of any month since February; indeed, notwithstanding the great decrease in total volume of foreign trade as compared with 1920, the export surplus is nearly three times as large as in August of 1920. The department's statement of the month's gold imports confirms the belief of last week that the published weekly figures had been too low. Total arrivals of gold last month were $86,000,000; a figure exceeded in only one preceding month this year and by only six other months of the country's history. Between Jan. 1 and Aug. 31 we imported something more than half a billion dollars in gold. The largest gold importation of any full calendar year before the war was $158,000,000.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

Late Trading Brings Losses in Most Rates—German Marks Continue to Sag—Scandinavians Higher.

After maintaining a fairly firm front in the early dealings in the European exchanges, at least to the extent of showing just nominal size losses when compared with Saturday's finals, the market turned weak in the afternoon session and under a heavy selling pressure, exerted against most of the principal exchanges, most rates finished the day at substantial recessions. German marks, of course, showed the greatest loss, dropping to another new low record at .91 cent, after opening at .93½. Sterling checks were best at $3.74¼, in the forenoon, a full cent over Saturday's closing, but later developed weakness and sold down to $3.71¾, with a final at $3.71¾, for a net loss overnight of 1¾ cents. French francs, Italian lire and the Dutch guilders were all heavy and lower. The notable exceptions to the sagging tendency of the general list, however, were found in the Scandinavians, all of which advanced, and in the Far Eastern and South American countries, where advances were registered.

Market Drop Touches Holders of Boston United Company's Common.

BOSTON, Sept. 12.—The Directors of the United Drug Company today passed the current 2 per cent. quarterly dividend on its common shares. The 1% per cent. quarterly dividends on the first preferred and 1½ per cent on the second preferred were declared as usual.

The reason for passing the common dividend lay in shrinkage of profits which accompanied marking down inventories June 30 last to market prices or lower, in conformity with general declines in values since the first of the year, Louis K. Liggett, President, explained.

Rock Island Car Order Reported.

Announcement was made yesterday that the American Car Company, a subsidiary of the General American Tank Car Corporation, had obtained from the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway Co. an order for 200 new fifty-ton composite gondola cars.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Profit-Taking Causes Reaction.

The upward movement in the stock market which started some ten days ago and has continued almost uninterruptedly ever since was checked yesterday as a result of heavy profit-taking sales; but, in addition to this, the opinion prevailed in some quarters that the reaction in the cotton market influenced the movement of stock prices. The large decline in unrifled steel tonnage, as reported on Saturday, was possibly another factor. Transactions were again on a fairly large scale and the declines ranged from 1 to 3 points. United States Steel common was reactionary from the start. Having opened down ⅝ point from Saturday's closing, it declined further as the day went on, and closed at 77⅝, a net loss of 1⅝. This decline influenced other steel shares. Mexican Petroleum, the leader of the oils, lost 3⅝ points at a closing of 4¾, while Studebaker led the decline in the motors with a drop of 2⅝. Other issues which lost part of last week's gains included American International, Corn Products, Industrial Alcohol, Baldwin, American Sumatra, Crucible, Sears-Roebuck and some of the copper stocks.

The German Mark.

The most frequently encountered report in the offices of dealers in foreign exchange yesterday was that there is about to be a general moratorium declared in Germany. This bit of gossip came via London, and was repeated on the cables around the world as one of the reasons for the pressure against the mark. It was not given a great amount of credence in our own financial district, where the report was rather generally ascribed to the repeated closing of the German Stock Exchanges for a day, in order to get some control over the speculative business which is under way. At yesterday's lowest price of ninety-one one-hundredths of a cent, the percentage depreciation of the German mark from parity was 99.1 per cent. This is a larger depreciation than has occurred in the currency of any other Central European country except Austria, Hungary, Jugoslavia and Poland. In the case of the last-named country the depreciation is now somewhat more than 99⅞ per cent.

Fading Excuses for the Market.

Some forecasters of the market were rather put to it to find an excuse for yesterday's stock market recession. The favorite one appeared to be the uncertainty of the foreign situation. The decline of marks and francs, of course, lent color to this theory. They pointed to the fact that France has received no part of the first reparation's payment and that she is becoming restive under the restraint imposed by the Allied Council. International bankers, who keep their ears very close to the cable, are inclined to the belief that the foreign situation has not changed a whit in a month, and that the presence abroad of at least four big American bankers is a good indication that there is still lucrative business to be done abroad, as well as at home.

***

The Rise in Reading.

Reading was one of the few railroad stocks which ended the day higher. The stock after opening at 69⅝ moved up to 71⅜ but later reacted and closed at 70½, a net gain of one point. It was common report that the movement was the result of operations by one of the largest speculators in the Street.

***

Inactive Stocks.

Those inactive stocks which are only traded in occasionally, and which appeared on the tape yesterday, showed some substantial gains as compared with previous sales. Included among those which advanced were National Biscuit at 118⅜, a gain of 6¾ points; National Cloak & Suit preferred at 87, a gain of 2¾, and Crucible Steel preferred at 84, an advance of 3. Allis Chalmers preferred was up 4 points at 78. Standard Oil of New Jersey scored the same gain with the close at 141.

***

Pennsylvania's Income.

Advance information from Pennsylvania officials shows that if the company's net operating income for August should approximate the average of the preceding two months, or about $5,000,000, the road will show an increase in earnings of over $32,000,000 for the month, compared with a deficit for August, 1920, of some $27,500,675. This is explained by the fact that in August, a year ago, the Pennsylvania charged up wage increases for four months against the revenues of that one month, whereas some of the carriers charged part of the accrued wage increase against the month of July and part against August. The increase in wages, awarded by the Labor Board in July, 1920, as retroactive to May 1,—on the Pennsylvania amounted to about $8,000,000 per month, making a total of $32,000,000 in increased wages charged in August.

The Easy Money Market.

The tendency of money to work towards easier levels when demand slackens, was evidenced yesterday by reports, in several houses, that some 60 day time loans had been made at 5½ per cent. as compared with the previous figure of 5¾ per cent. The call rate was 5½ per cent. all day yesterday, but some loans were made at 5 per cent. outside, and if any change is to be noted in the market, it is that money is in rather more plentiful supply. Some loans were made at 5 per cent. against acceptances. Interior institutions, it was reported yesterday, are, in some cases at least, replenishing their balances in New York.

***

Endicott-Johnson Moves Upward.

Endicott-Johnson was one of the few stocks which moved contrary to the reactionary trend. The advance on fairly active trading was generally ascribed to operations on the part of a pool which has recently become interested in the stock, and was accompanied by statements regarding favorable operations at the various plants. The business of the company according to Wall Street information is increasing steadily. It is reported that current production exceeds 100,000 pairs of shoes daily and that ultimately a record output of 125,000 pairs is expected. Inventories are reported to be small and bank loans have been sharply reduced. In the first half of this year the company reported $4.20 a share earned on the common stock.

The Railway Referendum.

The nation-wide referendum among the railway train service employes on questions of wages and present working conditions is slowly nearing completion, it was learned yesterday. No statement was given as to what the results were showing, but it is understood that the majority of the younger workers are inclined to vote against the acceptance of the 12 per cent. wage reduction, in effect since July 1, whereas the older men appear to urge caution in the matter. Although the majority of the workers may refuse to accept the new regulations, railroad managers do not believe that labor difficulties will result. The wide state of unemployment is held to be the chief fact which militates against such a possibility.

Bankers and the Automobile Industry.

Despite the difficulties and adversities which have beset the automobile industry this year, bankers who are interested in several of the companies say that the industry as a whole has come through the period of deflation remarkably well. Attention just now is centering on next year. There is a disposition to wipe the slate clean and start anew in a new year, on a solid foundation. Some of the bankers who for many years cast a skeptical eye on the automobile business as a proper field for investment money, now are the most cheerful about the outlook, and are anticipating great strides during 1922. The big companies have reduced their bank loans faster than seemed possible three or four months ago, and this, of course, has been an added factor in re-establishing enthusiasm in the trade.

Louisville & Nashville

The L. & N. is a system of high credit; its bonds in normal times have sold at high prices and are considered a most liquid form of investment. The Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville portion of the system operates over 600 miles in the territory best described by its name. The Ref. 6s, due 1947, are a lien on the entire property, being secured by a first lien on over 500 miles at less than $30,000 per mile. In 1906 as a second mortgage these Ref. 6s sold at 137.

GERMAN MARKS REACH A NEW LOW

MANY RUMORS ARE AFLOAT

Treasury Officials Say Further Declines May Be Expected—Sharp Break in London.

A fresh burst of selling yesterday depressed German marks to the new low figure of .091 cent per mark. It was the second time during the last few sessions that the mark has dropped below the 1 cent mark. Selling came into the market from Germany, and from Livery pool and, added to the sales which originated here, many of them speculative, found but little support in the market. The opening, at .093½, was on .006¼ from the previous close, an indication of the pressure against the market.

All sorts of rumors were afloat in the financial district to account for the weakness in the German mark. One was that a general moratorium is impending in Germany. This was generally discredited. Another was that it is the result of pressure from within Germany to pound down the mark for political purposes. Whatever the cause, mark exchange rolled into Liverpool and New York markets at a faster rate than they could be absorbed.

The entire foreign exchange market was tinged with weakness yesterday, with the exception of the Scandinavian and Far Eastern exchanges. Francs were particularly weak, selling at the low mark of 7.19, as compared with Saturday's price of 7.43½. Sterling, which closed Saturday at $3.73¼, sold up to $3.74¼ and then dropped to $3.71¼.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—The sharp decline in the value of German marks was attributed by Treasury officials today to highly inflated currency and unsound economic conditions in that country.

Further declines may be expected, officials said. Germany, in the opinion of officials here in touch with the situation, is not in as good shape, economically and industrially, as has been reported in some quarters.

It may be generations, some officials believe, before Germany will be in a position to retire outstanding paper, and, with investors attempting to realise on their purchases, the price of the mark was naturally being beaten down.

Sharp Break at London.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—The German mark underwent a sharp decline in the exchange market here today. Its value in the early afternoon fell to 397½ marks the poung sterling, a new low record for the mark here, while later there was a still further decline in value, the mark reaching 400 the pound. The normal parity is 20.43 marks to the pound.

The drop was ascribed in financial quarters to Germany's recent reparations payment and to the unsettled state of German politics.

TWO ROADS ACCEPT ARBITRATION PLAN

CHIEFS SOUNDING UNIONS

Jurisdiction Would Not Extend to New Rules Nor Wage Schedules, but Would Be Compromise.

Plans for the establishment of a regional board of arbitration are being worked out by the New York Central and Baltimore & Ohio Railroads and the railway brotherhoods to adjudicate labor disputes and to interpret existing rules. The board is to consist of eight men, four employes and four representatives of the two railroads. The Big Four chiefs are sounding their unions in regard to the idea and New York Central executives said a favorable answer was expected, in which event the board would start to function as soon as the personnel was chosen.

The jurisdiction of the board would not extend to the consideration of new rules and working conditions, nor to questions of wage schedules, it was explained, but would confine its activities to settling grievances and to problems arising out of the existing rules and working conditions.

During Federal control the United States Railway Administration created three national boards of adjustment for the settlement of labor problems. The first had jurisdiction over the train service employes, the second extended to the shop crafts and allied workers, and the third covered disputes arising among the maintenance of way employes, clerks, signalmen and freight handlers.

At the termination of Federal control the authority of these national boards ended, although B. M. Jewell, head of the department of railway employes of the American Federation of Labor, in behalf of all railway employes, pleaded with the carriers to continue the system. Thomas De Witt Cuyler, Chairman of the Association of Railway Executives, in refusing, said the roads could not agree, to this because of the lax discipline among employes. Mr. Cuyler said the roads desired to co-operate with the policy of decentralization which was becoming evident in national governments, and that, they could countenance no plan of arbitration except a local board or by means of committees.

Subsequently the unions asked the Railway Labor Board to take a hand in the matter, but in November, 1920, the board decided that the case did not come within its jurisdiction. The train service men have persisted in their efforts to form Boards of Arbitration with various managements, but the idea was vetoed by all the lines with the exception of the New York Central and the Baltimore & Ohio. The establishment of a Regional Board of Arbitration with these two roads would, therefore, be in the nature of a compromise.

The heads of the following railway workers' organizations are negotiating with their men on the New York Central and the Baltimore & Ohio preliminary to the establishment of the board: The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, the Brotherhood of Railway Firemen and Enginemen, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Order of Railway Conductors and the Switchmen's Union of North America.

Several carriers have local boards, such as that of the Pennsylvania and Erie, which are designed to settle disputes, while on other lines the plan of committees representing the men and the managements has been most successful. The contemplated Regional Board of the New York Central and Baltimore & Ohio, however, is the first of its kind.

GOLD IMPORTS IN AUGUST.

Total for Month $86,230,920, a Large Gain Over July.

Augugst imports of gold, according to compilations in the financial district, amount to $86,230,920, an increase of $22,000,000 over the July figures, and have been exceeded in the current year only by the $87,371,598 received in March. For the eight months of the year there is an import balance of $491,252,386, as compared with an export balance of $82,125,386 for the first eight months of 1920.

Large shipments of gold from India and France are en route to the United States, according to advices received by bankers. The Equitable Trust Company has been advised that $4,976,700 in French gold has been shipped to that company on the liner France and $1,486,600 on an undesignated steamer. The steamer Devanha, from Bombay, due at Plymouth, England, on Sept. 15, has gold consigned to New York banks to the value of £473,924.

Cables from London yesterday reported the gold output of the Transvaal during August as 711,000 ounces. This is the largest production of any month since July, 1920; the production of last July was 689,555 ounces, and in February it fell as low as 558,137. The August output was exceeded by only two months of 1920, and by only four months of 1919. It is the first month in more than a year in which production has shown an increase over the same month in the year preceding.

CHICAGO GRAINS IN FURTHER DECLINE

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—Eastern and Southwestern longs sold wheat futures freely, and, with a lack of aggressive buying, the close was the bottom to ½ cent over, with net losses of 3½@4¼c. May leading, after a range of 3½@5c. Cash grain news was somewhat more bearish and had a depressing effect, but the main influence was in the lack of outside support so necessary to maintain values.

After an advance of over 20 cents from the recent low point, however, the reaction was not surprising, and a majority of the local element, who, in the main, remain very bullish as far as the ultimate trend of values is concerned, are looking for a still further decline on which to reinstate their lines. Many did so this morning, under $1.32 for December, but sold out later when the market failed to rally as much as expected.

Every time December got back to $1.32 it ran into free selling, and the finish was at $1.29 to $1.19¾, after selling at $1.29¾. Some express the belief that $1.25, 12½ cents under the recent high, will be witnessed inside of two days.

Millers took red Winter on track here today at 1@1½ cents over the September for the No. 2, but hard Winters sold rather slowly at ¼@1 cent over the future, and showed an easy undertone. Country offerings were not large. Minneapolis cut the retail price of advertised brands of Spring patents 30@40 cents per barrel today as the result of the break in wheat. Demand continues fair. Duluth reported the receipt of thirty-one cars of Canadian wheat in bond. Export demand was slow and mainly from shorts, with 200,000 bushels sold at the Gulf, while sales of Durums and Manitobas aggregated 400,000 bushels.

Cables from the United Kingdom reported the reselling of hard Winter below the cost of the first hand offerings. Premiums at the Gulf were easy with 8 cents over December asked for all positions, and 7½ cents over bid. No. 1 Manitobas, f. o. b. Montreal, were quoted at 2 cents over Chicago December in American funds.

Canadian railroads have moved 22,500,000 bushels of wheat since Sept. 1, compared with 4,182,000 last year. The Northwestern Grain Dealers Association estimates the crop of the three provinces at 258,000,000 bushels, or 6,000,000 less than the Government August returns and compares with 234,000,000 harvested last year.

Country offerings of corn to arrive have dried up, partly as the result of unsettled weather, but the market was not affected to any great extent and the close was ¼@¾ cent lower. In the main, corn and oats follow the action of wheat, and oats closed ¾@1 cent lower with Northwestern selling a factor. Frost in the Dakotas may have done some damage, but a frost over the corn belt at the present time would be beneficial rather than otherwise, as the crop is practically matured, and some new grain is being fed in Indiana and Missouri.

Canadian Pacific has removed its embargo on shipments from Georgian Bay to Montreal and has installed a permit system, with preference given to Canadian grain.

An increase of 3,359,000 bushels of wheat, in the visible supply was much larger than the trade anticipated. The total supplies are 42,100,000 bushels against 38,741,000 the previous week and 22,618,000 last year. Corn decreased 261,000 bushels and is 11,239,000 bushels, against 11,500,000 the previous week and 2,702,000 last year.

Primary arrivals of wheat continue to exceed last year's, being for the day 3,697,000, against 2,269,000 in 1920. Shipments were 1,059,000; last year, 1,149,000.

Corn receipts were 1,786,000 bushels last year, 752,000; and shipments 882,000 bushels, last year, 222,000.

GOVERNMENT SELLS RAIL TRUST PAPER

MONEY GOES TO THE ROADS

Treasury Hopes to Dispose of More to Aid in Settling Claims of Carriers.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—The Administration's plans for speedy relief to the railroads were advanced a step today, when the War Finance Corporation announced the sale at par and accrued interest of $7,500,000 worth of railroad equipment trust certificates to Kuhn, Loeb & Co. of New York. These certificates pay interest at 6 per cent., and the law does not provide for the payment by the Government of any commission, nor do the certificates carry a governmental guarantee of any kind.

The sale, therefore, was of considerable interest, as indicating a sounder condition of the money market. A few months ago it would have been considered practically impossible to sell even this relatively small amount of the certificates on a 6 per cent. basis at par unless guaranteed by the Government.

The money obtained will be turned over to the Railroad Administration, to be used in the settlement of claims of the carriers against the Government. It is the hope of the Treasury Department and the Railroad Administration that within a reasonably short time more than $200,000,000 worth of these certificates may be disposed of to the investing public. The Government holds a total of approximately $380,000,000 of such certificates, given from time to time by the railroads.

Formal Announcement Made.

A formal statement concerning the transaction which was issued today by the War Finance Corporation said:

"The Director General of Railroads announced today that he had, with the approval of the President, confirmed the sale, at par plus accrued interest, of $7,500,000 par value of railroad equipment trust certificates now held by the Government. The purchasers are Messrs. Kuhn, Loeb & Co., bankers, of New York. The offer for the purchase of these securities was received from Messrs. Kuhn, Loeb & Co. by Eugene Meyer Jr., managing director of the War Finance Corporation, and transmitted by him to the Director General of Railroads shortly before Mr. Meyer's departure for a Western trip.

"The equipment trust certificates bear interest at 6 per cent. per annum, and mature serially from 1928 to 1935, inclusive. The securities sold are of the following railroad companies:

"Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fé, $1,500,000; Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, $1,500,000; Norfolk & Western, $1,500,000; Central Railroad of New Jersey, $1,500,000; Southern Pacific Company, $1,500,000."

Estimated Need $500,000,000.

Under the proposed legislation which the President has asked of Congress, the War Finance Corporation would be permitted to accept these certificates and also additional bonds to be issued by the railroad companies, and advance money to the roads, either as a result of the sale of certificates and bonds or from other funds available to the War Finance Corporation. It was believed that about $500,000,000 in all would be necessary to meet the Government's obligations to the carriers.

The War Finance Corporation, pending the adoption of such legislation, is acting simply as the agent of the President in arranging for the marketing of the certificates which have been given by the railroads in satisfaction of claims against the carriers growing out of Government control. It cannot advance other money which is at its disposal, holding the certificates as collateral, unless the proposed legislation becomes law.

Should it prove that the condition of the market is such that the certificates and bonds will be absorbed readily, it is stated, it will not be necessary to use money other than that raised by the sale of certificates and bonds of the carriers. However, there is yet no certainty that hundreds of millions of the 6 per cent. certificates can be sold.

Reports to the Treasury Department concerning the money market conditions are encouraging, and there are reasons to believe that another reduction in discount rates will be considered before long by the Federal Reserve Banks. The last offering of about $600,000,000 worth of short term Government notes and certificates, maturing in from six months to three years, and bearing interest at from 5 to 5¼ per cent., already has been over-subscribed. These notes differ from the equipment trust certificates in that they are direct obligations upon the United States Treasury and rank for soundness with Liberty bonds.

Negotiating for Czecho Oil Lands.

The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, through its French subsidiary, the Standard Franco-Americaine, is negotiating with the Czechoslovakia Government for the development of the latter's oil lands. The Government, it is understood, is welcoming such an arrangement, as the Standard would provide such capital as would be required to carry out the development program. The Standard, however, will in no way obtain a monopoly, according to officials of the company.

Many Bankers Demand Life and Fire Insurance as Loan Protection

THAT is a natural precaution and quite just. And you will find that some bankers—more as each day passes—are also including Credit Insurance as a required loan protection, a precaution just as natural and wise as the requirements of the other protection.

You can see for yourself that your banker would look more kindly upon extending you a line of credit, when he learns that you have a "London" Credit Insurance policy. Then he knows that your business is absolutely protected against any excess loss from failure of any of your debtors.

There's no time like now for a "London" Credit Insurance policy. Asking for particulars doesn't obligate you.

SEES GERMANY ABLE TO UNDERSELL ALL

Nation Has Gone to Work, Says Kingsley—Praises General Allen's Work in Coblenz.

FOUND NO REAL PEACE YET

France Wants to Destroy Germany Politically and Industrially, He Declares.

American manufacturers who come into competition with the goods that the Germans are turning out realize that no nation on earth can successfully compete today with the Germans, according to Darwin P. Kingsley, President of the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York. Mr. Kingsley, who is President of the New York Life Insurance Company returned on the Aquitania yesterday after a two months' business trip to England, France, Germany, Switzerland and Belgium.

"I bring back only two pleasant and encouraging impressions from Europe," said Mr. Kingsley. "The first is that Germany has gone to work. The second is the restraining influence and generally beneficial effect of the American troops in Coblenz, led and inspired as they are by General Henry T. Allen. General Allen is not only a fighting man but a diplomat, and has achieved an almost unique position in the relations that have sprung up between the Germans and the allies in the occupied territory."

Although Germany is hard at work, politically the country is in a parlous state, Mr. Kingsley found. In commenting on this point he said:

"Germany's relations with France have not moved toward a condition of peace, but on the contrary the feeling between the two nations now is worse than it has ever been. France's attitude toward Germany is a very human attitude, one that I think most Americans sympathize with, but it is a temperament very unwise and likely ultimately to react on France herself. In plain English, France substantially wants to destroy Germany politically and industrially. It is no secret that the relations between the British and the French in the occupied territory are not pleasant and indeed that the relations between the two nations are not exactly cordial."

"Broadly speaking," said Mr. Kingsley in conclusion, "I should say that in essential things that go to make peace there has been very little if any progress in Europe since the signing of the armistice."

TRADE IS IMPROVING, WIDE INQUIRY SHOWS

National Surety Company Questionnaire Brings Optimistic Replies.

FUNDAMENTALS ARE SOUND

Prosperity's Return Expected When Nation's Products Again Are Sold for Production's Cost.

An investigation of business conditions throughout the country which has just been completed by William B. Joyce, President of the National Surety Company, shows to him that trade is improving, although in some parts prosperity probably will be delayed for two years or more. This is mostly in the cattle territory. The information was gained by a questionnaire sent to merchants, bankers and manufacturers.

"Replies bring out certain national economic present-day truths clearly and usefully," Mr. Joyce said yesterday. "Economic conditions are fundamentally sound. By this I mean that there seems now no danger of some great national trouble, such as many people secretly worried about a year or two ago. Most of the business stagnation is due to the inevitable readjustment of exaggerated war prices and war wages.

"In this readjustment some wage earners may erroneously think they are bearing the brunt. On the contrary, American merchants, manufacturers and farmers, who are overstocked with goods and products created at war time cost, will be much the heaviest sufferers. Replies show that the vast majority of wage earners and business men understand alike the situation and accept it with courage, patience and patriotism. To get the attitude of the wage earners, I sent one questionnaire to a prominent labor leader in Kansas City, and he replied:

"'Wage earners here say their living expenses take all the money they make and that rents are actually increasing. Nevertheless, although many of them are ex-service men, and favor the Federal bonus, they tell me they prefer that the bonus question be held in abeyance until general financial and industrial conditions have returned to normalcy.' This shows clearly, I think, the patriotism and intelligence of American labor."

Mr. Joyce's replies reveal that business men show general agreement in believing that prosperity will return when farm, ranch and mineral products can be again sold for at least the cost of production, when railroads can be operated on rates low enough to permit shippers to sell at a profit, when labor again does a full day's work, in co-operation with employers on a reduced wage scale; when readjusted retail prices permit wage earners to live self-respectingly on readjusted wages, when the unemployed find work. The retailer seems to be the greatest retarding influence in this array of causes.

REPARATION DRAFT CUTS GERMAN COIN

Nation Has Only One Mark in Gold for Ninety of the Paper She Has in Circulation.

BERLIN, Sept. 12 (Associated Press).—The gold reserve of the Imperial Bank of Germany, according to the bank's statement for the week ended Sept. 7, remains unchanged from the previous week at 1,023,708,000 marks, although the note circulation was further increased by 654,205,000 marks to 80,727,526,000.

The gold reserves had stood at 1,091,543,000 since early in the year until Aug. 31, when the payment of a billion gold marks to the Allies forced the Government to sacrifice part of the Reichsbank's reserves, and the bank statement, accordingly, then showed a depletion of 67,835,000 in foreign gold coin.

The whole bullion on Sept. 7 stood at 1,040,439,000, or a decline of only 126,000 marks as compared with the previous week. The Reichsbank has fixed the price for gold purchased in the week ending Sept. 13 at 54,600 marks per kilogram fine, with proportionate prices for foreign gold coin.

In addition to the Reichsbank's notes there are 10,947,600,000 marks paper in loan bank bills in circulation, which do not figure in the bank statement, but pass on an equal footing with currency. They represent advances made by the Government to loan banks and are covered partly by stocks of merchandise.

COURTESY ON 'CHANGE.

Invitation to Partners of Members Extended Until Sept. 30.

The Governing Committee of the New York Stock Exchange, which recently extended an invitation to the partners of the members of the Exchange to visit the "floor" to obtain first hand information about the execution of orders and general operations there, has extended the time of the invitation to Sept. 30.

This extension was made because when the original invitation was given, July 27, many of the partners were on vacation and unable to take advantage of the opportunity.

Substitute W. U. Certificates.

The New York Stock Exchange has stricken from the list Western Union Telegraph Company fifteen-year 6½ per cent. gold bonds due Aug. 1, 1936, traded in on a "when issued" basis, and has substituted temporary certificates for the same.

THE BUSINESS WORLD

For Table Decoration.

New things for table decoration are in Venetian glass made from old designs in candlesticks, compotes, etc. They come in blue, in soft shades which look to be pale yellow or just old glass, and different pieces are decorated with little designs of flowers or fruits in colors. There is a lustre ware, also of glass, which comes in many different pretty shades, in rather large, low bowls for flowers or fruit, and candlesticks in decorative designs and tall compotes. This ware is from Czechoslovakia.

***

A "Two-Story" Bag.

A big leather firm gets out a "two-story" bag for a company making a small popular typewriter. The bag is in appearance a handsome one of a good leather and regular shape. The upper part is the bag proper and the lower story underneath is for the typewriter. There are fastenings at the side holding upper and lower stories together and when these are undone the bag tips back to reveal the lower part which is perhaps three inches deep, with partitions at the two ends to hold firm the little typewriter which is in the centre.

New Kind of Belt Buckle.

The popularity of silver belt buckles is as great as it was a year ago, and for that reason manufacturers are designing new ones every day. The latest to make its appearance in the local market is a buckle through which the belt cannot slip no matter how hard it is tugged. When the leather is in place a slight movement of the buckle causes it to click, pressing a piece of the metal tightly against the strap. The one-tenth sterling face wholesales for $7 a dozen and the sterling silver or gold-filled sell for $27 a dozen.

***

Capes for Sports Wear.

Capes figure in various ways in connection with different sports garments for women. One of these, of a soft wool material in an indeterminate plaid, has the simple sports skirt and a cape of the material with what may be called a sweater front. It is straight, short, rounding out at the neck, and with no opening down the front. The cape which falls a little below the hips buttons on at the sides at the top. The cape has a fur collar and little fur balls to match finish silk ends which can be tied. The edge of the cape and the pockets of the skirt are bound with silk.

Trunks School Pupils Use.

Luggage houses advertise trunks, &c., for school and college use at this time of the year. There is nothing special for this purpose, but students of the present generation require space for their belongings. A half-grown boy going away to school recently selected a big square commercial traveler's trunk to hold his sporting togs, &c. Trays in these trunks are fitted to suit individual buyers, and the boy decided upon a single tray for his convenience. His linen was to go elsewhere. The big trunk was 38 inches long by 23 high and wide. It is the school and college girl who goes in for wardrobe trunks.

Good for the Bead Men.

No matter what conditions other manufacturers or wholesalers are experiencing, bead importers joyfully admit they are reaping a harvest. Everything in the way of trimmings for the Fall points to beads. Dresses are covered with them, hats have them in spots and shoe buckles are also decorated with them. Jet, in accordance with the proposed sombreness of the coming Winter, is in greatest favor, but a demand has recently been noted for a small Brazilian shell. This is the kind that was formerly used in children's necklaces, and sold for about a dime. Now, because of the demand, they are being offered for $1.50 a gross.

Gray Goods Priced Again.

The upset condition of the gray goods market, which was brought about by the high leap of raw cotton last week, is steadily righting itself. In fact, yesterday was the first day since the upheaval that dealers in the unfinished cloth put prices on their goods and offered them for sale. And they got the prices they asked for because there was no alternative for the prospective buyer if he needed the goods. They were asking 10½ cents for 39-inch 68-72 print-cloths and 9 cents for the 38½-inch 64-60s. For the 27-inch 64-60s they were getting 6 cents for contract and 7⅝ cents for 36-inch, 48-40, 5.50 yard sheetings.

***

Draperies in Demand.

Drapery manufacturers and importers view their improved conditions not merely as a post-vacation demand but as one to general betterment of conditions throughout the country. "If a person will spend hundreds of dollars for a beautiful velvet brocaded set of hangings, financial conditions must be in good shape," said a large dealer yesterday. While there is normally a picking up of business early in the Fall, when families refurnish their homes, there has seldom been such a real demand for hangings as there is this year, it was said. Not only are the popular priced cretonnes desired, but silks, damasks and velvets also stand in favor.

Schools and Ribbon Buying.

The reopening of the schools has had a marked effect upon ribbon manufacturers, for now again, after a lull of over two months, they are busying themselves supplying the hair-ribbon needs of the little girl pupils. During the Summer months the girls played around with their tresses flying, but at school, it seems, they must have them tied up. Nothing radically new has been manufactured in this line. Moires, satin stripes and jacquards are all selling well. In telling of the colors that predominate—brown, navy, pink, white, &c., one merchant added black, but he quickly corrected his error. "The children haven't gone in for black yet, but one can't tell what's liable to happen."

Waiting for Cooler Weather.

The humid weather, while not spelling ruin for woolen manufacturers, retarded business to a very great extent. Practically all the clothing manufacturers placed their Fall orders with woolen houses when the lines were ready, and while that meant fair business for the mill owners they have not had any duplicate orders since. And there can be no duplicate order, they realize, until the retailer has sold the stock he has on hand. But when the thermometer registers between 70 and 80 degrees very few people think of buying Winter suits or overcoats. The woolen and worsted merchants feel that by November 1 they will surely know how big or small their success will be, not only for the Fall but next Spring, because present conditions are expected to affect the next season's business as well. All agree that there will be a big demand for their cloth when Summer decides to leave.

MAY IMPORT WOOLEN GOODS FROM EUROPE

American Company Considering Plan to Bring in Low-Cost Articles From Germany.

BOSTON, Sept. 12.—The American Woolen Company may import manufactured goods from Germany and other European countries where costs are lower than in the mills here. President William M. Wood, on his return to his desk today from a trip to Europe, said he expected a report within a day or two covering this possibility from Chester L. Dane, President of the American Woolen Products Company, a subsidiary, who has just completed an independent investigation of conditions abroad.

"Exportation of manufactured woolens from the United States is out of the question under existing economic conditions," Mr. Wood said. "With this in mind Mr. Dane went abroad to study European conditions and see what could be done to keep his organization alive.

"It must be realized that Europe, especially Germany, is making goods at costs far below ours. Trade follows the price, not the flag. These products are going to come to this country anyhow. We want to find out to what extent it is practical and desirable that we take part in this trade."

Should it be decided that such a venture was a promising one, the American Woolen Products Company would, so far as operations in the United States are concerned, change from an exporting to an importing organization. It would also market the output of European mills in South America or anywhere else in the world that it might find buyers, Mr. Wood said.

He would not discuss a report that President Dane already had secured options on the product of mills in Germany, Czechoslovakia and Austria, until he had heard from Mr. Dane.

Mr. Dane later said there was no proposal to bring into this country any goods that might compete with the products of the company's mills. There were certain products of foreign countries made at low prices that were not produced here and it was in such goods only that interest for American importation lay, he explained.

He had talked with mill interests in Germany, Hungary and Czechoslovakia, he said, about disposing of their products, but had not carried the matter to the point of obtaining options. Under the plan now being considered, goods would be bought in Czechoslovakia, for instance, and sold in South America or the Far East to meet the competition in those countries from the low-cost goods of other European centres.

"It is furthest from Mr. Wood's thought or mine to do anything that will bring European labor in competition with the people in our American mills," said Mr. Dane.

SOUTH'S TRADE HOLDS GAIN.

Treasury Sees Purchasing Power Helping Country at Large.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Conditions throughout the South now reflect a greatly improved tone, officials said tonight, both the Treasury and the Federal Reserve Board reporting a lessened demand for credit from that section.

The view was expressed by high Treasury officials that the purchasing power of the South should be sustained through the Winter as a result of the improvement in the cotton market.

Better business in the South, it was asserted, could be expected to have its effect upon the country generally, and, by a reduction in the credit needs of the cotton States, make available more money for other sections.

In coal and steel, however, according to the Treasury, little improvement is in sight at present. Orders are few in these industries, officials said, with little prospect of betterment.

SEE LESS ROAD WORK NOW.

Gravel Men Say Freight Cut Will Spur Contracts Next Year.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Reductions in freight rates on sand, gravel and crushed stone, authorized recently by the Interstate Commerce Commission for railroads in the Eastern trunk territory, "come too late to stimulate building and construction work for this year," said a statement issued today by the National Association of Sand and Gravel Producers.

"Contracts for road work have been let and sufficient time is not allowed before cold weather sets in to start new building projects," said the statement.

"The best that can be hoped for is that the limited reductions which the carriers are making will prove an incentive to stimulate the construction industry for next year."

The reduction authorized by the commission amounts to 18 per cent. and is effective in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia.

To Offer $1,500,000 Autocar Notes.

An issue of $1,500,000 6 per cent. serial gold notes of the Autocar Company is offered today by a banking syndicate composed of Montgomery & Co., Redmond & Co. and Brown Bros. & Co. The notes mature from Dec. 1, 1921, to March 1, 1923, and are offered on a basis to yield from 7% per cent. to 8½ per cent. to the investor.

BUSINESS NOTES.

Weill & Hartmann, resident buyers, of 115 West Thirtieth Street, have added to their account the two stores of Bornheim & Cahen, Main Street company of Columbus, Ohio.

The Congoleum Company, effective immediately, guarantees the price of its Gold Seal products against decline until March, 1922, refunding the difference between the new lower price, if any, and the old higher price on all goods in stock purchased within sixty days prior to the date of decline.

WEAR-EVER ALUMINUM TRADE MARK MADE IN U. S. A.
An increase in business for the first eight months of 1921
During the spring of 1920 our business—like that of most companies—was by far the best we have ever had up to that time. Our sales for the first six months of 1921, however, were even better than those for the corresponding period of 1920; and our sales for the first eight months of this year exceed those for the first eight months of 1920.
One principal reason, we think, is that stores generally have been concentrating their purchases on those lines and brands of merchandise which experience indicates can be sold most readily—those brands which the experience of customers proves give real value for money expended.
Today the public generally is buying less than the normal amount—less than the resources of our country warrant.
Everyone in our organization is happy to think that every dollar's worth of business we get helps some one else to get more business—and to keep wheels of industry turning; for every useful article sold helps to give employment to some one who in turn will be enabled to buy goods which otherwise would remain unsold.
We have believed that the best any one can do to help good times along is to work hard selling goods of merit.
We have faith in the general prosperity of America—
—faith in the judgment of the public
—faith in stores that are trying to serve customers honestly.
—faith in salesmen who are working hard and who by works and words are preaching a gospel of helpfulness and of hope.
We are stating our faith, thinking that by so doing the faith of others will be increased—faith in better business and in

REG. PAT. APP. FOR

The Incomparable

Introduced only a few weeks ago, today "KREPE KNIT" is the most widely discussed fabric in the textile world. ¶ This wonderful new knitted silk, entirely unique in its construction and surface effect, has already received nationwide acceptance as a material of assured and permanent popularity. ¶ Apparel manufacturers are featuring it in their new fall lines—retail stores are featuring it in their windows and their counter displays. ¶ The demand is almost overwhelming, but with our tremendously increased production facilities we are continuing to exert every effort to make prompt deliveries.

MORE BRONX BUILDING

Operators Purchase Two Five-Story Buildings in Delancey Street Held at $150,000.

Realty activity yesterday centred in the Bronx, where an investor acquired a $200,000 taxpayer on Fordham Road, while plans filed for the erection of new dwellings indicated that the Bronx would continue to hold its high place in the construction of new buildings.

The one-story taxpayer with nine stores at the southeast corner of Fordham Road and Walton Avenue was sold by Byrne & Bowman for the Simrud Holding Corporation, Rudolph Simon President, to a client for investment. The site fronts 75 feet on Fordham Road and 131 feet on Walton Avenue.

The building contains nine stores, all tenanted, and returns an annual rental of about $19,000. The property was held at $200,000 and was bought for all cash above the first mortgage. It was erected by the sellers a year ago and is the fourth taxpayer on Fordham road sold recently.

This is the third taxpayer in the vicinity sold recently by Mr. Simon. The others were the Aeolian building on Fordham road and the building at 2409 to 2419 Grand Concourse. In the latest deal Stoddard & Mark, attorneys, acted for the buyers and Samuel H. Golding represented the sellers.

You bought wisely and with great foresight when you built the Joseph Rodman Drake Public School (No. 48)—the largest in New York City—for 4,000 pupils, opposite the famous Dickey Estate on Hunts Point Avenue, within three blocks of Hunts Point Square, and subway station.

This section in a comparatively few short years has become the most thickly populated district in the City of New York where the buildings are all modern and sanitary.

You built with even greater foresight than you thought, because now the Dickey heirs, being no longer able to stand the pressure of population, building and business, have ordered me to sell the famous Dickey Estate, "Greenbank," in separate lots, to the public, at whatever price they are willing to pay.

This means more new buildings, more population for Hunts Point—and more pupils for your big school there—and it should mean big money making opportunities for those that take the time and trouble to investigate these Dickey Estate lots, and attend the Auction Sale and "Buy a Few Lots."

Only two blocks from the Hunts Point Ave. subway station on the Interborough-Lexington Avenue subway, and the Hunts Point Ave. Station on the New York, Westchester and Boston Railway.

The Hunts Point Ave. Trolley line passes the property, opposite to which is the new Joseph Rodman Drake Public School, with accommodations for 4,000 pupils.

FIVE GOOD HUSTLERS TO BE ADDED TO FORCE WHERE REAL MONEY IS EARNED!

At intervals this season we have made additions to our sales force, selecting a few good high-grade men from this and adjoining towns. We want five more such men and would be pleased to show you the commissions paid men who have come to us since the first of the year. If this has been an off year for you, we can show you where plenty of our men are pulling down from $125 to $550 per week. This astonishing record is due to the wonderful sales power of our mechanical device has to the merchant at this particular time, when half of the articles in his store do not sell. Our men are earning money and so can you if you have a good personality, are a hustler and have the ambition to get ahead. We positively will not waste time on anybody under 26 years or over 55 years of age, neither do we want professional peddlers or jobhunters to apply. The men we can use must have the desire to get in on real big money. Many of the best salesmen we have today are men who seldom read ads for new connections and some of them never sold before. Our proposition will be explained to you by Mr. Hammer, 2007 Bush Terminal Sales Building, 133 West 42d St., office of Holcomb & Hoke Mfg. Co., Tuesday from 9 to 12 and 1 to 5. Get Into a Business You Can Call Your OWN.

Have you ever suddenly awakened to the realization that you have wasted several years of your life, and that you have reached a point where you had to MAKE GOOD and MAKE GOOD NOW, if you are going to attain the success you planned for yourself when you left school or college fired with the zeal and enthusiasm of youth?

Well, that's just the situation in which I found myself LAST NOVEMBER, when I happened to see a Business Builders' ad. I was immediately impressed, and lost no time in going to find out what it was all about. I heard the introductory speaking and could not doubt what I was told. It was so simple, so plain and so fundamentally right, and was exactly what I had been looking for so long that I had no hesitancy in joining The Business Builders' sales forces.

I was told that The Business Builders offered jobs that could be acquired only by hard work, and that the only thing that counted was the record I made on the job assigned me. They were not in the least interested in my experience. They had absolute faith in my ability to make good with them, as they have in every other man who comes to them. That, I have found, is the big thing that the average man lacks—faith in himself.

I determined that with the opportunity offered me here I would win in spite of every obstacle. I had never actually failed on any job I had previously held, but, on the other hand, I had never made a big success, and I wanted to find out, above all things, what I could do with a fresh start and a good crowd.

And so I went to work. Qualities which had been dormant in me began to show themselves. I began to see what I looked on as my own business growing steadily, and even if I had received no other compensation I would have been indebted to every man in The Business Builders for the training I received.

But, in addition, I have had TWO PROMOTIONS since last November, and have been given opportunities to advance further.

If you want to know what real satisfaction is, try this: Be a part of a business that you can look upon as your own. See it grow, and feel that you had a part in its growth.

Happiness and success are inseparable—they always go hand in hand. For that reason I know of no other organization in the world—and I have seen quite a lot of them—that offers the same opportunity for just the average men in the same period of time. This is my life's work, and nothing could please me better than to see thousands of others make it theirs.

ROBERT. M. MASON,
Assistant Sales Manager,
Webster Unit.

Mr. Mason turns the spotlight on one of the important points of The Business Builders' organization when he talks of being a part of a business you can look upon as your OWN.

The Business Builders believes most emphatically that the man on the job must feel that HE OWNS THAT JOB. It is HIS, to make or break. That is why you will find, in every department of our organization, the enthusiasm of business owners instead of the humdrum atmosphere of mere employes.

That is why 96% of the men who are promoted from the ranks of Salesmen MAKE GOOD or go on to better jobs in our own and in those corporations with whom we have contracted to supply MEN and MONEY.

The Business Builders offers you a FOUR-TRACK ROAD TO SUCCESS:

Track 2—An immediate opportunity to use your training and set it to work earning money for you.

Track 3—The spur to your ambition which comes from the definite knowledge that as you MAKE GOOD you go on to an executive or merchandising sales position worth from $5,200 to $15,000 a year in salaries and bonuses.

Track 4—Daily contact with successful men, men of high calibre and splendid personality, with whom you can fraternize.

While you are learning the science of selling you can earn—the limit of your earnings being set by yourself—selling the securities of American business corporations on straight commission.

During the past year 115 promotions have placed our salesmen in the ranks of executives. Mr. Mason says that he has been promoted TWICE since last November. And he is only on the way to greater opportunity.

You cannot afford to remain out of our organization! Your FUTURE demands that you ENTER NOW.

Call between 10 A. M. and 1:45 P. M., or between 7:30 and 8:30 P. M. Ask for Mr. Wells, 12th floor.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—The tropical storm which passed over Haiti Sunday had moved northeastward, and Monday night its centre was beyond the range of observation. Normal temperatures centre generally, except over the Northwest, where it is unseasonably cool. There have been local rains within the last twenty-four hours in the Middle Atlantic States and the New England States, the Middle and North Plains States, and local rains and snows in Montana and North Wyoming. AIDS ALIEN SISTER TO SLIP INTO CITY.

HOSTAGE MAY BE DEPORTED

Asserts She Does Not Know Fugitive's Whereabouts—Is Paroled in Counsel's Custody.

Emaciated and pale from a hunger strike undertaken on behalf of her sister, Stefania Watrobska, 21 years old, was taken from Ellis Island yesterday and arraigned before United States Commissioner Hitchcock. She was charged with violating Section 8 of the Immigration act in that she assisted an alien to land in the United States in violation of law.

Stefania's younger sister, Carolina, 18 years old, arrived here last week from Poland, but was ordered deported because the monthly quota of immigrants from that country had been exhausted. Stefania retained the legal services of Milton J. Bock, who went to Washington in an endeavor to obtain a favorable ruling. He was unable to persuade the authorities to allow Carolina to enter, although he urged that two of Carolina's three sisters in this country were married and would be glad to care for her.

Last Friday Stefania obtained a pass to visit Carolina at Ellis Island and took her place in the detention pen. Carolina slipped out and has not been seen since. The deception was discovered Friday night, and Stefania was urged to reveal the hiding place of her sister. She asserted she did not know Carolina's whereabouts.

When the authorities announced they would detain her and present formal charges against her, Stefania went on a hunger strike. She touched no food Saturday, Sunday or yesterday, and when she was half carried into the Federal Building before United States Commissioner Hitchcock she almost collapsed.

Assistant United States Attorney Louis B. Schwartz, who represented the Government in the proceedings, said that if the missing girl did not appear soon Stefania would be deported instead. In the meantime Stefania was paroled in the custody of counsel.

The poor-little-rich Lady

She was asking our opinion of some investments she had made—on her own judgment. Her judgment had been pathetically bad. We found it hard to tell her the uncomfortable facts.

A few minutes later she said,

"My troubles seem to come all in a heap. Last week a Trustee of my Uncle P's estate died. Originally there were three Trustees. They went one by one. Then Cousin L was appointed and he died. Now the fifth is gone and I am left. Of course, someone else must be appointed—but who will it be, I wonder?

"I suppose my quarterly check will be delayed. You can see I am no business woman. But really, isn't this a complication for a woman in my situation to face?"

For the moment, we do not know how many changes there have been in the personnel of our Trust Department since we started business, but we do know this—

The work has gone on—uninterrupted

If you are interested in being sure that the money you leave will be distributed as you wish and to whom you wish without accident or interruption, we suggest an informal talk with us.

At our Downtown Office, please ask for Mr. Warren, Vice-President, or Mr. Judd, Trust Officer. At our Fifth Avenue Office, Mr. Dunn, Vice-President. At our Harlem Office, Mr. Baker, Manager. At our Bronx Office, Mr. Berry, Manager.
